Hot car, hot dog: What you can do

What can and can't be done when any domestic animal (i.e. dog) is found in a car in the heat is a frequently asked question, especially with the current high temps. It is unlawful to leave a domestic animal unattended in a vehicle when the conditions in that vehicle would constitute a health hazard to the animal. As a reminder, there is a City of Indianapolis ordinance specific to leaving animals in vehicles.

Q: What is your most memorable camping experience?

"My wife and I were at Brown County State Park and apparently everybody else had a TV in their nice fancy RVs. We had our pop-up camper with the dogs. We were sitting around the fire and we noticed everybody else packing up to leave. It got very dark out and we started to sense why they were leaving. We didn't know there was a massive storm and tornado coming. We packed up very quickly but the wind decided to blow my popup camper inside out. We made it out, luckily. Buy a camper with a TV. That is my advice."

Brian Burrell of Franklin Township

"Taking the kids camping at Cumberland Falls in Kentucky. We had a skunk that came through our campsite and it took everything. I had to keep (my son) from going to shoo that skunk away. He was about 10 at the time."

Bobby LeMay of Franklin Township

"My most memorable camping experience was when it was storming really bad and I was on a jet ski with a friend. We flew off of it and it messed up my legs pretty badly. The lightning was striking. We got back on the jet ski and we went back. I was really scared. I was crying."

Azlin Vermillion of Southport

"I was about 10 years old camping out in Brown County. We were horseback riding. They were slow and old and we were going really slowly marching one right in front of the other. A rattlesnake came out and the horse reared up and took off in front of everybody. A friend's parent came along beside the horse to get me off the horse because it was going so fast and I thought I was going to fall off of it."

Greenwood pet store to collect empty food bags

RECYCLE – Pet food company, Earthborn Holistic® is aiming to provide food that's beneficial to both pets and the environment. By teaming up with TerraCycle®, Earthborn Holistic pet food bags are now recyclable through the Earthborn ReBorn® Recycling Program, a free, national recycling program. Specks Pet Supplies of Greenwood is a public drop-off location for the program, allowing Greenwood residents to return their empty bags during store hours and aid in the reduction of local landfill waste. TerraCycle is an international recycling company that finds innovative solutions for materials not accepted at typical recycling facilities. TerraCycle recycles the waste into new plastic products, including recycling bins and park benches. By participating in the Earthborn ReBorn Recycling Program, Specks Pet Supplies earns points for every pet food bag it collects and sends to TerraCycle. Points can later be redeemed as a charity gift or cash donation to the pet charity of the store's choice. For more information, visit TerraCycle.com.

Southport City Council looks to construct new police station

By Nicole Davis

The Southport City Council approved a resolution on Monday, June 20 that would allow for the Southport Police Department to pursue the construction of a new police station.

The police station is currently located within the Southport Community Center at 6901 Derbyshire Rd.

"One of our goals is to build the new police department, not only for more space but for security reasons," said Southport Chief of Police, Thomas Vaughn. "We're up to about 40 guys right now with nine in the academy. We've outgrown the current police department. We want to make sure our employees are taken care of as well as our visitors."

In its June meeting, the Board of Public Works & Safety authorized the circulation of a petition allowing the City to begin the exploration process of building a new police station. In less than a week 65 signatures have been obtained.

The city will pay off a Redevelopment Commission bond Jan. 15, 2017, which would allow the city to lease-finance a new police station while maintaining the same tax rate for its taxpayers.

"We do need a new police station," said Diana Bossingham, Southport Clerk-Treasurer. "It's been a concern of every administration. It was time to explore building our own."

The city first looked at partnering with a business to relocate the police department to another building that exists within the city. Available locations either could not meet code or would be cost-prohibitive to renovate.

The city is looking to build the new facility on the former concrete plant property which it owns. A portion of this land was recently sold to Randy Faulkner & Associates for the construction of a parking lot for Southport Station, formerly the Gerdt building.

