City of Greenwood to complete street repairs

FEATURE

By Eric Ellis

Greenwood's 2014 Bituminous Overlay Project has begun and several re-pavement projects are underway or will be shortly. The company completing the project is Milestone Contractors, L.P., 5950 S Belmont Ave., Indianapolis.

Senior Technician of the City's Engineering Division, Paul D. Peoni, said the project began in late July with new handicap ramps being completed on Meridian Street.

"New concrete curbs are being installed on Ridge Top Drive and paving has begun on Demaree Road [and] Stones Crossing Road," Peoni said. "The old county roads are being concentrated on first as far as paving and then moving closer into the City limits for paving of the other roads. The contractor has 90 days to complete the project but we are anticipating that construction will be completed sooner."

For more information, visit greenwood.in.gov or contact the Street Dept. at (317) 887-5607.

Other projects to be completed:

- Fry Road – From approx. Pleasant Run Creek Bridge to Covered Bridge Rd.
- Meridian Street – From approx. Camey St. to Main St.
- Smith Valley Road – From approx. Restin Rd. to Shepherds Way.
- Curry Road – From approx. Lacebark Dr. to Woodfield Sub.
- Demaree Road – From approx. Honey Creek Rd. to Woodfield Sub. and from approx. Cobblestone Sub to Ind. 135.
- Stone Crossing Road – From approx. Ashton Ln. to Honey Creek Rd. and from approx. Honey Creek Road to Western Drive entrance.
- Dusty Trail – From approx. Barefoot Trail to Dead End.
- Ridge Top Drive – From approx. Tree Top Lane to Rolling Hill Rd.

History of war and ice cream

Perry Township/Southport Historical Society meeting highlights upcoming reenactment and Whistle Stop ice cream

FEATURE

By Rick Hinton

The July 29 meeting of the Perry Township/Southport Historical Society produced an exciting revelation of an upcoming future event, and a sweet treat to close out the meeting.

Southport Mayor Jesse Testruth was in attendance and along with historical member Barry Browning, made the announcement of an event to be held in Southport Park. The idea blossomed suddenly only two to three months ago and has gathered steam since. On Aug. 16-17, a French & Indiana War reenactment will take precedence in Southport Park, 6901 Derbyshire Rd. The re-enactors will camp throughout the weekend, living in period-style tents, cooking over an open fire and staying in character.

The weekend will encompass vendor booths, story tellers and a scavenger hunt with the promise of prizes hosted by the historical society. The answers to complete the scavenger hunt will come from the actors themselves, so it will be an effort in interaction.

Friday, Aug. 15 will be a prequel for school children to personally tour the grounds.

Southport Mayor Testruth promises a weekend of fun and activities to spur the imagination. It will be a time to bring the small com-son gave a short history of the establishment along the main drag of Beech Grove. Out of the plans of four friends in 2012 The Whistle Stop was born and will celebrate its first year in business this August. As the Beech Grove Main Street renovation re-opened, so did the grand opening of The Whistle Stop.

Known for its variety of flavors of ice cream (popular favorites being Butter Crunch, Strawberry Cheesecake, and Southern Blueberry Cobbler), The Whistle Stop also serves lunch and dinner. Try a quarter-pound all-beef hot dog served on a Pretzel Bun and become a believer! The ice cream flavors are rotated on a regular basis, giving one the opportunity to sample a variety of offerings.

The owners of The Whistle Stop are a fixture in the community of Beech Grove and believe in its growth. They are encouragers of business growth in the area and reach out in other areas, including assisting the homeless, food donations for the needy, and school supplies for children. The weekly Beech Grove Farmer's Market sets up shop in The Whistle Stop's parking lot every Sunday—June thru October.

Beech Grove was built around the railroad.

Q: What do you enjoy most about the State Fair?

"For my family and I, the State Fair is just a fun environment for the kids. They love the animals. They love the rides. They love the noise, the hustle and bustle and everything. It is an exciting place for them to go. Personally for my own business this year, they are introducing craft beer into the State Fair. This is an exciting thing for many breweries that are opening all the time in Indiana. I am a year and a half into my own business. I believe it is 40 alone this year that will be opening up and it is a great way to get your name out to a lot of people who wouldn't even know you exist as a brewery."

