CGHS seniors name state finalists in national STEM competition

Solve for Tomorrow - A team of four Center Grove High School students has been selected as a state finalist in the Samsung Solve for Tomorrow competition. The seniors, Mia Brandon, Kendyl Brown, Ashley Mitchell, and Brinna Porat, are among just 300 state finalists who entered the competition from around the US. The CGHS team's concept utilizes a recycled Expanded Polystyrene (EPS) geofoam to to fill potholes. Each year Samsung hosts the $2 million national competition for public secondary schools. Teams are asked to consider how science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) can be used to create change in their communities. With the help of their teachers, students can apply to the contest and compete to win up to $100,000 in prizes for their school, plus the opportunity to work with Samsung employees to develop their prototypes. State finalists receive a $2,500 prize package from Samsung for their school. In the spring, 50 schools will be named State Winner and will receive a $12,000 prize package including Samsung products and classroom resources, plus the opportunity to work with a Samsung employee mentor.

Topics in History: History through Film A Southport student review of the 2013 movie The Great Gatsby

Topics is a course at Southport High School taught by Kevin Sanders that analyzes major events from United States and world history through Hollywood films that attempt to portray those events. Students investigate historical documents and other sources to determine if a film is historically accurate.

The goal is for students to develop deeper understandings of the historical discipline while generating questions about the way the world is around them, along with watching classical films that have graced American and international screens.

Student: Brooklyn Koesters Film Reviewed: The Great Gatsby

In the novel and film The Great Gatsby, many people find representation through the two main characters: Jay Gatsby and Nick Carraway. While many groups of people can be represented through media, it seems to be harder for those who fall into minority groups. Nick and Jay become the best of friends after some small interactions they have with each other due to Nick moving in the West Egg. The West Egg is a part of New York City, which this story takes place in. With Nick and Jay living so close to each other, it builds a great relationship between the two, but many people see their relationship as representation for the LGBTQ+ community.

We are first introduced to Gatsby through Nick Carraway. How he first talks about Gatsby makes people wonder about how they really feel about each other. He speaks on how he disliked everyone when he was in New York, and nothing could phase him, except for Gatsby. Throughout both the film and novel, Gatsby and Nick are almost always together. With these two always being together causes their relationship to be so much stronger compared to the other friendships presented in the film.

The Great Gatsby shows representation for those who identify within the LGBTQ+community. The chemistry that Nick and Gatsby show toward each other provides a valid idea that makes people feel seen. For example, Nick only gave one compliment to Gatsby the whole time they were friends: "They're a rotten crowd. You're worth the whole damn bunch put together." Although this was the only quote Nick ever said to Gatsby, it seems that he was always talking about him. With the novel and film being narrated by Nick, it allowed him to say many things about Gatsby that could be taken into the perspective of love. He takes the time to compliment his features to others; here is an example: "His smile was one of those rare smiles that you may come across four or five times in life. It seemed to understand you and believe in you just as you would like to be understood and believed in."

Queer film theory focuses on how a majority controls the film industry, leaving very little representation for minorities. This theory believes that most movies are made by straight people who limit or compromise queer perspectives. The Great Gatsby falls directly into the idea that is presented in this film theory. Representation has become a huge thing people look for within films, while it is not seen as much from big well-known Hollywood films, people still interpret the actions from characters into something else. Although people find representation through Nick and Gatsby, that was not the intention behind the film itself.

Southside resident and healthcare worker loses everything due to an accidental house fire

"I returned to see the house burned down and I knew that God had saved me and my son by urging me to leave. If I had taken that nap, I would not have made it out of

there, and my son

wouldn't have either."

— Turquoise Burgess

By Todd Travis

Everything is gone

On Thursday, Jan. 12, Southside resident Turquoise Burgess returned to her neighborhood to find a shocking scene before her eyes. Firetrucks and emergency vehicles were outside along with other residents in the neighborhood. She got out of the car to ask one of the firefighters what had happened. He informed her that one of the houses on the street had caught on fire.

"Did it have a burgundy door?" Burgess asked.

"Yes." He replied.

"Is it bad?" She responded.

"Yes. Everything is gone," he informed her.

In disbelief

Those words continue to echo in Burgess' head as she is still trying to fully wrap her mind around what happened. At first, she was in disbelief.

"You must be punk'n me. I don't think this is real," she first said.

"So I walked past the fireman and walked down a little bit to find that it was definitely my house," Burgess recalled.

Just an hour earlier, Burgess was at home not realizing her life was about to be flipped upside down. She actually had other things on her mind.

"I had actually just got back from an appointment with my son, confirming that he had seizures – so I was thinking about how to deal with that," she remembered.

An unsettling premonition

This particular day, she had just enough time to take a nap before needing to go pick up her daughter. As she started to settle down to rest for a bit, she had an unsettling feeling that came over her. She couldn't shake it and began to feel urged to get out of the house right away to go pick up her daughter.