The new building would not only be the headquarters for the police department, but the training academy as well. The academy currently meets in Indianapolis on Brookville Road, in Hancock County for the shooting range and in Plainfield for the Emergency Vehicle Operator Course (EVOC). Having everything in-house in Southport would also allow for the department to host more community classes. The proposed space is 8,000 square feet. The city is looking to finance the project for under $1 million.

"Yes, we're dreaming big," Bossingham said. "Maybe we don't get it all at once. But if you don't plan the entire thing, you could put the building in the wrong place and not be able to add onto it."

Since Vaughn became chief in 2012, the police department has added more officers to its reserve department, leased/purchased four new police vehicles and began a certified police academy to train new recruits. The department has obtained body cameras, Tasers, and bikes thanks to donations to the department. They are in the process of fundraising for ballistic vests which they will purchase in October.

"One of our goals is how do we lower cost for the citizens and still get the stuff we need?" Vaughn said. "We started off with baby steps. We now have the equipment we need. The next step is this. Our goal is to build something that the city is proud of, is functional for the police department and will last for years down the road at the least cost possible. Doing it right and having the citizens' input in it is important."

The city will host public meetings regarding the police station beginning in July. The target date to close on the bond is Sept. 29, 2016.

"It's exciting as a fiscal officer to look at something like this and say we can do this," Bossingham said. "We can support it. It makes sense."

Joseph Pierce

Johnson County Sheriff Deputy switches careers to serve others through law enforcement

BEHIND the BADGE

Compiled by Nicole Davis

After positive interactions with another law enforcement officer at the Johnson County Sheriff's Department, Joseph Pierce decided to switch careers and become a deputy in 2013.

"I pictured myself working with these types of people," he said. "The guys on my shift, they make it fun to do the job."

As a former mechanic, the job was a big change, but one that he said he always dreamed about.

"I can't imagine doing anything else," he said. "You have this idea that you want to do it because you want to help people. But when you do the job, you realize how many facets of the job there actually are. You get home so mentally drained, but there are so many things you get to do that make it worth it."

Pierce was born and raised in Germany, where his dad served in the Air Force. The family moved to Greenwood when he was in the 8th grade. He now lives in the Center Grove area with his wife, two daughters and one son.

What was your inspiration to go into law enforcement?

To help other people and serve the public. I'm from a military family so service is in the blood. I was never in the military but this was a dream and I finally pursued it.

What has been one of your most gratifying moments on the job?

Finding a lost child that was reported missing. They had gone off with some friends. The parents were scared to death, terrified that they didn't know where their child was. When you return them home, the parents are grateful and it's a pretty proud moment doing the job.

What aspect of the job do you find most challenging?

Bad accidents, notifications, having to let families know people have been hurt or worse. Dealing with distressed individuals because every case is different. You can't apply the same tactics to one as you can the other.

What do you enjoy doing in your off-time?

I have three children. I spend a lot of time with them. I love cars and going to the drag strip.

What are your future goals, professionally or personally?

Immediate goals are to keep learning, keep getting better at the job. It's ever changing. Eventually I'd like to try out for the SWAT team or scuba team and one day test for sergeant or lieutenant. Right now my goal is to become a better officer... I like that we aren't held to a certain location. We can assist all the different agencies. It's nice because you can learn from them when you're backing them up, too

What would you have done if you hadn't become a deputy?

I was a mechanic for 10 years before I did this, so I'd probably be fixing vehicles, working on engines.

The ACE IN Grace

Tennis was about more than the triumph for Mary Grace (Lauck) Lawler of Perry Township

By Nicole Davis

Tennis was never about victory for Mary Grace (Lauck) Lawler, Perry Township resident. If she lost, she said “the world didn’t crash.” Competing was about the fellowship, interaction with people and getting to see new places.

Yet, she did win – a lot. She used to have a garage full of trophies, with more in the attic and throughout the house. Though she’s given most of the trophies away, she hasn’t lost interest in the sport.