Andrew Groves,
Center Grove

"I like the food, and I like the animals in the different barns that they have. I try and go every year, at least once every year, with friends or with family. If I can, I will go again this year."

Baily Shorey,
Franklin Township

"When I was younger, I remember my dad and I used to go to the Indiana State Fair and we would go around the area in the back and there were free peanuts. We used to grab those. Obviously they don't do that anymore. I just remember it was safe and I remember going there and having a great time. It seems like every year it gets wilder and wilder, especially on the midway. But the food is still great."

Gary Spista,
Greenwood

"My favorite part is all of the animals. I like to see the dogs and the dog shows, the horse and horse shows, I even like the pigs, the hogs, all of them. I took my granddaughter two different days last year. We took in all the animals and the dogs."

Camp Atterbury and the Wakeman Hospital

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

There is a long history of diversity in this area of southern Johnson County: from the original settlers and the communities they erected, to the 70 some years it was used as a military installation. People come and after a span of time depart, but often leave imprints of themselves on not only the land but also in the buildings they frequented during their relatively short tenure through life. These imprints are sometimes fueled by emotions, sometimes by turmoil, and sometimes personal tragedy. And it would appear that some choose not to leave. Or so the story goes.

Rick Hinton
Paranormal Examiner

Back in the day (World War II) the Wakeman General and Convalescent Hospital had its own imprint upon the grounds of Camp Atterbury. This imprint carries over to today. The 47 buildings comprising the hospital were the largest of its kind in the United States in the 1940s, containing over 9,000 beds. During its tour of duty the facility treated more than 85,000 patients and was one of several of the Army's plastic surgery centers in the country. Let's for a moment speculate on the doctors and nurses that traversed the hallways of these buildings in a daily routine. Their job was to provide comfort and healing for many that were far beyond that.

Let our thoughts go to those who occupied a bed, and in the twinkling of an eye had found themselves in a position far beyond their control and understanding. Their daily life became a series of visits from white clad staff charged with easing the pain of war injuries and psychological disorders as a result of.

Let's also speculate on the outpouring of emotions, pain, and personal turmoil that these buildings absorbed during this period of time. This circulated daily, and was replaced on a regular basis by a new arrival of patients. It can be compared to a giant sponge that soaks everything in and gradually goes through the process of releasing it. And much like a giant magnet that traps and retains....

In the paranormal field of study I have found hospitals to be the greatest recipient of the material that will fuel ghostly activity. If you think about it, every aspect of human drama will be played out in one at some point.

Although the majority of the original buildings are long gone, a few remain, and for a different purpose.

COVER STORY

By Nicole Davis

Bands from around Indiana will come to Greenwood on Aug. 9 for the Greater Greenwood Community Band's first-ever Band Festival. With eight bands playing throughout the day, band director Tom Dirks said there is something for everyone to enjoy.

"There will be a wide variety of bands coming in so it won't be bands everyone has heard coming to these concerts," said Tom Dirks, also the director of the Center Grove High School band. "If you are interested in this kind of activity and you want to have a good time, you can come out and enjoy a good band... I hope people understand that it's not a Greenwood activity; it's a Southside of Indianapolis activity. If anyone in the state is looking for a good place to go and enjoy a different type of activity, they can come out, bring friends along and see the concerts. I'm hoping people go away feeling I can't wait to come back."

Dirks said four years ago, the Greenwood band played at Terre Haute's band festival. He said it was a successful event which they enjoyed. Last year they attended a festival in Carmel, but organizers in that area decided not to host one this year. Dirks said Greenwood band members thought, why shouldn't they host it?

The festival will take place Aug. 9, 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Greenwood Ampitheater (Surina Square Park), 100 Surina Way, Greenwood. A pancake breakfast begins at 7:30 a.m., allowing the audience to join the musicians for breakfast. Archer's Meats will cater the food just about every type of music out there," said Alene Haydock, a charter member of the Greenwood band. "Even in our program we have an assortment of a couple classical pieces and some marches. So I think they can expect a nice variety of music that will please the audiences. To me that's a great appeal, to hear something a little bit different from what they might be used to and probably different to what they might be expecting, too."

Haydock said she and the other members are even excited about listening to the other bands and getting to know some new people.

