Q: Why is Catholic education important to you?

"Because I felt it taught me more than reading, writing and arithmetic. It taught me about values beyond what you would typically get from a regular school environment. It taught us about God and different things that are important. That is why I went to Catholic grade school up through eighth grade."

Kathy Bultman of Center Grove

"It gives you a good structure in not only academics and extracurriculars but also in your faith. It is a place where you can go and ask questions which is especially valuable when growing up during those early stages of life when you are wondering. It was a good place to grow up with an abundant amount of resources at your disposal. I grew up in South Bend and I went to St. Matthews Cathedral School."

Connor Creevey, works in Beech Grove

"Just in the fundamentals of developing your faith, having resources to reach out to and ask questions to as a young person was a great thing. Also educationally, I went to both Catholic School and public school and the foundation for academics that they provided was a much better quality than what was provided at the public school system. I really credit that to them helping me get into college and everything. I went to St. Brendan's in Hilliard, Ohio."

Ryanne Ratliff, works in Beech Grove

"It was important to give me a basis of knowledge in my faith as a child. It was a more well rounded education my parents thought. They thought it was a better education than public school for us."

Emily Gettum of Center Grove

Breaking the cycle

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

By Rick Hinton

I find myself wondering, in the matter of ghost hunting, what it really is we're trying to accomplish. Are we not striving for something just out of reach? Will this uncertainty continue on and on? And, does this continue until we finally decide we've had enough, pack away our equipment and move on to healthier aspects of life? My wife Laura and I've thought about and discussed this for the past year. It's a legitimate realization. Have we been wasting our time?

Are there elements of the supernatural—beyond any realm of understanding—we try to piece together during our stroll through life as paranormal investigators? Yes, there are. Yet, do we fully grasp the implications? No, we do not, but like to tell ourselves we have. Theories are theories, and there's truckloads of them regarding ghosts, spiritual entities and things swirling just beneath the shadow of darkness. This only adds one piece to a larger puzzle, most likely not solved in our lifetime. The trek of a paranormal investigator is a road of uncertainty: no clear definition, and certainly no sense of resolution! I suppose it depends on how you look upon it, and your origin as a paranormal investigator...

If your paranormal education is the result of watching a season of television's Ghost Hunters then I suppose that is a start (many have done so), but at the same time not really realistic. Television is television—production and performance—and being so, is all based on a good chill and ratings. They HAVE to find ghosts or the show won't survive. For us common, non-celebrity investigators, this is not the real world.

Paying paranormal venues are big business! On any given weekend they rake in the cash. Some are legitimately haunted, while others are all hype. It's a good training ground for the new investigator, but after a while you need to examine where true priorities lie. If you are in it for just an adrenaline rush, then by all means, open your wallet and spend the early morning hours listening to your car tires hum along the interstate as you return home to collapse in your bed. The next day is usually a fog.

I did this for years. No more! I got out of it what I wanted for the experience. I no longer pay to investigate the paranormal.

Laura and I've been dormant in 2016 from the investigative cycle, choosing instead to recharge our batteries, regain a normal sleep cycle, and discussions of where we want to go with all of this. The talks still continue...

Rick Hinton, a Southport resident, loves researching things that go bump in the night. His articles can be read on Facebook: Rick Hinton, Southport Paranormal Examiner. Hinton conducts paranormal investigations with his team, South Central Paranormal.

'Boy, oh boy!' Longtime Southport Lion Thelma LeGrand celebrates her 100th birthday

By Nicole Davis

"Boy, oh boy," Thelma LeGrand exclaimed as the candles were being lit on her cake. She kept repeating her signature phrase throughout her 100th birthday celebration on Jan. 22.

Thelma LeGrand was born Jan. 24, 1917 in Brewster, Kan. She had two children, Pauline and the late Larry Ulrey, and has four grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

"I love every one of them," she said. "They're all worth it. They're worth a lot."

LeGrand moved to Indianapolis in the early 1940s. She worked at RCA, LS Ayers and then Eli Lilly for 32 years. She joined the Southport Lions Club in 1989 and continues to be a member.

"She was always ready, willing and able to help the club and the community," said Southport Lion Mike Ault. "There was a committee that needed somebody on it, she was always willing to participate if she could. She was ready to help, whether it was physical, financial or mental. This hopefully continues with the rest of us, that we can always be community minded."

LeGrand celebrated her birthday at ManorCare Health Services with family, friends and fellow Lions. Guests were asked to bring cards in lieu of gifts, as she loves to look at them.