"I'm a believer, so I believe it was God telling me not to take that nap. Usually I don't go and pick her up until about 4:30, but that day I knew for whatever reason that I needed to get out of the house right away. I was rushing my son and we headed out, even though I really didn't even know exactly why at the time," Burgess explained.

"Not half an hour later, I returned to see the house burned down and I knew that God had saved me and my son by urging me to leave. If I had taken that nap, I would not have made it out of there, and my son wouldn't have either," she added.

Now Burgess is left to pick up the pieces with her son and her daughter. As thankful as she is to have survived the fire, she now faces the reality that almost everything she owned has been incinerated. Unfortunately, the items she owned were not covered by any insurance.

"I thought I had renters insurance that I was paying through the renters company, but it turns out that the policy didn't protect any of my items – just the building," Burgess mentioned.

Community support

Burgess is a clinical research coordinator at Franciscan Health Cancer Center. She began working there in September of 2022. With her short tenure at the hospital, she wasn't sure what kind of response she was going to get from the hospital regarding her situation. To her surprise, she has been met with overwhelming support, even from people she does not even know.

Community Outreach Coordinator at Franciscan, Joan Himebrook, has taken it upon herself to lead the charge in helping Burgess get on her feet. At this point, Burgess is pretty much starting from nothing. Himebrook started out by sending an e-mail out through the Franciscan network and began getting responses right away.

"I sent an e-mail out on Monday morning after the incident and within about 20 minutes of sending it out I already had people responding and stopping by ready to help. The outpouring was just instant and immediate," Himebrook described.

"I've probably had about 10 people who have said they lost everything to a fire, and they knew what it was like to lose everything. They wanted to pay it back for kindness they had been shown when they were in a tough situation. And of course, the cancer center staff we see people in tough situations every day, so it's just the heart of how people are working at the cancer center here at Franciscan," she added.

Himebrook has also been able to help relocate Burgess as she has been temporarily staying with her father and stepmother while she figures out her next steps.

"We had someone reach out willing to rent out a house close to the hospital for about what she was paying for the other house. We were able to collect money to pay for her first and last month's rent as well as security deposit, and people are offering to donate furniture as well once the house situation is finalized," Himebrook said.

If you feel you would like to contribute and help Burgess, you can email Himebrook at Joan.himebrook@franciscanalliance.org.

Indiana Health Systems join forces to get REaL data

By Broderick Rhyant, M.D. Chief physician executive, Eskenazi Health Center Forest Manor

Indiana University Health, Eskenazi Health and Community Health Network

launched the "We Ask Because We Care" campaign last month. The campaign highlights why it is important for health care organizations to gather patient information on race, ethnicity and language (often referred to as "REaL" data) and how it helps ensure that everyone receives the highest level of care.

These local participating health networks believe health disparities are a very real threat to the health and well-being of the neighborhoods they serve and believe this is an important collaboration that will confront many important issues facing our community.

The 'We Ask Because We Care' campaign is centered around providing the highest quality of personalized care by better understanding our diverse patient population and their unique needs.

Without accurate baseline data about their race, ethnicity and language, it's impossible to really understand the specific nature and drivers of racial and ethnic disparities in patients' experiences and outcomes of care. It's critical that we measure the size of these disparity gaps and monitor our progress in closing those gaps over time. Equity reports allow the participating health care providers to compare quality outcomes across demographics for each service line and

The pandemic brought forth many challenges including re-emphasizing disparities of health in our community, and the 'We Ask Because We Care' campaign is centered on providing the highest quality of personalized care by better understanding our diverse patient population and their unique needs.

Having this information available on a broad scale will help the health systems know more about the communities they serve and the additional services they can provide to keep Indiana as healthy as it can be. By working together, we can help team members and patients understand why this information is so important to improve the quality of care and to move the needle on health equity

The new patient reporting system will be accompanied by extensive training on unconscious bias for each of the hospital's workforces. The participating hospitals also are taking proactive measures to reevaluate and advance hiring policies, salaries, retention efforts and procurement policies to better reflect diversity, equity and inclusion.

The promotional efforts around this campaign include a radio spot that will run in both English and Spanish on Central Indiana radio stations as well as other informative materials that will be available in physician offices, outpatient clinics and surgery centers. Registrars also will soon be provided printed information to help patients request interpretation services in more than two dozen languages.

Roncalli High School

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

If you are driving on the Southside, you have likely seen the yard signs that read "Choose Excellence. Choose Roncalli." Since the foundation of the school in 1969, Roncalli has worked relentlessly to engage, empower and transform our students through a Catholic educational experience that prepares all students for life after high school. If you check out our website or read the Roncalli Update magazine, you will see countless examples of excellence that exist for our Royals. A few of these headlines of excellence include ...