Dirks said they're hoping for a large turnout. He said the Southside has some great band programs such as in Center Grove, Greenwood or Southport, high schools which usually shows in the community's appreciation for their music when they attend these concerts. Having never hosted anything like this before, he said the event will provide plenty of music the Southside audience has never experienced live before.

"We don't play for money," Dirks said. "We hope to bring a good crowd out here so every band that comes leaves thinking Greenwood is a great place, the audience really supported them and they go home feeling good, wanting to come back."

for the day. The band has worked to plan this festival for months. Dirks said they feel it's going to be a "smooth operation and enjoyable for people."

GREENWOOD
COMMON COUNCIL

Greenwood Common
Council Meeting Aug. 4, 7pm

■ What happened? Ordinance No. 14-34 regarding door-to-door cable salespersons passed its second reading 9-0.

■ What it means: Greenwood Common Councilmembers were required to amend municipal code in accordance with Ind. Code § 8-1-34-30(j), which "prohibits political subdivisions from requiring a video service franchise company who is issued a certificate granting it direct marketing authority from the State to also obtain marketing or solicitation authority from the political subdivision, impose any licensing fee or requirement or such a party, or otherwise regulate such a party (except that a political subdivision may enforce regulations as to hours or manner)." Councilmember Bruce Armstrong said, "I wish we had an option not to do this," which seemed to echo the sentiment of the entire Council.

■ What's next: According to the Ordinance document, "this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law."

BEECH GROVE CITY COUNCIL

Beech Grove City Council Meeting Aug. 4, 7pm

■ What happened? Old business – Ordinances 3, 8 and 9 had their third readings. Ordinances 10, 11 and 12 had its second readings. All ordinances were passed.

■ What it means: Ordinance 3 is in pursuant to animals. Included in this, farm animals such as chickens will be prohibited. Pot belly pigs are allowed. Ordinance 8 is pursuant to fair housing, something city attorney Craig Wiley stated this needed to be passed in order for the city to receive federal funding. Ordinance 9 will allow revenue generated from a telephone tower at Hartman Field to go to the parks department. Ordinance 10 will adjust fees with the board of zoning appeals. Ordinances 11 and 12 pertain to through and stop streets, proposing additional stop signs for 7th Avenue and Cleveland and Tyson and Main Street.

■ What's next: Ordinances 10, 11 and 12 will be voted on during the Sept. 2 city council meeting.

■ What happened? Additional appropriation was requested for $5,000 for the Beech Grove Police Department.

■ What it means: Police Chief Mark Swartz said the funds would be for continuing education for the officers.

■ What's next: This was approved and will go for second and third reading at the Sept. 2 city council meeting.

■ What happened? Ordinances 13, 14 and 15 were introduced.

■ What it means: Ordinance 13 is pursuant to ambulance reports to corporate responses out of Beech Grove. A rate schedule change has been proposed for out of city runs. In-city will remain the same. Ordinance 14 will update the personnel manual concerning employee behavior, adding an anti-harassment section. Ordinance 15 will update the personnel manual concerning military leave.

■ What's next: These ordinances were all approved and will go for second reading at the Sept. 2 meeting.

In brief...

- Members of Beautify Beech Grove gave a special presentation. The non-profit organization has raised enough money to purchase 75 flags to line streets in Beech Grove.
- Derek Blice of the Compliance office reported that 138 addresses were inspected in July and two court summons issued.

VIEWS

Let's continue with the Hoosier State Line

READERS' WRITES

To the editor,

Recently you may have heard that the City of Indianapolis is withdrawing its participation in the funding of the Hoosier State line that runs from Chicago to Indianapolis effective Oct. 1 of this year.

Needless to say, this was the last thing I thought I would hear while on a recent conference call with INDOT and several other Mayors throughout the State of Indiana. Cities such as Dyer, Rensselaer, West Lafayette, Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Indianapolis and Beech Grove have a vested interest in this line, equipment and people who work and ride on the train.

In 2008, Congress set into motion a rule that implies that a train line less than 750 miles in length will have to be funded by the particular state that the line is in, beginning in 2014. In other words the federal government will no longer fund these lines beginning in 2014.

INDOT has expressed an interest in continuing to fund the line at a cost of 3.8 million for 2015 with local cities and town's share being 1.9 million. Compounding this with the fact that Indianapolis is withdrawing, it is relatively clear that the Hoosier State may in fact be discontinued. We all know that under most circumstances when a line like this is eliminated, it is unlikely to return.