Grace, who celebrated her 96th birthday on June 19, was born and raised on the Southside of Indianapolis, attending Sacred Heart High School. Her father built a tennis court at their family home, where Grace practiced the sport in her early years.

“I had seven brothers and sisters, so I had a lot of competition,” she said. “You could get a match about any day of the week.”

Residing close to Garfield Park, she would play tennis there, and said they had a lot of good players. She would compete in small city tournaments that were held at each park.

Among the trophies she has kept is the first one she won in 1939 and the last one she won in 1969 as Doubles Champion at the Glens Valley Invitational. Her favorite is from the Indianapolis Women’s Singles. Players had to win that championship three times to bring home the trophy. Grace won the championship in 1946 and 1948 under her maiden name, Lauck. She married her husband Jack before winning again in 1949, under Lawler. She said she was told, jokingly, that she couldn’t bring it home because her name wasn’t on it three times.

Grace said she was best at returning a serve, placing the ball out of reach of her opponent. Serving was more challenging for her – noting her height, 5-feet, could be a factor.

Although all of her victories were local to Indianapolis, she said she did have the opportunity to travel and play in other parts of the country. She moved to California for a few years during WWII, where she worked in the accounting department for Lockheed. While there, she and a friend entered the mixed doubles competition at the Pacific Southwest Championships.

“What a place!” she said, “I was there rubbing elbows with the champs and future champs. We were low man on the totem pole. We lost first round, but I got to see some world-ranked players – men and women. That was our reason for entering.”

She and her sister returned to Indianapolis after the war. Grace and her late husband have four children, seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

“We all played tennis,” said her son, Dan Lawler. “We always played ping pong in the garage...She was better than all of us until she was about 60. She would go out and hit the ball until she was 82, 83. She was good even then.”

While she doesn’t play anymore, it’s likely that when she’s at home, her television is turned to a tennis match – such as The Championships and Wimbledon, which will take place on June 27 to July 10. She keeps up to date with the current scores through the newspaper and TV. She said she enjoys watching youth start out and follow them as they progress. She knows first-hand the opportunities playing the sport can give a young person – even at a local level.

“It was a lot of fun and a lot of nice places and people,” she said. “It opened the door to a lot of long-lasting friendships. It added much to my life – not only sportsmanship but making new friends, traveling, countless experiences.”

Getting to know Grace...

- I am a charter member of St. Barnabas Catholic Church.
- I love to play cards. Euchre was my favorite and Bridge.
- Favorite tennis player: Currently I like Serena Williams. She’s the best player on record. Her records are practically unbeatable. She’s a credit to the game with her efforts and attitude and sportsmanship.
- When I lived in California, I played at the Griffith Park Tennis Club. Pancho Gonzales played there. He was 16. I saw him go from park player to world champion. He was a poor kid from the slums. The men in the club would all chip in and buy him tennis shoes and rackets. When he became a worldwide champ, we were all patting ourselves on the back for having helped him years ago.

Southport Lions give recognitions

CLUB - On June 15, The Lions Club of Southport Inc. recognized Southport Police Department Officer Ryan Bowersox, Southport Chief of Police Thomas Vaughn and Lion Mike Ault.

Officer Bowersox was recognized for his lifesaving actions during his shift on May 29, 2016. By the proper use the Narcan rescue kit, he was able to reverse the side effects of the opioids taken by the victim. The Lions Club donated the Narcan kits in 2015. Without them, this positive outcome would not have been possible.

"We congratulate Officer Bowersox for his "save" and wish him continued success as a Peace Officer," the recognition stated. "The citizens of Southport can rest easy knowing that there are individuals of such stellar quality protecting and serving their community."

The Lions Club also awarded Southport Chief of Police Thomas Vaughn as 2016 Perry Township Citizen of the Year. Mike Ault was named Lion of the Year.