- Three times recognized as a Blue Ribbon School of Excellence
- 12 National Architect Champions
- 18 Indiana Academic All-Stars
- 23 State Championships
- 1168 average SAT score
- 98% of our graduates attend the college of their choice
- Each student is required to complete 144 service hours during the four years.
- 21 alumni who have entered ordained life serving our Catholic Church

At Roncalli, we pride ourselves on the fact that our major focus each day is simply on teaching and learning, caring for our students, and building a faith foundation for our students. We are blessed with dynamic teachers who are experts in their content knowledge, professionals in the pedagogy, and student-centered in their instruction. Our students are immersed in an environment where they develop in mind, body and spirit. They do not have to worry about anything besides being the best version of themselves. Distractions, disruptions and disturbances are not tolerated. That is an incredible blessing for our students and school.

In our faith, we believe that every person is divinely created as a child of God who is called for a specific purpose in life. Because of that belief, we focus on each individual student and create a journey that enriches their hearts, sharpens their skills, and prepares them for their path ahead.

We are proud of each student who fulfills their calling in life by entering college, the workforce, joins the military or accepts the call to religious life or serves as a lay leader in the Church.

St. Mark Catholic School

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

Saint Mark Catholic School is undergoing a year of tremendous growth and change! The most visible of our changes is a major addition to our campus. The new structure will house a new gym, cafeteria, kitchen, parish offices, and two new Pre-Kindergarten classrooms. We have enjoyed watching the progress and look forward to enjoying our new space soon!

I, Jen Kocher, was hired last February to have the honor of serving as principal. We just celebrated our 100th day of school and they have been a fantastic 100 days! It is truly a pleasure to support and work alongside our talented staff who ensure every child is reaching their maximum growth in faith, academics, and their mental and physical health.

New this year is the implementation of a systematic dyslexia screening process. Our staff has worked to screen students for reading difficulties, including characteristics of dyslexia, and provide necessary interventions if identified. We are proud to be one of the first non-public schools in the area to implement a systematic dyslexia screening process!

Finally, we adopted a theme for the school year to 'Grow in Grace'. Students can earn recognition for being graceful to their teachers and classmates. Parents, staff, and students are all reminded regularly that we need to be graceful with each other through the growing pains and all have embraced this theme amazingly! The morale and excitement in our school, even through the construction gravel and mud, is higher than ever!

If you are interested in learning more about Saint Mark, you can reach me at (317) 786-4013 or jkocher@stmarkindy.org. Wishing all a Happy Catholic Schools Week!!

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

The 2022-2023 school year has been a year full of so many bright moments of students being great leaders and learners each and every day. Although our school has much to offer students Preschool-8th grade in terms of academics, technology, and creative experiences, we pride ourselves most on our faith, service, and sense of community. "Gather Us In" has been our theme this year as we focus our efforts on finding ways to be welcoming and inviting to others. We know that we are better together and are striving to bring our community together through service and faith. Service activities such as collecting food for our Halloween food drive, delivering care packages to the homebound, cleaning up outdoor spaces, and even creating colorful cards for local nursing homes.

STUDENT LETTER St. Roch Catholic School

What does St. Roch mean to me? That's a simple question with a complex answer. St. Roch means a lot to me. St. Roch has given me a one-of-akind education. That education and the lessons I have been taught include language arts, social studies, science, math, technology, music, and foreign language. The basic subjects you would probably have at other schools. But St. Roch also has given me lessons that some people could only imagine. I have received lessons of respect, generosity, loyalty, love, sympathy, reliability, and helpfulness. It has taught me to be trustworthy and compassionate, enthusiastic about my beliefs and ideas while also being sensible to others' beliefs and ideas, and most of all it has taught me to be strong in faith. Being strong in faith and keeping a strong connection with God allows you to do anything you set your mind to.

I am thankful to be surrounded by teachers and friends who keep me connected to God and encourage me to achieve my goals. I am thankful for my principal, vice principals, and priest who give me plenty of opportunities to stay connected with God and let me become the best person I can be. I am also thankful for all the people that spend time running the school.

St. Roch Catholic School

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

Every day I get to spend at St. Roch Catholic School is a day I feel blessed. I am so proud to be the principal of such a wonderful institution. Writing about why I am proud to be the principal is very easy. Not many people are lucky enough to have a job that they look forward to each day.

- Our great students make me proud each day. They are the heartbeat of our school. Our building is alive with love and laughter. They work hard and are kind to each other. I am proud of all of our students.
- We are blessed with supportive parents. Our parents sacrifice each day to send their children to our school, and we appreciate them very much. They show their support through their kind words, volunteering for the various programs we need help with, and helping our students grow in faith and love by their example.
- The teachers and support staff are out of this world. They come early and stay late. Learning at St. Roch Catholic School is fun and engaging because our teachers put so much time and energy into their lessons. Most importantly, our staff loves our students, which means more than

- the curriculum they teach them daily. Our teachers and support staff work hard every day to make our students feel loved and appreciated so they can learn and grow.
- We put our faith first in all that we do. Our school theme is "Anchored in Faith." Each day the students and staff live this theme. Our faith in God is what drives our decisions. It is such a proud feeling to be able to work in a place that allows you to share your faith freely and out of love for God and others.
- We are blessed with overwhelming support from our parish and our community. They are very generous, and we always feel their love and support, whether monetary or through service and prayer.