In speaking with the folks at Amtrak, I'm concerned about this and the jobs at the Beech Grove yard. Yes, Amtrak can come up with other plans to bring equipment, cars and supplies down from Chicago, but it's the principle. The discontinuation of the Hoosier State shouldn't translate into job reductions or a temporary reprieve from having employment opportunities.

Hopefully this can be worked out and the good services provided by the employees of Amtrak can continue concerning the Hoosier State Line. As more information becomes available, we will be sure to pass it on. Let's remember that traveling by rail is another form of transportation in the State of Indiana.

READERS' WRITES

To the editor,

My grandmother Linda Lynn (a Perry Township resident) has passed away. She was involved in several charity activities. She was a pillar in the community. She affected many lives in countless ways. At Christmas she hosted charities and crafts for the homeless as well as toy drives for families in need. She organized Thanksgiving baskets for needing families. Every year she worked the Annual Fish Fry for her church as well as baked countless goods to sell at the fish fry. She also started a senior program called Birthday Blessings where she visited the elderly on their birthday. She would give them a present for every day of their birthday week. Her death affects more than just her immediate family. She brought a light in the darkness to many families in need. The world will be a little darker without her.

Thursday, Aug. 7, from 4 to 7 p.m., the City of Greenwood will have a ribbon cutting ceremony as well as a dedication for the Bagby Memorial Clock. Though the new City Building, located at 300 South Madison Ave., has been in use for several weeks now, this is the perfect opportunity for engaged business leaders and citizens to see the new facility if they haven't yet and learn more about the people behind the curtain. As city officials such as Mayor Mark Myers have stated in the past, this move will prove beneficial to the city by offering one centralized location for city of-

Wither gov's future? D.C. is destination

A recent midweek night found two state legislators, an entrepreneur and one of us in a local eatery enjoying a leisurely dinner. The topics zipped around the table like so many Ping Pong balls. One almost needed a scorecard to keep track. We tackled the economy, the Statehouse, growth and development and, naturally, politics. When the topic of the 2016 race for the presidency bubbled to the surface, by a 3-2 vote it was determined Hillary Clinton would not run. (We believe she will.) Then, one among us asked the others what they could foresee with respect to a potential run for the Oval Office by Gov. Mike Pence. Two among the party immediately, and nearly simultaneously, said, "Vice president." It was something neither of us had thoroughly considered. We've always believed that if Pence tossed his hat into the ring, it would be for the No. 1 gig. But when one stops to think about it, a vice-presidential role for the governor makes a lot of sense; it would be a greening for the future ... if everything worked out for him. As we've stated before, we'd like to see him make more inroads as Indiana's chief executive. Were he to hit the campaign trail, the import of his in-state to-do list obviously would lessen. So, with whom would he be paired? The name that quickly surfaced was Wisconsin Gov. Scott Walker, he of the union-busting pedigree. But Walker is facing tough times in his own state for purported ties with third-party groups. Last week he was in a virtual polling tie with challenger Mary Burke. Maybe Walker isn't the answer. Regardless, we all agreed that Washington is in Pence's future. It seems now that it's just a matter of what and when. What are your thoughts? Should he run? If so, which office should he pursue, president or vice president? Is it too soon to make that call? Please share your opinion at news@ss-times.com.

Peaceful eating Perspective

NUTRITION

I no longer fear death, and have no ambitions of living 100 earth years. My goal is to feel good, to be kind and to become the best I was created to be... now-today and not later-to vibrate at my highest social, spiritual, cosmic and career potential by caring compassionately for my Holy Temple with food, exercise, acts of kindness, self-love and meditation: loving myself so much that I no longer want to make myself needlessly suffer.

How can your 'greater good' ever find you if you're buried beneath the festering rabble of the low-grade nutrition disgorged upon a trusting society by Big Food, commodity bankers and agribusiness?

Many Americans believe it's possible to have control over their level of physical activity, the healthfulness of their diet, and their weight, yet far fewer are actually taking control. Disease is born from the lack of nutritional insight-malnutrition. We've been methodically betrayed by the food industry and led to perceive food as convenient entertainment rather than heavenly cellular nutrition. When you see the true nature of your suffering and disease, you are liberated.