Southport Police to add desk personnel

By Nicole Davis

As the Southport Police Department is planning to construct a new police station with government offices this year, it is also looking to expand its services to better serve the community and its different divisions.

The department is currently looking for candidates for the desk personnel positions. This is an all-volunteer position, for which the department currently has four people serving.

"We're asking people to be the front door eyes and ears when people come in," said Sgt. Danny Marlett, who is a sworn desk officer and coordinating the program. "We're looking for these people that want to serve their community. I always find that there are individuals that are not using all of their skill-sets. Some people who might be employed might have other skills they would like to utilize. This can be an avenue for people to do it."

The department has defined three types of desk positions to which interested candidates can apply. A lobby host will greet the public, complete employment fingerprinting and assist with administrative tasks. A public assistance officer will handle gun permit applications, fingerprinting, answer phone calls and take non-emergency reports. A sworn desk officer will handle tasks of the other two jobs, as well as station security and must have completed the ILEA 40-hour class.

"This is overall our desire to reach out and serve the public in a more progressive manner," Marlett said. "We'll have an introductory class for those people selected. We'll meet for two hours, one evening a week for four weeks. It's a review of Southport, the Southport Police Department, the different functions we have and what's expected of them to do."

That class is expected to take place in March. The department, at 6901 Derbyshire Rd., is taking applications now at apply.southportpolice.org.

Health and Wellness team takes on ambitious goals under SQL plan

By Marianne Coil

Action teams implementing the SoIndy Quality of Life (SQL) plan met Jan. 24 to kick off their 2017 programs. The Health and Wellness team could have the most ambitious set of goals, according to its chairman, Amie Wojtyna, assistant professor of Kinesiology at the University of Indianapolis.

Dr. Indra Frank

One of the team's four goals is to have a positive impact on environmental issues affecting Southside residents, and to do so, the team has found a partner in the Hoosier Environmental Council (HEC), she said. HEC will identify challenges in the SoIndy area.

The quality of soil and water will have a large influence on the community's ability to meet two other goals: To create healthier food options with locally grown produce, and to expand recreational space, Wojtyna said.

The team's liaison with HEC is Dr. Indra Frank, a board certified pathologist who specializes in environmental health. With the help of a graduate student, Frank has been compiling data from various sources such as the Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

So far, Frank has identified 75 sites classified by IDEM and the EPA as contaminated. These places include leaking underground storage tanks, landfills, hazardous waste sites, water discharge locations, and brownfields.

A brownfield is land that may have been contaminated during previous use for industrial purposes. To reclaim brownfields, the Southside would need to attract redevelopment investors, Frank said. The list of 75 sites includes four brownfields, she said.

Frank said that restoring abused properties will make the local economy more productive and improve neighborhood morale.

The HEC study is using funds from an Early Action grant from the SQL plan, she said. The inventory is growing, but Frank wants to present data this summer. Once done, Frank would like to "dig deeper into the potential for human exposure."

Wojtyna said her team will receive additional support from the Garfield Park Farmers Market, which will intensify efforts to educate SNAP recipients that they can use their benefits at the market May through October. SNAP is the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program for low-income people.

Recruiting more grocery stores for the USDA-declared food desert on the Southside is also a goal of the action team, she said.

The last of the team's four goals is to expand health-care options and to form a Southside advocacy group for health care. Wojtyna said UIndy has "great aspirations" to be a community anchor for health care, and that the school is exploring ways to make resources available to the public.

IN OUR SCHOOLS

Roncalli Students earn Scholastic Art Awards

Awards – For the first time in school history, Roncalli High School senior Cassidy Mattingly and junior Rachel Knierman have earned a Gold Key in the Scholastic Art Awards. Of the 2,800 entries from 54 counties, only 105 students earned a Gold Key. Their submissions will be judged nationally and winners will be recognized at the National Ceremony at Carnegie Hall in New York City. Sophomore Liam Wanner was the winner of a Silver Key for his entry and Knierman received Honorable Mention for another submission. All their artwork will be on public display at Clowes Hall from Feb. 1-26, with the Awards Ceremony on Feb. 26.

FROM THE EDITOR

Welcoming the warmer weather

We've been ready for January. We've braced for the cold. The Southside Times has cartoons in the stockpile representing snow, ice and frigid temps. Yet, we can't use them. The weather has been surprising so far in 2017. While the parts of the country have snowstorms, we get 60-plus degree temperatures.

Let's take advantage of the warmer than usual weather this January and get outdoors while you can. It's Indiana after all - who really knows what next week will hold?