We kick off our Centennial Celebration this year. St. Roch Catholic School and Parish have been an anchor on the Southside for the past 100 years. We appreciate those who worked so selflessly to establish our parish and school a century ago and all who have continued our rich legacy of faith and love over the years.

STUDENT LETTER Holy Name Catholic Church

Being in a Catholic school is a really big deal for me. I could have been taken somewhere else, without being educated in the Catholic faith, but I believe that being at a Catholic school is really the best experience of a school you can get.

The atmosphere of being in a Catholic school is the most charming of all. Knowing that God and Jesus are all around you makes it a most safe environment, and the friends that you make there are caring and loving. The faculty is really amazing as well, because there is no better help you can get other than the teachers we have at our school.

Another thing about Catholic schools is that it helps us strive to be together. Engaging in group activities, like we do every year on field trips, during Quest for Excellence and Field Day, all of this is possible because we grow in our physical, social, and spiritual strength. We also work together to help others outside the school through service projects. Through our works of mercy, we make most things possible for our school and others.

One more thing about Catholic schools is that they help children grow in their faith, through Catholic education. Through the study of the Bible, and learning more about God's mission for us and the world, we know, love, and serve God.

Catholic school are special because we are together to learn and put our faith in everything we do.

Holy Name Catholic Church

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

Rooted in Christ- A CENTURY of Knowing, Loving, and Serving Godthat is our theme for the 2022-2023 school year as we celebrate 100 YEARS of Holy Name! Each and every day the staff and students of Holy Name Catholic School strive to show Christ's presence within our school. We are lucky enough to attend all-school Mass twice a week and Eucharistic Adoration each Thursday. We offer many opportunities for students to engage in prayer and deepen their relationship with Christ. Everyday we recite our school pledge together, which truly drives all that we do at HNCS- "Using Christ as our model, we strive daily to enhance the growth of each person. In His way, we develop lifelong learners who are committed to knowing, loving, and serving God."

We have a phenomenal staff of truly dedicated teachers who love and support each student as if they were their own. We care deeply about the well-being and growth of each individual student, and will work with them to accommodate their individual needs. We have worked very diligently over the last few years to enhance the rigor of our academics, and we have seen tremendous growth in our students' ability to think critically and problem solve.

When you ask a member of our school family what they love most about Holy Name, you will almost always get the same answer – the small community and family feel. The comment has often been made that there is an immediate feeling of faith-filled love when you walk through our door. If you are looking for a school that will nurture your family's faith and provide a rigorous curriculum, in an atmosphere with a true sense of family, I have no doubt Holy Name is the right place for you. We would love to show you more about what it means to be a Holy Name Giant.

Saints Francis & Clare

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

Saints Francis and Clare of Assisi School is kicking off Catholic Schools Week this year on Saturday, Jan. 28, with our annual tuition assistance fundraiser. The Chili Cook-Off is a family event for the parish, school and community that includes a live auction, silent auction, kid's carnival, and more. This year a portion of the proceeds will go toward a fund to update our school playground.

During Catholic Schools Week we focus on the value Catholic education provides to our students and the contributions our students can make to the church, our school, the community and beyond. In addition, we take time to celebrate with prayer, special activities, and emphasis on a daily theme.

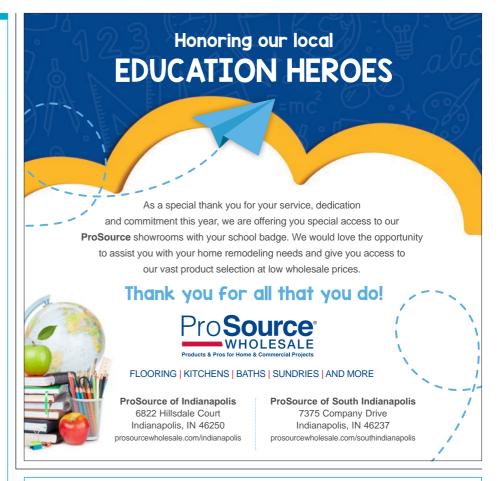

- Monday Celebrate Vocations
- Tuesday Celebrate our Students
- Wednesday Celebrate our Nation
- Thursday Celebrate our Community

Friday – Celebrate Faculty, Staff and Volunteers

We are proud of the parents who choose to "Put Faith into Their Children's Education" by sending their children to our Catholic school. Our yearlong school theme is "Discover the Source and Summit of Christian Living." We are using this theme to coordinate with the efforts of the bishops across the country and our Archdiocese to bring about a revival in the Eucharist.