Americans eat more than any other nation. Yet, testing the over-fed and under-exercised reveal they're malnourished. Experts say the pigswill composing the addictive American diet of fat, salt, sugar, white flour, caffeine, tobacco and alcohol with insanely high sugar calories, but low on authentic human nutrition, is the keystone of preventable disease in the land o' plenty. Until I was 40, lingering on my ICU death bed, I, too, had eaten poorly. But the Grim Reaper dropped by to poke me. I acknowledged my vegaphobic diet of KFC, doughnuts, bacon burgers, Mt. Dew, Jerky, booze and sugary foods nearly killed me. I didn't love myself sufficiently. Your Temple is the vehicle for your spirit and your soul. It is the piece of the universe you've been assigned to tend and cherish. I am love. I am joy. I am freedom. I am peace. I am peaceful, whole and balanced, but only if I feed my cells what they require to thrive.

Obesity is the new malnutrition. Born from empty calories, obesity sets in, and your starving brain stops growing, rendering you less than whole. Disease is most frequently caused by a nutritional deficiency. Vitamins, minerals and enzymes are building blocks your cells need to sustain whole health. Logically without 40 basic vitamins and 90 trace minerals needed daily, your trillions of cells cannot sustain a crumbling Temple. Eating healthy foods is compassionate self-love. If your spiritual antennae are 'funkied' up from eating dead food, then how can you connect effectively with the infinite Divine?

When I cradle a bowl of the cosmos's bounty, I vibrate with gratitude. You don't need to join a monastery to practice self-love; the most sincere love of self. Eating with mindful gratitude nourishes a peaceful heart, and that begins to shift and heal our mutual, teetering world.

Get On Up...plenty of soul

MOVIE REVIEW

If you were to begin naming the most influential names in music within the last 60 years or so, likely the first several names to roll off your tongue will be Presley, Lennon, McCartney and Dylan. If you were to continue a bit longer, you would probably soon blurt out names like Kurt Cobain, Eminem and "The Godfather of Soul," James Brown. Much like, Ray Charles in Ray, James Brown gets the biopic treatment with the new flick, Get On Up.

If you haven't had the pleasure of viewing of one of these usually lengthy and expanded films, likely you can effectively deduce what a "biopic" entails. It's a film that essentially attempts to encompass an individual's entire life story. Get On Up tells the personal and professional rollercoaster ride that was the life of the "hardest working man in show business," James Brown.

The film opens with Brown at an advanced age during one of his many brushes with the law. From that point on, Get On Up uses a very atypical, nonlinear type of storytelling as it jumps back and forth between different periods of his life.

The biggest downfall of the film is the unique, uncharacteristic, and often hard to follow way in which the film is told. As I mentioned, Get On Up is told in a very nonlinear fashion that leaves many scenes feeling unfinished and characters undeveloped. As quickly as you learn the setting and establish who one of two of the characters in a particular scene is, it changes to another scene in different setting and do so repeatedly throughout the film.

Another troubling aspect of the film was that it attempted to cram so much material in such a constricted amount of time, albeit the film is still 2 and ½ hours long. The film covers Brown's poverty-stricken childhood, rise to fame and career, personal troubles, and the social issues that plagued his career, but again these ideas and subjects all feel undeveloped. Instead, we're just given the bare minimum and nothing further.

If there is any reason to see Get On Up, it's for the performance of Chadwick Boseman. Boseman, who plays Brown, embodies the late singer perfectly. To his look, to the trademark scratchy voice, and his famous dance moves, Boseman is "The Godfather of Soul."

Although it is nowhere near a perfect film, with many ideas, subjects, and characters undeveloped, Boseman's performance provides enough soul to keep you thoroughly entertained. A 3 out of 5.

BUSINESS

Ramsey Development Founder Guy Ramsey cut the ribbon for the Tuesday grand opening of the Kindred Transitional Care and Rehabilitation. Ramsey Development led the construction of the facility for Kindred.