Get out of the house and take a breath of fresh air. Take a visit to a Southside park. They're open year round. From Garfield Park in Indianapolis to Craig Park in Greenwood, there are some nice places for walking without venturing away from the Southside. Or venture a little farther - Southeastway Park and Eagle Creek are great for hiking with less than a half hour drive, depending on where you're coming from.

Don't like the outdoors? Our events calendar lists plenty of things to do. Or go shopping. The Southside Times always encourages people to shop local. Most seasonal places have closed, but one remains: stop by Adrian Orchards before it closes for the season in a couple of weeks!

However you spend your time, we hope your year has begun on a high note!

The Southside Times
welcomes letters to the editor in good taste.

All submissions are subject to editing.
Please send to news@ss-times.com.

All letters must be signed.
Please include a daytime phone number for verification purposes only.

STARS & STRIKES ON THE SOUTHSIDE

The Southside Times is all about people and our community. What do you like in your neighborhood? What don't you like? Who has done something nice, no matter how small and should be recognized? Email your "Stars and Strikes" to news@ss-times.com.

Strike: To the thief stealing UPS packages in the IMPD Southeast District. A security camera shows the person taking a package from a Southside porch in late December. Anyone with information should contact Detective Walker, Lloyd. Walker@indy.gov.

Stars: To Stacked Pickle in Southport for an upcoming fundraiser for the Southport Wildcards Wrestling Club on Monday, Jan. 30 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. A portion of each bill will go to the club.

READERS' WRITES

City of Southport councilors given unfounded allegations

Recently three city of Southport councilors were dishonored with unfounded allegations in a newspaper and on the internet. The issue was concerning the non-attendance to a Special City of Southport Council meeting. The Special Council meeting was very near the posted normal Council meeting. The purpose of the meeting was redundant approval of a municipal vehicle to be purchased and later outfitted as a City of Southport Police vehicle. There was no courtesy given to the three councilors as to their agreement to a Special Council meeting prior to the date set. One councilor was sick and I myself had then and still do have a bacterial infection. The other councilor works full time and has several small children and finds it difficult to find someone in short notice.

FINANCES

Having More Retirement Accounts is Not the Same as Having More Money.

When it comes to the number of retirement accounts you have, the saying "more is better" is not necessarily true. In fact, if you hold multiple accounts with various brokers, it can be difficult to keep track of your investments and to see if you're properly diversified.* At the very least, multiple accounts usually mean multiple fees.

Bringing your accounts to Edward Jones could help solve all that. Plus, one statement can make it easier to see if you're moving toward your goals.

*Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss.

To learn why consolidating your retirement accounts to Edward Jones makes sense, call your local financial advisor today.

AN OPTION

McDonald's Grand Mac and Mac Jr.

THE SCOOP:

On Jan. 18, the Southside McDonald's introduced two new takes on the classic Big Mac: The Grand Mac, which is larger than the regular Big Mac, and the Mac Jr., a smaller option. The Grand Mac, which comes in a box that reads “You’re gonna need two hands,” is a meal in itself with more cheese, more beef, more bread, and more Big Mac special sauce. The two beef patties weigh an average combined pound before cooking. The Mac Jr. is a single patty option with only two pieces of bread as opposed to a regular two patties separated by an extra bun in the middle. All three Macs have American cheese, lettuce, minced onions, tangy pickles, special Big Mac sauce and sesame seed buns. The new Macs are available for a limited time only. The regular Big Mac will continue to lead the menu as it has since it was introduced in 1968, according to a McDonald's release.

Another forgetful January release

MOVIE REVIEW

By Adam Staten

Some people and even a number of issues are so polarizing, so divisive that merely mentioning them can lead to elevated blood pressures and loud, heated discussions. In politics, the most obvious and polarizing name that comes to mind is our newly-inaugurated president, Donald Trump. In everything from sports to music and television, there are topics that evoke strong, passionate emotions. In the world of film, director M. Night Shyamalan is one of those polarizing figures; his films are either loved or hated. This weekend saw the release of his latest project.

Split is a dark, psychological thriller about the abduction of three teenage girls by a man with a number of personalities. As the film opens, the three adolescent females are attempting to leave a shopping mall when a stranger enters their vehicles and administers some type of spray, knocking out the girls. When the girls finally come to they are locked in a windowless room as they struggle to figure out where they are being held captive.