Re-enrollment for existing families begins on Feb. 1 and then opens to new families on Feb. 15. We schedule tours throughout the year for families interested in discovering the difference that our school may offer their children. Our school accommodates children ages 6 weeks through 8th grade. You may set up an appointment to tour by calling our school office at 317-859-4673.

STUDENT LETTER Roncalli High School

Switching from public school to a Catholic education was a significant turning point in my life. I've seen many improvements; whether it's my faith, academic, or social life.

When my family and I got here to the United States, my sister and I attended public school. My grades were a disaster, I didn't have friends nor did I try to make friends. I had a tough time communicating due to my poor English, and my connection with God didn't exist. I continued attending public school for two years before my parents decided a Catholic education would be most suitable for us.

From 4th grade through 8th grade I went to St. Mark. I began to make friends; my grades were improving, and most importantly, my faith was starting to become alive. After graduating 8th grade, I chose Roncalli for my next step in life. One crucial thing I learned from Roncalli is that your faith is more prominent than your fear, and it is your victory. Getting a Catholic education is much more than having a theology class. It's a place where I can freely express myself and a place where we help each other grow in our faith. I have an extraordinary opportunity to go to Mass with the whole school and sometimes sing "Lean on Me" after Mass. Roncalli is my second home. I can go there anytime and there would be people that greet me with the warmest smile. After all, we are more than a school; we are a family.

God has been so good to me. Even on the worst days, I still see His blessings. Sometimes I overlook that breathing or waking up in the morning is a blessing. He gave me battles to fight to give me strength. I wouldn't realize all these without a Catholic education. Thanks to a Catholic education, I drew closer to God, and now my relationship with Him is better than before. I still have a lot more room to grow, but I know I'll be able to walk through it with God by my side.

From going to Mass, adoration, confession, to accomplishing volunteering work, I believe that a Catholic education guides students on the right path toward their future. I know this because I wouldn't be here without it.

St. Barnabas Catholic School

MESSAGE from OUR PRINCIPAL

"We are many parts, we are all one body, and the gifts we have we are given to share..." These words are a great example of St. Barnabas Catholic School. Each of us comes with a different story, a different background and different experiences, but we are one united in the love of Christ. We are so blessed to be part of this amazing place.

Recently a student shared with me that, "Our teachers teach us how to think, not what to think." I believe this is a hallmark of the education St. Barnabas Catholic School students receive. Through a focus on depths-of-knowledge and active learning that requires critical thinking, students have the opportunity to learn and engage with content in authentic ways.

While all students benefit from our approach to learning, at St. Barnabas Catholic School, we see children as individual blessings. We work diligently to use what we know about a child to help him or her develop to their fullest potential. While all students receive an excellent education, develop ways to manage learning and are motivated to set rigorous learning goals, our personalized learning environment allows differences to be celebrated and each learner to grow.

Our students have many opportunities to grow in their faith. We not only begin and end each day in prayer but throughout the day there are many opportunities for encounters with Jesus Christ. Beginning each class with prayer, daily catechesis, attending Eucharistic Adoration and participating in service projects such as our food drive and writing letters to military veterans are just a few of the ways our students are growing as disciples of Christ.

Relationships are essential at St. Barnabas Catholic School. Students are encouraged to build connections with others while becoming disciples themselves. Through lasting relationships, our community has been able to maintain a stewardship model for nearly 60 years as each generation works to provide an irresistibly Catholic education to the next.

STUDENT LETTER St. Mark Catholic School

I love going to Saint Mark because they let us learn about our religion!

They let us know about Jesus and how he resurrected from the dead for our sins. We also learn about the Holy Trinity and the Creed. We listen and read God's words.

We also share our love with one another through God. We also have fun activities that include God and ourselves! We get to have prayer buddies that are younger than us and we learn about God with them! We have Mass on Tuesday and Thursday, but it's available everyday, and in church we sing really loud to show God that we are worshiping him!

There's many reasons why Saint Mark is an astonishing school but here are some things I personally love! Whenever I go to school, I always see my teacher greeting me with a cheerful attitude and everybody else! Everybody loves one another. Whether you are in 5th, 6th, 7th or 8th, everybody is loving! Sometimes our principal, Mrs. Kocher, brings her dog Buddy to school! He sends a lot of positivity and enjoyment. We have opportunities unlike other schools. Most of the teachers understand us and listen to us. These are all my reasons on why Saint Mark is an amazing school and you should go to this Catholic school!