Relay for Life of Southeast Indy brings the community together for remembrance and friendship

By Nicole Davis

Relay for Life of Southeast Indy brought together 1,200 people throughout the 24-hour period on June 17 and 18.

The event fundraises for the American Cancer Society and brings awareness to the effects of all types of cancer.

"I can't believe how many people come together here," said Dan Jones, of Irvington. He and his wife were team captains for their first year at the Southeast Indy Event. It was their seventh year participating in Relay. "It's such an awesome community. Everyone is so supportive of everyone."

Southeast Indy raised $53,000 this year, exceeding the goal of $50,000.

Participants form teams, with one person from each team walking around Beech Grove Middle School's track at all times during the event. This year's event also included themed laps, a luminary ceremony to remember those who have lost the fight to cancer, a Glow Run 5k and survivor's ceremony.

"I felt that we had an amazing event," said event leader, Millie Sowers, of Perry Township. She continued, "The Survivor Ceremony is always touching. There are survivors in wheelchairs, some who are suffering side effects of treatment and they never let on. The perseverance of those who struggle with this dreaded disease is unbelievable."

Beech Grove High School Coach Matt English, who not only survived brain cancer, but has had numerous close family members affected by cancer, has been participating in the Southeast Indy Relay for four years. His family has volunteered for it for three years.

"Our daughter loves it - our 7 year old. She's been walking the whole time," he said. "All these people make this a happy, hopeful event. There are a lot of great stories and great people out here. Even though it's about cancer, it's uplifting."

Paranormal jargon

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

By Rick Hinton

Paranormal jargon will not only put you in the know, but also help you appear paranormal savvy when discussing this with your friends...if that discussion ever comes about.

Ghost/Spirit

Many feel these are one and the same. I have always felt differently. I believe a ghost is a playback of someone that once existed (think of a film). It's an imprint that has somehow been absorbed and then, for whatever reason, played back for your viewing pleasure. You can't interact with it because frankly, it's a movie. Think of the ghostly apparitions of soldiers on the Gettysburg battlefield. Spirits, however, are of a more intelligent nature and the ones reported in a majority of hauntings. They keep their once human aspect of personality and generally are the ones that enjoy messing with you. They become a member of the family whether you like it or not.

Residual Haunting/Intelligent Haunting

This directly relates to the aforementioned ghosts and spirits. A residual haunting is a continuous film loop of past events containing images that once lived. These would involve a ghost. An intelligent haunting, on the other hand, involves spirits that interact, making their presence known. Time is of no matter to them, and whether it is your family or two families after you, they're there for the long haul.

Paranormal/Parapsychology

Paranormal is just above or outside the natural order of things as we presently understand them to be. This could also apply to shopping at Wal-Mart during the late evening hours of a Saturday night. Parapsychology is a branch of science (somewhat subjective to call a science!) that delves into a dissection of this psychic phenomena, arriving at absolutes. Well, they had to come up with some term to call it...

Medium/Trance

Medium Many investigative groups use them. A Medium is a person professing the ability to communicate with spirits. They 'feel' things and are also known as sensitives. They can detect bad mojo about a location and generally put two and two together. A Trance Medium is on the next level, acting as a transmitter for the voices of disembodied spirits. They in effect become the person. I have met several medium wannabes, but actually know one that is the real deal!

Orbs

Interesting circles of light in photographs most often caused by moisture and dust. Don't waste your time. Now if I see these 'orbs' with my eyes, then I get interested!

Ouija Board

Don't mess with. It's not a child's game. You won't like the outcome!

Southport High School opens The Ruben and Marge Hernandez Memorial Hitting Facility

MEMORIAL

By Beth Wade

On Saturday, June 18 the Southport High School's baseball team officially opened the doors to The Ruben and Marge Hernandez Memorial Hitting Facility. The facility was a donation from Jim Hernandez, an avid baseball fan and a member of the Southport baseball community.

Hernandez first used the facility at Southport Little League before donating it to Southport High School's baseball coach, Scott Whitlock.