Over the course of their captivity and while trying to figure a way out, the girls meet a stern maintenance worker, a 50-year-old woman, a 9-year-old boy and a man who was abused by his mother as a child. Unfortunately, all of those extremely diverse personalities reside in one man. While all the personalities vary in their voice, mannerisms and dress, they all have one consistent warning: The Beast. The many different characters warn the girls that the beast is coming and that he isn't likely to be pleased with them.

James McAvoy, who plays the man with many personalities, is excellent. He switches from character to character, from accent to accent, often in the same scene, with remarkable ease and is unbelievably convincing. McAvoy's performance is definitely the highlight in this creepy, dark tale.

Like with most films, but certainly any M. Night Shyamalan film, the writing is where it either succeeds or fails. Unfortunately, it's the writing the once again does this one in. There are too many scenes of characters doing nothing more than talking, wasting the tension and suspense built up on several occasions. And the film is about a half hour too long.

Split is not the worst thing from Shyamalan. However, it repeatedly squanders opportunities to become more than just another forgetful film. 2.5 out of 5.

Stacked Pickle Southport celebrates one year

Anniversary - Last week former Colts great Gary Brackett celebrated one year of business for his Stacked Pickle restaurant on East Southport with the Southport Police officers, Southport city officials, staff and patrons.

Brackett, a former Colts linebacker who played in the NFL from 2003 to 2011, owns nine Stacked Pickle Restaurants including one on S.R. 135 in Greenwood. The restaurants are locally owned and operated, with family dining and a sports bar. Brackett signed autographs and met with customers during the evening which included a cake shaped like a pickle.

"It is really an opportunity for us to thank everyone who has supported us through the year and I hope we have many more to go," said Brackett who added that they are looking to grow the company outside of Indiana in the near future.

Southport General Manager Mike Earnest is a Beech Grove High School graduate and a veteran.

"We are having fun," he said. "We are getting the word out that we are here. Serving fresh food daily and making sure that we are really taking care of our guests."

St. Jude to recognize Sisters of Providence with Sister James Michael Kesterson at alumni event

By Nicole Davis

In the 32 years that Sister James Michael Kesterson served as its principal, St. Jude Catholic School went through many major renovations and all the while, enrollment remained steady.

Kesterson will accept a recognition on behalf of the Sisters of Providence of St. Mary of the Woods, from St. Jude at its second annual alumni event on Feb. 4. Through St. Jude's 59-year history, 51 Sisters of Providence have served at the school.

"It's mainly to recognize the fact that everything we have today is built on the shoulders of people who have gone before us," said Joe Shelburn, St. Jude principal. "We celebrate success today, but those that are here today can only take partial credit. We get so wrapped up in the now. When you have an event like this, it's an opportunity to take that step back and look back on the way it used to be."

Born in Indianapolis, Kesterson attended St. Roch Catholic School and graduated from St. John Academy.

As a Sister of Providence, Kesterson was serving as principal of Our Lady of the Greenwood Catholic School when she received a call from the pastor of St. Jude and informed of its principal's retirement. Upon receiving permission from St. Mary of the Woods to join the faculty, staff and parish of St. Jude, she transferred there in June 1978.

"It was a good beginning because it was a small school," she said. "You could see areas where it needed to be developed. It was an exciting time to be there for all of these changes they wanted to make and be a part of that."

The church constructed a new building, which allowed for the school to put in the cafeteria, science room, music room, art room and expand its teaching.

"I was part of the education board and parish council that helped develop and transform the building, for the school to enrich the educational system and the spiritual life for our church," Kesterson said. "We built a media center, computer lab and library which we didn't have. We opened morning and afternoon kindergarten. We added a lot of new things once we were able to expand. We did a lot of expanding."

Kesterson said she enjoyed having the principal's office on the main floor to be close to the students.

"One of the quotes our Sisters use a lot, that Saint Mother Theodore said is 'love the children first and then teach them'" Kesterson said. "That's what I try to do and what our Sisters try to do."

St. Jude received the U.S. Department of Education's National Blue Ribbon of Excellence award twice while Kesterson was principal. This award recognizes public and private schools based on academic excellence or their progress in closing achievement gaps.

"Not only me, but the students, parents and teachers worked very hard to receive that," she said. "We had to work together for that. I also had the opportunity to go out and do that with other schools."

The Department of Education asked Kesterson to visit schools in other states, which she said not only helped them, but St. Jude to enrich its programming.

Kesterson retired in 2010, having spent 60 years in education. Shelburn is the first layperson to serve as principal at St. Jude.