STUDENT LETTER Saints Francis & Clare

My Catholic school means more to me than just a brick building filled with students and a place I go to each day to learn. To me, it is a place where I feel loved and can live out my faith with my friends and teachers. At Saints Francis and Clare of Assisi, we are all one big family and community united in Christ. I love how we start and end every day in prayer. One of my favorite parts of the week is going to Mass with the entire school. I feel blessed to go to a place where God is always present, and I will always love my Catholic school.

STUDENT LETTER St. Barnabas Catholic School

There are many reasons why I think my Catholic school, St. Barnabas, is special.

The first reason is I get to learn about God and the Sacraments. I'm in second grade and I'm excited to do the Sacrament of Reconciliation so I can be forgiven for my sins. We also go to all school Mass to praise God.

The second reason is we have STEM once a month. One time I tied for the tallest freestanding tower made of foil, and I won a contest for building a tower from index cards that could hold the most weight.

The third reason is I have caring, knowledgeable, and fun teachers. My teacher teaches me how to count coins by playing math games and how to make a water cycle with shaving cream and blue water.

The last reason is we have principals that lead us in mind, spirit, and heart. They also lead us in prayer. I also like that they announce teams who win a game and if it is your birthday.

These are my reasons why I love St. Barnabas Catholic School.

Catholic schools guided by church teaching

MESSAGE from SUPERINTENDENT OF CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

Catholic schools have a long and successful tradition of developing leaders across the globe. Our alumni are leaders in government, education, business, social services, sports, the Church, and many more areas. Currently, 62 million students worldwide and over 20,000 students in the Archdiocese are attending Catholic schools in pre-K, elementary, and secondary schools. What separates our Catholic schools from other private and public schools? Our schools are guided by Church teaching and hundreds of years of education experience.

"The Catholic school forms part of the saving mission of the Church, especially for the education in the faith" (The Catholic School, #9). Our Catholic schools are first and foremost a community of faith. Every Catholic school in the Archdiocese has a prominently displayed sign which states, "Christ is the reason for this school." Catholic school education constantly refers to the Gospel and frequent encounters with Christ through prayer, the Sacraments, and the school community.

Our students gradually mature in their faith to become Christian men and women who live and act in conformity with the Gospel. They learn to integrate their faith with their lived experiences. Catholic school students learn to discern the voice of God to serve others and make the world a better place. Catholic school students become Christian disciples who live their faith and show non-Christians something of the mystery of Christ.

Catholic schools greatly value partnerships with parents, the primary teachers of their children. This parent-school relationship in our Catholic school communities is uniquely supportive and collaborative. "It is incumbent upon parents to cooperate closely with the school teachers to whom they entrust their children ... teachers are to collaborate closely with parents who are to be willingly heard" (Code of Canon Law, #796). Parents and educators are called to work closely together in the education of our children.

This education is more than ensuring our students are academically prepared to be productive contributors to our country and world. A Catholic school education "must strive for complete formation of the human person ... that they are able to develop their physical, moral, and intellectual talents harmoniously, acquire a more perfect sense of responsibility and right use of freedom, and are formed to participate actively in social life" (Code of Canon Law, #795). Our Catholic schools provide instruction which is "at least as academically distinguished as that in the other school of the area" (Code of Canon Law, #806). Our Catholic schools strive to exceed the academic rigor and performance of other schools. In addition to strong academics, formation of the whole child includes opportunities to serve others, grow in community, and be leaders. Our Catholic school students are preparing to build the kingdom

Please visit our schools and notice the impact of the Catholic school community built on the foundation of Christ. See the impact of the parents and educators closely collaborating. Recognize the impact of the education of the whole child. Identify how Church teachings guide our Catholic schools to greatness.

To enroll your child, to support our Catholic schools financially, to volunteer, to seek employment, or to learn more Catholic school education in the Archdiocese contact your local school or visit the Office of Catholic Schools webpage (ocs.archindy.org). God bless our Catholic schools!

HONDA Luke Kegerreis

By Mark Ambrogi

Luke Kegerreis' future lies on a soccer field, not a basketball court.

But before the Roncalli High School senior heads to play soccer for Xavier University, he has one last basketball fling.

"It's been fun to play one season with my brother Drew on varsity because we really haven't got to play like this before," Kegerreis said. "The record doesn't really show it but as a team I think we are really starting to come together, and I think that will keep happening."

Kegerreis said he always planned to play all four seasons of basketball.

"It's not my No. 1 sport, but I enjoy playing," Kegerreis said. "With Drew playing varsity this year, it was another reason to keep playing to play together before I left."

Kegerreis is averaging 15.3 points while shooting 45 percent from 3-point range. Drew, a junior, is averaging 12.9points for the Royals (5-9).

"Luke's main strength on court the is his ability to shoot the basketball," Roncalli first-year coach Jamin Wernke said. "Luke's No. 1 strength overall though is his composure. If you walked into the gym in the middle of the third quarter, you would not know what the score is based on Luke's body language. He's the same kid during the highs as he is during the lows. I think that's a big reason why he's been able to hit big shots for us during his career."