"When Jim asked me if I'd like the hitting facility at the high school," said Scott Whitlock, head coach, "I of course said yes." The building was dismantled and rebuilt behind the diamonds at Southport High School.

"It's been a long process," Whitlock said, "but we were finally able to get it installed this year. The players loved it, and they were more focused while practicing in there."

The baseball team used the facility for the last couple of weeks in its 2016 season.

The Ruben and Marge Hernandez Memorial Hitting Facility was named after Jim Hernandez's parents.

"My mom and dad volunteered at Jeremiah Gray than at Mary Bryan," Hernandez said, "and continued to do that well into their early 80s. They taught my siblings and me about service, and that is why I built this facility in the first place."

The Ruben and Marge Hernandez Memorial Hitting Facility was recently donated to Southport High School.

The facility will not only be used by the high school baseball teams, but all the way down to Southport's 8 and under program.

"This is about the kids," Hernandez said. "It's about giving the kids the hope and encouragement to pursue their dreams. I am hoping that now, with this building, the spirit of my mom and dad will continue on, and we are able to encourage other kids to pursue their dreams and to challenge them so that there will be many more banners hanging from these rafters."

FROM THE EDITOR

Discover new neighborhoods

“Even with our close proximity to downtown, the Old Southside continues to not get the attention of the city and developers and investors,” says Judith Essex, president of the Old Southside Neighborhood Association.

Help them make a change to that!

The association decided to do its own event to showcase all it has to offer. In a Property Showcase, the Old Southside Neighborhood Association and Stadium Village Business Association invites all investors, realtors, developers and community members to check out the possibilities of commercial and residential properties in the Old Southside neighborhood. The event is June 25, 12 – 4 p.m. at Sacred Heart Parish Hall, 1125 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis. This is a free event. For more information, visit oldsouthside.org.

What a great way to discover a neighborhood! We hope our Southside residents and stakeholders can attend and help support this community which has so much rich history to Indianapolis and the Southside.

The first project will extend Pleasant Creek Trail from Craig Park to South Meridian Street, providing connectivity between Old City Park and the Greenwood Amphitheater and Community Center. The second project will allow Greenwood to make a variety of site improvements for the area surrounding Mrs. Curl Ice Cream Shop, including widened sidewalks and additional parking.

★ Star: To Roncalli High School baseball team for their work and dedication this season which led them to winning the State Championship on June 17!

★ Star: To IMPD which has its largest operation in history. Twenty-six known offenders and drug dealers were taken into custody June 18. Working in partnership with federal, state and local partners, more than 150 officers targeted homes around Indianapolis in three areas – North, East and Northwest Districts. Dubbed Operation First Step, the purpose of the initiative was to support the strategic vision of reducing crime, reducing the fear of crime and enhancing public safety. In addition to the arrests, 13 grams of heroin, 8.5 grams of cocaine and marijuana, four guns, $3,500 in cash and three cars were seized. Thank you, IMPD, for pursuing these criminals and keeping us all safe!

Central Intelligence... forgettable and unoriginal

MOVIE REVIEW

By Adam Staten

In the world of comedy and really entertainment in general, there likely aren't any bigger names right now than Kevin Hart. Hollywood has stuck the funnyman in nearly every conceivable comedic situation and story. In what seems like every few months a new film starring the comedian pops up at the theater. Hoping to continue to reap the benefits of Hart's current immense popularity, another film starring the standup comic recently hit theaters, Central Intelligence.

Central Intelligence is the story of Calvin Joyner (Hart), a mild-mannered accountant who has recently become dissatisfied with his middle class life. Calvin's upcoming 20-year high school reunion only helps further exacerbate the problem as he looks back on his life and wonders what could have been. Detecting Calvin's frustration and unhappiness with life, his wife suggests they start seeing a marriage counselor. However, an out of the blue Facebook friend request changes Calvin's outlook on life forever.