"When I first went there, we had five or six Sisters of Providence teaching in the school," Kesterson said. "Gradually that has decreased. I was the last one in the school and now there are no sisters there. I regret that very much. I would like to see a lot of Sisters in the school but we're just a community that is growing older. We are encouraging vocations into our community. We do have about eight coming, in which is great. We hope more young ladies will want to go into the religious life."

Kesterson said she will happily accept the recognition on behalf of the Sisters of Providence who have served at St. Jude. Shelburn said the Sisters, such as Kesterson, deserve to be recognize for the influence they had on the students.

"Dedicating their lives to serving Christ, that's a pretty powerful example when that person is the leader in a classroom," he said. "Sister James Michael was the principal for 32 years and was the principal when I was here. She was always a rock, very established, very comfortable in her faith and had a large part in creating the success that this school has experienced. She had her hands in developing this rich tradition that we all enjoy today. Being here 32 years, she was one of the key people... We want to recognize the significant role they all played in our history."

"One of the quotes our Sisters use a lot, that Saint Mother Theodore said is 'love the children first and then teach them.' That's what I try to do and what our Sisters try to do."

National Catholic Schools Week

Jan. 29 - Feb. 4, 2017

Catholic Schools Week, Jan. 29 to Feb. 4, is the annual celebration of Catholic education in the United States. In observance of the week, Catholic schools across the nation will celebrate with fun, themed days highlighting aspects of Catholic education, Masses, open houses and service projects.

This year's theme is "Catholic Schools: Communities in Faith, Knowledge and Service."

"I think Catholic Schools Week for our kids, our staff and our parents, is an opportunity to not only have the dress-up days and the activities to do, but also allows us to share our faith with others, that maybe we don't always get to," says Rusty Albertson, principal of St. Mark Catholic School. "Also during Catholic Schools Week, I think it's important for our kids to continue to learn about the Catholic faith and what it means, past the school setting, or what it means past their normal school career. We have a lot of fun things to do, but we also do Eucharistic adoration, an all-school rosary as well, to emphasize to that."