Wernke said Kegerreis' greatest improvement has been on the defensive end.

"His length and athleticism helps us so much on the end of the floor," Wernke said.

Kegerreis said confidence has been the key for him.

> confident in my abilities," he said. "This year being a senior and having more varsity experience has helped me go out and just play better overall."

> "Last season I don't think I was as Kegerreis, a defender, played on Indy Eleven Youth Academy's U19 soccer team in the fall of 2022, passing up his final year of high school soccer. Kegerreis said his Roncalli soccer teammates were supportive of the decision.

> "I was at all the games because Drew still played," he said.

Kegerreis said he knows the Indy Eleven opportunity will benefit his college career.

"All the players there are all Division I quality players," Kegerreis said. "Some of them already have professional contracts. I was in a good environment every day for training to help me get ready for Xavier next fall. Every day everyone is pushing you, so you have to be at your best."

Kegerreis will return to play for Indiana Fire Academy and Indy Eleven this spring.

Kegerreis' mother, Sarah (Hurrle) Kegerreis, played basketball at Butler University and Western Michigan. His father, Keith Kegerreis, played soccer at Trine University in Angola.

His mother played for Roncalli, and his father is a Center Grove High School graduate.

"So I've been around those sports all my life," said Luke Kegerreis, whose sister Sammie, a Roncalli freshman, plays basketball and soccer.

AN OPTION

Mr. Patakon

The Southside now has a home for Columbian food, including arepas, empanadas and patacones, thanks to owners/mother and daughter, Diana Moreno and Brenda Sanchez, of Columbian nationality. "Mr. Patakon does not disappoint," according to a Yelp review. "Their arepas are delicious when combined with different meats and flavors that make your taste buds pop!" A second review stated, "The real winner? The criolla arepa. The meat was tender, juicy, flavorful. I could go on and on! The sauce on it was vummy, the salsa that comes with it absolutely divine.""We tried the patacon loco," added an additional Yelp reviewer. "The bottom layer was a plantain and then it had all the toppings on it, almost like a pizza! The meat was seasoned very well, and all the flavors blended well together!" Pair your food with a traditional Columbian soda, and don't forget dessert. Try the obleas, a round wafter filled with dulce de leche, table cream and optional black berry jam.

Franklin College to host guest artist Joel Fremion

The Franklin College Art Department will welcome its second guest artist exhibit of the 2022-2023 academic year to campus in February. The exhibition is titled "Painting with Fabric." Joel Fremion will exhibit his work in the Elba L. & Gene Portteus Branigin Atrium, located in the Johnson Center for Fine Arts. He will open the exhibit with a lecture about his work and process at 7 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 6. in the Henderson Conference Room, located on the second floor of the Johnson Center for Fine Arts. An opening reception will follow the lecture. The public is invited to view Fremion's work at this event. Fremion is an award-winning, nationally recognized artist living in Ft. Wayne. After growing up in his grandparents' upholstery/fabric shop, and being influenced as the son of an interior designer, Fremion's early college education centered around architectural and interior design. As he explored the fine arts, particularly painting, he eventually created his own technique of "fabric collage". This very tactile artwork is an intricate blend of fabric and leather to create collages that are then further enhanced with painted

Aftersun

A tender rumination on memory

MOVIE REVIEW

By Bradley Lane

What separates our memories from the photos and videos we take? Are these digital artifacts substitutes for our own memories, or is it that these documents shape our view of times past? Writer-director Charlotte Wells wrestles with these ideas throughout her achingly beautiful debut feature film Aftersun. Set through the lens of a woman desperately trying to make sense of very complicated feelings, Sophie explores her memories of a trip with her father through the home videos they took together.

From the very beginning of the film, Wells establishes an uncharacteristically foreboding atmosphere. Sophie and her dad, Callum get along like the best of friends. They joke, laugh, and share an intimate bond. So why then does a melancholic, almost tense tone pervade their idyllic vacation? Clearly there is something unspoken between them or between their experience and the audience's understanding of it. They clearly love being around one another. Their relationship is the driver of the otherwise slow, uneventful film. They get to a hotel, swim at the pool, go to dinner, and see embarrassingly lame performances of old Elvis covers and staff led macarena sessions. Despite this unassuming story, tiny moments paint the audience's emotional experience. A fleeting facial expression, a shot that lingers just a bit too long, or a composition slightly askew all cue the audience to lean in and question what is being communicated.

This attention to detail of the form combines with utterly transfixing performances by Paul Mescal and Frankie Corio to create something wholly transcendent. Wells pioneers a lyrical style of editing that interrogates the very nature of memory in a uniquely immediate and realistic framework that sneaks up on the viewer. It feels so universal to find oneself rummaging through old photos and home movies to try and make sense of what would come next, applying hindsight where there was once just the moment.