The request is from the former morbidly obese laughing stock of Calvin's high school class, Bob Stone (Dwayne Johnson). Seconds after accepting his request, Stone suggests going out for drinks that night. However, Bob is nothing like what Calvin remembers: he's fit, trim, has women fawning all over him and an ability to physically overpower and out muscle most men. Little does Calvin know Bob has other reasons for their spontaneous meet up. Hours after getting reacquainted with Bob, the CIA shows up at Calvin's door. Calvin's once boring and uneventful life is turned upside down as he's dodging bullets while in the middle of international espionage.

As with any comedy, the jokes in Central Intelligence come fast and furious, taking every opportunity possible for a laugh.

And also like a lot of comedies, not all of the jokes land. However, the average number of jokes connecting in Central Intelligence is much, much lower than most. Most of the gags are either unoriginal or just aren't even funny at all. Sure there's one or two relatively funny moments, usually courtesy of Johnson, but that's basically it. When some of the funniest material is part of the outtakes, something is very wrong.

Central Intelligence's story is actually better than expected, especially considering Hart's past film ventures. Unfortunately, the story too is just average and nothing that couldn't be seen in any other comedic buddy cop movie.

Central Intelligence isn't a terrible film, but it's definitely a forgetful one. It's unlikely to be remembered by anyone much past opening weekend. 2.5 out of 5.

Greenwood seeks additional downtown trail connectivity

REVITALIZATION OF DOWNTOWN – The Greenwood Redevelopment Commission (RDC) has given approval for City officials to place purchase offers on two properties in downtown Greenwood: 301 S. Meridian St. (Appraised value: $86,500) – The purchase of this property will allow Greenwood to extend Pleasant Creek Trail from Craig Park to South Meridian Street, providing connectivity between Old City Park and the Greenwood Amphitheater. The trail would also provide needed pedestrian access between Old City Park and the Greenwood Community Center; 21 E. Main St. (Appraised value: $91,500) – Purchasing this property, located just north of Greenwood’s famous Mrs. Curl Ice Cream Shop, will allow the City to make a variety of site improvements to the area, including widened sidewalks and additional parking.

Greenwood Mayor Mark W. Myers says the purchases and proposed projects will continue the City’s downtown revitalization and enhance the quality of life for Greenwood citizens.

“Downtown Greenwood is experiencing a significant transformation,” said Myers. “We’re working to create a vibrant, walkable, aesthetically pleasing destination for both residents and visitors. Pedestrian access and connectivity between parks, event venues and other popular Greenwood businesses and destinations in the area are major components of this process.”

RDC President Brent Tilson says the approvals continue efforts by the commission and City to support downtown businesses.

“The primary function of the RDC is to support current business activity and attract new businesses to Greenwood,” said Tilson.

“Downtown is a significant area of focus in this regard. In addition to these projects, we’re in the midst of restoring more than 20 downtown building facades, and we’re in the planning stages for significant downtown corridor enhancements. We’ve created some really good momentum and will continue to build on that moving forward.”

Mrs. Curl Ice Cream Shop, a Greenwood icon for more than 50 years, continues to attract large crowds daily. Given the popularity of Mrs. Curl and other businesses in the area, the City believes additional parking, wider sidewalks and other site improvements are welcome additions for both business owners and their patrons. City officials have worked closely with Mrs. Curl, consulting owners throughout the planning process.

“This project addresses a short-term need but also fits into our vision for the future for downtown Greenwood,” said Myers. “Walkability, safe pedestrian access and congregation, connectivity – this is the formula for a successful downtown, and we’re going to keep identifying and pursuing opportunities to revitalize the heart of Greenwood.”

The RDC’s approval allows City officials to begin negotiations for the two properties, which share an owner. That process will begin immediately, and the City hopes for final agreements in the next month or two.