Kindred Healthcare opens new facility on Southside

Kindred Healthcare opened Kindred Transitional Care and Rehabilitation – SouthPointe, a 100-bed transitional care center in Indianapolis at 4904 War Admiral Dr. When fully staffed, the SouthPointe center will employ approximately 125 people including Licensed Nurses, Certified Nurse Aides, Therapists, Administrative, Maintenance and Dietary employees. As a bridge between hospital and home, Kindred Transitional Care and Rehabilitation – SouthPointe specializes in intensive short-term rehabilitation therapy and will care for short-term patients who need added recovery and rehabilitation before returning home. It offers cardio and orthopedic specialty programs offering specialty physician involvement and specialized therapy equipment. For more information, contact Jared Houck, Executive Director, at (317) 885-3333.

AN OPTION

Brittany Toney serves up root beer at The Suds.

The Suds

The scoop: The Suds and the Saturday night cruise-in that congregates around the classic drive-in is a tradition that has for years drawn thousands to the downtown area. The drive-in has been at 350 Market St. since the 1950s and owners Larry Evans and John Wagner have sought to continue the tradition since they took over the establishment from The Suds Hotrod Club. "We have somebody different every weekend," said Evans. "We have our usual people, people from Indiana, and people who have come from all over the world just to see the place."

Type of food: Hamburgers, hot dogs, onion rings, and root beer

Price of entrees: All individual items are under $5.

Specialties: The Suds Dog, a double patty burger with cheese, lettuce, pickle, and a special sauce; 22 oz. Root Beer; Root Beer Floats or Pepsi Floats.

Recommendation: The tenderloin.

Hours: 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday to Saturday. Closed Sunday through Wednesday.

Location: 350 Market Plaza in Greenwood

Phone: (317) 881-0085

Bikes on the Bricks

Since 2008, the MotoGP racing series has blessed the Indianapolis Motor Speedway with its prestigious and high-octane action around the 16-turn modified track. The Red Bull Indianapolis GP may be lesser known than the Indy 500 and the Brickyard, but these motorcycle riders definitely know how to put on a show. We love having the MotoGP series come to 16th and Georgetown and we hope they do so for years to come! On this page, you'll find a complete schedule of this weekend's events. Be safe and enjoy the weekend.

Beech Grove's McBrayer becomes a Marine

PVT. Kodiak McBrayer, a 2014 Beech Grove High School graduate, became a United States Marine in a final ceremony at Parris Island, S.C., on July 25. Kodiak is a third-generation of Schlichers to graduate from Parris Island. His grandfather, Marvin Schlicher, graduated in 1967. His father, Michael Schlicher, in 1991. His three-month boot camp consisted of three phases of training. Ending his recruit training with the crucible, 54 hours of simulated combat training. After a short leave he went to Camp Lejeune, N.C., for future combat training. He will then be stationed at Pensacola, Fla., for aviation mechanic school. His family said they are extremely proud of him and wished him love and luck in the future with the Marines.

On-the-Go yummy eats

Healthy and filling ways to snack

RECIPE

For SST by Family Features

Hectic mornings, busy schedules and afternoon snack cravings can make it difficult to eat foods that are tasty, healthy and satisfying. Instead of grabbing a bag of packaged cookies or vending machine chips, have a healthy alternative available for you and your family that's delicious and satisfying.

"Better food options keep energy levels high in-between meals," said Nancy Siler, vice president of consumer affairs at Wilton. "By planning ahead with healthy snacks or mini meals, you'll have great choices available, even with a chaotic schedule."

familyfeatures.com

Try these tips from Wilton for healthier, tasty treats:

- Think Greek. With more protein and richness than other yogurt varieties, Greek yogurt can be used in many different ways. Try it in fruit dips or as an alternative for mayo or sour cream. You can even substitute it for some of the butter in baking recipes to reduce calories and fat.

- Make it fun. Let kids get creative by using cookie cutters on low-fat cheese slices and whole grain bread or tortillas to build their own snacks. Or, have them make funny faces using natural peanut butter, raisins and fruit, like sliced bananas, apples or pears.

- Sneak in veggies. Bakers are using veggies more than ever before in new, inspirational baked treats. Many vegetables have a natural sweetness, so your family won't taste the difference during snack time. Try sweet potato cupcakes or carrot and zucchini cookies.

Make this recipe for Squash and Banana Mini Muffins for a quick and healthy snack that's delicious whether after school or while at work. For more healthy recipes ideas, baking tips and inspiration, visit wilton.com.