They had such a tough time growing up but they're so much happier now. I can't believe it was just a few years ago they left for college and now they're getting married. I miss them so much; we were just together what felt like days ago.

Wells has a way of juxtaposing the unflinching reality of a moment with the idealized, forever crystallized, recording of moments just after or proceeding them. This technique recalls one of the masters of editing Alain Resnais, specifically his 1959 master work Hiroshima Mon Amour. Both Resnais and Wells highlight the haunting qualities of memories. Ghosts, hiding in the deepest most vulnerable parts of our psyche, less seen than felt in quiet pain. Only appearing when shocked into our system by external stimuli, a smell, an image, or in this case a low-quality camcorder tape.

Wells feels deeply; she has an empathetic soul that is laid bare by the vulnerable contents of her first ever film. As a fellow intense feeler of feelings, I walked away from Aftersun just incredibly thankful to be able to share in what I can only imagine must have been a difficult story for her to tell. It is rare for a film to entrench itself so quickly within my being. Aftersun creates a world that audiences, like its principal character, will beg to live in for just a moment longer, if only to mourn more completely, to get closure that never comes.

Fresh off a nomination for best actor at this year's Academy Awards, there is no better time than now to check out one of 2022's best films now available to rent on all video on demand services. - 5/5 stars

GRAMMAR GUY

By Curtis Honeycutt

As I approach the magical age of 40, I'm supposedly getting to the peak of my life (and then it's all downhill from there). What I didn't realize is what a rude awakening this would be for my newly aching body. My kids all still want to be held from time to time, which is killing my back. Now, before you recommend your favorite chiropractor, allow me to make a segue as weak as my back.

Today I want to introduce you to the idea of "back slang." Feel free to groan all you want, but I had to whet your appetite for a healthy dose of word nerdery.

For those of you who love wordplay, back slang is a way to play with language in which you speak or spell a word backward. Easy as "eip," right?

Originally conceived in Victorian-era London, back slang began as a clandestine way for costermongerers (street merchants who sold produce) to talk to each other about things they wanted to keep secret. I know this sounds weird, but I'm guessing the sellers wanted to communicate freely to each other about things like problem customers, prices for cabbage and private theories about the identity of Jack the Ripper.

Baby got back slang

Imagine a loud, crowded street market where you needed to share trade secrets with your fellow carrot-seller across the way. If you shouted something about "storrac," you'd be talking about "carrots." As this secret way of communicating evolved, the sellers developed a fast way of talking that made no sense to their clientele. For instance, if you could get away with swindling an old man, you could tell your friend to "less eht delo nam mus deliops jabbac," which translates to, "Sell the old man some spoiled cabbage."

You'll notice the spelling in the back slang example above isn't truly backward. That's because back slang attempts to spell words as phonetically as possible once the words are reversed. It seems difficult to understand at first glance, but the costermongerers were experts.

My favorite contemporary example of back slang comes from the world of combat robotics. Yes, Grammar Guy is part of a BattleBots team, and you can see me on TV competing with the 250-pound robot called Bloodsport. But, as it relates to back slang, you've got to go down to the 12-pound weight class.

At a smaller robotics tournament called NHRL (Norwalk Havoc Robot Combat), builder Kris Rummel competes with a robot called Yob Gnol, pronounced "yob guh-nol." Yob Gnol placed second in the NHRL 12-pound finals in December, and I can't get enough of it.

You can have "snut fo nuf" with back slang, and now your assignment is to introduce it to a friend through a text conversation this week. Now, if you'll excuse me, I need to apply some Icy Hot to my lower back.

Weekly Devotion

Do not add to what I command you and do not subtract from it, but keep the commands of the Lord your God that I give you.

DEUTORONOMY 4:2

Some people grew up going to church. They grew up hearing the old gospel hymnals sung, and they learned proper church etiquette and protocol. I was not one of those people. When I came to know Jesus, I knew very little about the Bible and even less about the many different denominations in the world today. And so began my church search. I thought it was rude of "church folk" to sing songs without song books or to chant some series of responsive savings that were foreign to me as a visitor. Finding the right church was clearly going to involve a series of trials and errors. Surely finding God's Word would be a much simpler task. All I needed was a Bible, but which Bible is the "correct" Bible? My first King James Bible reminded me of the Shakespeare I struggled to read back in high school! One day a lady gave me a King James Study Bible. I never knew there was such a thing as commentary inside the pages of a Bible! Suddenly I could know who wrote what, when, where, and what it meant! Then I wondered about the many different versions of the Bible. There are NIVs, NRSV's, NLT's, ESV's, RSV's, NKJV's, and KJV's. The list goes on and on. There are as many versions of the Bible as there are denominations! Now, after many years of preaching and teaching, I have concluded which Bible is superior to all the others. The older I get and the wiser I become the more I find the super-giant print version to be by far the very best!