NUTRITION

By Wendell Fowler

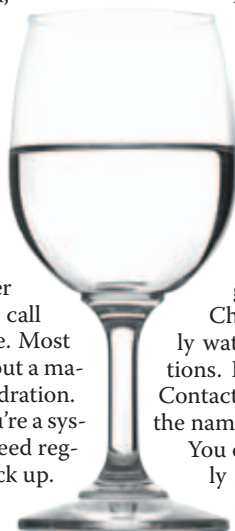

What did Ponce de Leon know that we don't? Never underestimate good, clean water: the most precious nutrient. Like planet Earth, our temple is two-thirds water; without the liquid, we'd depart this life. Could clean, fresh water actually be the Fountain of Youth? It may well be.

There is tap water, bottled water, mineral water, rain water, distilled water, soda water, seltzer water, branch water, ditch water, Holy Water, sugar water, oxygen water, caffeine water, vitamin-fortified water, rose water, and the proverbial bridge over troubled waters. Whatever you call it, water is a requirement of all life. Most people believe they drink enough but a majority live in the state of mild dehydration.

Flushed your pipes recently? You're a system of plumbing and drains that need regular flushing or they'll clog and back up. A charming thought. Water helps rid your temple of waste and toxins via the liver and kidneys. What if at your home you're allowed to throw away only part of your garbage daily? After a few weeks, your home would be pretty snarky.

A warm glass with lemon juice first thing in the morning will help flush out toxins and fire up metabolism. Dehydration is the greatest threat to the process of blood purification and kidneys can't function properly without enough water. BTW: caffeine and alcohol dehydrate.

Monitor how often you urinate each day and the color. If urine is dark and concentrated, you're not drinking a sufficient amount of cleansing water. Dr. Andrew Weil says the color of urine should lighten as you drink more water- clear urine is good.

Alas, the joys of a pristine water supply may no longer be possible. In many areas, the chemical industry's opposition to regulation, human error, non-compliance of water supply systems and fracking are all factors impacting upon the chemical load your temple takes in every time we drink from a faucet.

Of course tap water is substantially better filtered. Reverse osmosis seems to be the filter of choice. Sandi and I use Pur filters. Have suspicions regarding the quality of your water?

Check your community source yearly water quality report and note violations. Have your own tap water tested. Contact your local health department for the names and numbers of certified labs.

You can do it! After all, you effortlessly guzzle a 64 ounce icy Slurpee or bottomless jugs-o-diet Coke. It's all a matter of personal priority washed down with self-love.

Weekly Devotion

"And while He yet spoke, behold a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jesus to kiss Him. But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?" ~ Luke 22:47-48

What a pathetic person this Judas was. There was more than one disciple named Judas and one of them remained on with the other disciples after the ascension of Christ. This Judas that has become so infamous was Judas Iscariot. He betrayed Christ for 30 pieces of silver which was a lot of money in those days. That money was used to purchase a field that was used to bury strangers to Israel in. As for this Judas, he hung himself and the rope. He died a miserable death but it was not so much the physical pain that he suffered from; it was the spiritual agony that brought him to commit suicide.

It is a fact that someone had to betray Christ in order that He be arrested and the prophecies be fulfilled. Judas was that person but did it have to be him? Jesus called him the son of perdition. This means that he was a disciple, not of Christ, but of Satan who sought the destruction of Christ. By destroying Him, the destruction of any hope that man might ever be saved. He did it partly for the money but he did it more for the power. He thought that he had the power manipulate Christ into the revelation of His earthly kingdom before it was time to do that. If Christ were to be arrested, He would have to defend Himself. How sad that Judas either did not know the Scriptures or chose to ignore them like so many do today.

Jesus, flatly said that His kingdom was not a kingdom of this world. Judas never heard those words and attempted to manipulate Christ into making it a worldly kingdom. Christ did not, as we well know. There are those to this day who do the same as Judas and teach the doctrine of Judas rather than the doctrines of Christ.

God help us not to make the same mistakes that he made.

God bless and go and have a great day.

Paul A. Kirby is the pastor at the Church of God at 3939 S. Emerson Ave.