Squash and Banana Mini Muffins

Makes about 48 mini muffins

- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup quick oats (uncooked)
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
- 1 1/4 cups thawed frozen pureed winter squash
- 3/4 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
- 3/4 cup mashed banana (about 2 medium bananas)
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons canola oil
- 1 cup dried cranberries

Preheat oven to 350°F. Prepare mini muffin pan with vegetable pan spray.

In large bowl, stir together flour, oats, baking soda, salt and pumpkin pie spice.

In medium bowl, whisk together squash, sugar, banana, egg and oil. Make a well in center of flour mixture; whisk in squash mixture until just combined. Stir in cranberries.

Fill cavities 2/3 full with batter. Bake 12-14 minutes or until toothpick inserted into center of muffin comes out clean.

Don't leave your participles hanging

GRAMMAR GUY

I heard a new accusation about Hoosiers recently: Apparently, we love our dangling participles. Furthermore, it's been alleged that our grammatical dalliances are infecting the rest of the country.

The nerve of the accusation, right?

While I'm confident my participles are firmly fixed and double-bolted to the correct nouns, I thought the subject of dangling participles was worth an article.

We've talked about participles before – a verb form which modifies nouns or noun phrases – so I won't go into too much background on them. Since the present participle of a verb always ends in "-ing," and the past tense can have a variety of endings, we'll focus on present participles. The rules are the same.

When used correctly, a participle or participle phrase acts as an adjective. For example: "Flipping through the magazine, I found an interesting article." The participle phrase tells us what the speaker was doing when he or she found the article.

Jordan Fischer
GRAMMAR GUY

When used incorrectly, participle phrases can create confusion, humorous or otherwise. In this case, they are said to be "dangling," as it is unclear what noun they are intended to modify. Here's an example: "Jumping over the fence, the cow looked at me strangely." While it's not unthinkable that the narrator is describing an acrobatic cow, it's more likely that he was talking about himself. However, the dangling participle makes this unclear. A more effective way of writing this sentence would be: "Jumping over the fence, I received a strange look from a cow."

Dangling participles can appear anywhere in a sentence. When they do, they're typically caused by a lack of attention to detail. The fix is simple: Move the participle so that confusion is alleviated. Often this can be accomplished by placing the participle as close as possible to its intended noun. Do this, and your participles should be dangle-free.

Oh, and watch out for jumping cows. They're a menace.

Jordan Fischer is a contributing columnist for The Southside Times. To ask Jordan a grammar question, write him at rj-fische@gmail.com.

Southport holds free community festival Aug. 5

Southport police officers were out on Aug. 5 manning a dunk tank, carnival-type games, a raffle, prize stations and more in celebration of National Night Out. Local business such as McDonald's, McAllisters, Papa John's, Target and more donated to the event. Southport Police Chief Thomas Vaughn said the police department plans to add to the event every year, making it a place community members can come, enjoy themselves while learning about neighborhood safety. "We want them to get to know the officers by first name," said Sgt. David Hodge. Children earned tickets by playing the carnival games with the officers during the event. For some of the children, it was the first time interacting with a police officer, such as Helly Maldonado who said, "It's pretty cool... I like to play cops and robbers. I like that (this event) is about the police. It's amazing."

Catholic Connection

Jean and Jim Milharcic find comfort in their 30 years worshiping at St. Mark Catholic Church

WHERE WE WORSHIP

Thirty years ago, when Jean and Jim Milharcic were looking for a school for her daughter, Jennifer, entering the third grade, the selection was critical. Having cerebral palsy, Jennifer needed a one-story building where she could enter more easily. Jean says they met with St. Mark Catholic School they knew it was perfect. They made the move from their Westside home and made St. Mark Catholic Church their home parish.

"Anymore today, you go where you feel closest to God," Jean said. "I can just be comfortable there. I think where you worship, you need to be comfortable."

Jean said they had moved away for approximately five years, but returned because of their connection to the parish.

"It doesn't matter whether you're Catholic or Jewish or Baptist or Methodist," Jean said. "You are just welcomed when you come. It's a beautiful place to be... It's for the whole neighborhood."

Here, Jean discusses more about the impact her church has made for her and her family.

What is it about your place of worship that helps you grow spiritually?

We're very Christ-centered and community-minded. As big as our church is, it's still a close-knit group of people and we grow together. It's neat to see the group of people growing.

St. Mark Catholic Church

Compiled by Nicole Davis

What is it about your place of worship that helps you feel connected to your spouse, children, parents or family?

It's that community-minded spirit. It's a comfort zone and your family is a comfort zone. We're connected because we're together.

What is one meaningful event that has taken place at your place of worship?

Nine or 10 years ago now, one of our women was searching for something for her child with Down syndrome. She found SPRED, a program sponsored by the Archdiocese for people with developmental disabilities. My daughter has cerebral palsy. We got that formed and started. I host (meetings) at my house. We are looking at what we can do to get more programs started. SPRED is for adults 22 and up and we all form a bond. It's a high-functioning group; all of them just have a developmental delay. I'm hoping to help them get a youth one started. That's the biggest event that was so good for us.

Why would you recommend your place of worship to someone?

We're very welcoming, open and a diverse community in this parish. I'm talking diverse from ability and disability, a large Hispanic group and a huge Burmese group. We have a pastor who's just a true Christian. Father Todd embodies everything that Jesus told us to do. He's always the same to everyone, every loyal, very caring. He's been a blessing to receive him for a priest.

FAITH DISPATCHES

■ 'Ministry Source' launched by Church of God

At the Church of God International General Assembly, General Overseer Mark Williams revealed a new "online toolbox" of ministry helps, which was developed through the supervision of the Office of Communications. The web-based catalog of resources aimed at maximizing ministry are: Leadership, family, media and music. Director of Church of God Communications, David Ray, said, "These resources include sermon outlines and worship graphics; tools for children's, youth, women's, and marriage ministries; social media and public relations resources; legal forms and other documents; video and audio libraries; and training and PowerPoint resources." To register, visit ministrysource.com.

■ Seven things to pray for

1. Pray for the harvest (Matt 9:37-38)
2. Pray for civic officials and leaders (1 Tim 2:1-2)
3. Pray that God may spread the Word (Col 4:3)
4. Pray for and forgive those who have mistreated you (Lk 6:28)
5. Pray that you may do no evil (2 Cor 13:7)
6. Pray that your love may abound toward all people (Phil 1:9)
7. Pray for your mind, body and spirit be preserved blameless (1 Thess 5:23)

United we stand... divided we fall

DEVOTIONAL

By Pastor Paul A. Kirby

"For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office: So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another." ~ Romans 12:4-5

One of the principal teachings of Christ and His church is that of the oneness of the body of Christ and those that compose that body. Paul explains in more than one place in more than one letter to more than one congregation of the church that we are one church and not many. Paul condemned the division that existed in Corinth among the brothers and sisters of the congregation located there.

Where does division come from? It originates in the heart and mind of the person who is unhappy being the church that Christ gave existence to from the Cross and who wants to remake the church over in their own image instead of His.

God wants us to be one in our faith and our practice of it. This can only be accomplished when we stop making ourselves the central and most important theme of our lives. Unity comes among the brothers and sisters of Christ only when Christ holds that place that most important to us and when He is the central figure of our lives.

Knowing that He was going to die the very next day, Jesus took time to pray. He prayed for the church. He prayed that the Father would keep them from the world and the world out of the church.

He prayed that the glory that rightfully belonged to Himself be restored to Himself and not just in heaven but in the church that He was leaving behind to live among those of the world here on this earth. He prayed not that God would take them from the world, but that He would keep them from the world. By this He meant that the church was to be an institution created by God. The doctrines, the teachings of Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit of Christ was to be the glue that held the church together and to keep it from being fragmented by human philosophies and dogmas. Jesus understood the importance of a unified church. Satan would use division as a way to weaken the church and to keep it anemic and powerless to make the difference in the world He intended for it to make.

Today, we have a deeply fragmented church. The church has a problem that only a mighty move of God can resolve. I know many Christians that are separated by nothing more than a denominational wall. They come together and celebrate the togetherness from time to time and say that they wish we could do this "togetherness" thing more often and even all of the time. But, alas, it does not happen because of their fear of losing fellowship with those they already know.

It is important to God that we be one in Christ. As one we have a greater collective power than we do in all of this division that exists today.

God bless and go and have a great day.

Paul A. Kirby is the pastor at the Church of God at 3939 S. Emerson Ave.