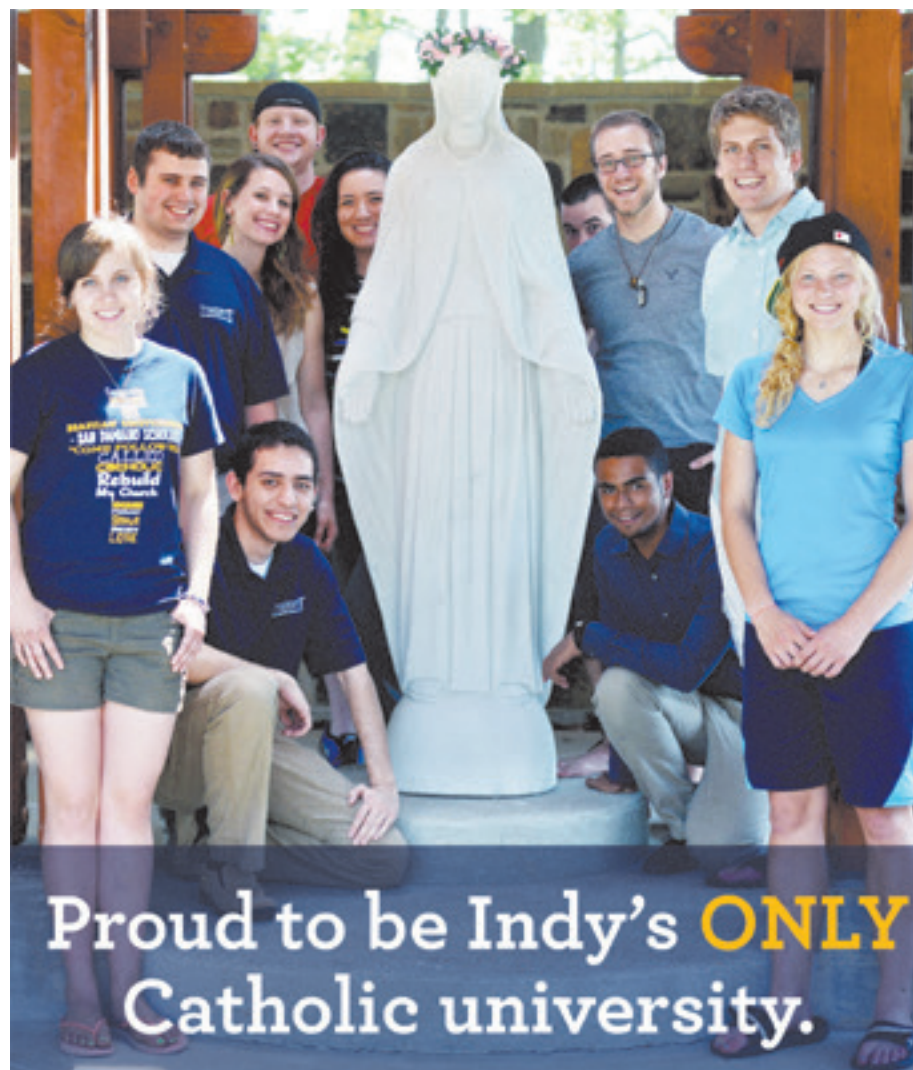

St. Mark was named the fastest-growing school in the Archdiocese last year, growing by 55 students, or 22 percent. Twenty-five percent of the school population is not Catholic, and the school population is diverse with 16 languages spoken.

To recognize the contributions that all of these schools bring to the community, this issue of The Southside Times highlights what is happening in schools that serve the area and how Catholic education is meaningful to its students.

Each Southside Catholic School will have a themed dress-up day, along with community service projects each day. The highlight of the week for many is a staff vs. students volleyball game to conclude the week.

"It's an opportunity to make a week stand out and be a little different but we also try to build in some of the important aspects of our faith," said Robert Kitchens, assistant principal of Central Catholic School. "It's little things that are fun to bring extra awareness to some of these things that we teach all year."

Holy Name Catholic School

Why I Love Holy Name

There are many reasons for why I love Holy Name Catholic School. Just like our beautiful school quilt says, "There's no place like Holy Name!"

First of all, and most importantly, we have a religion education. We are very fortunate to be able to go to Mass twice a week. We are all grateful to have Father Bob as our priest and Sr. Nicolette as our principal this year. Each day, they teach us and bring us closer to God. We are also glad to have Mrs. Newton, who teaches us more about God, and takes us to Adoration on Thursdays. In the morning, we pray the Hail Mary and say the Pledge of Allegiance, as well as the Holy Name Pledge. In the afternoon, we pray the Angelus. On Friday mornings, after announcements, we have a rosary winner. Someone from the school is picked and gets a rosary made by Sr. Nicolette.

Secondly, we have great teachers and students at Holy Name. Everyone is so friendly and kind. You can make plenty of friends here. At the end of the school year, we always have the Squirrely Awards for our teachers. Our own fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Johnson, won the Squirrely Award last year!

We have other annual events every year, as well. On the day before Thanksgiving, we have a Thanksgiving luncheon with our school families, which usually contains turkey, mashed potatoes, corn, green beans, a roll, and pie. After Thanksgiving, the Drama Club performs a play. Then, there is the Christmas Concert, which Miss Walsh runs. Drama Club, Jr does their play in March. At the end of the year, we have Field Day. That's one of the greatest events! We get to walk to Sarah T. Bolton Park and do fun activities. Afterwards, we go back to school and watch the 8th graders play kickball (usually we get a sweet treat to eat while we watch).

There are thousands of reasons why Holy Name is such a wonderful school. Go Giants!

Nativity Catholic School

Why I am thankful for my Catholic education

What does a Catholic school mean to me? A Catholic school means I can get three F's without getting into trouble. What are the three F's? It starts with Faith. At a Catholic school my faith continues to grow each day with the Lord! Having religion allows me spiritual growth. The 2nd F is Family. Going to a Catholic school we are one big family. Our family grows each year with new members that share in the same values. The last F is Friends. Having the same friends at a Catholic school allows a lifetime of memories. With the three F's at my Catholic school it sets my foundation for life.

Our Lady of the Greenwood Queen of the Holy Rosary

Catholic education has instilled faith, love, courage and strength

I am a student from Our Lady of the Greenwood Catholic School. I have been in the Catholic education system for my whole nine years of school. My education has taught me more than math and science; it has taught me the importance of faith, love, and respect. Catholic education is important to me. It allows me to grow in my faith and to love others.

Going to a Catholic school has helped me grow in my faith in many ways. It allows me to go to Mass on a weekday when I am not obligated. By doing this I have learned that going to Mass isn't just another part of our day, but it is something we should look forward to every week. Mass helps me to understand more about God and how to form a positive relationship with Him. Mass reminds me every week to put Jesus at the center of everything I do and to show kindness to others.

Another way that a Catholic education has helped me is it has given me the courage to bring my friends closer to God and enables me to talk to my friends about Him every day. I love that I get to pray everyday with my friends because it truly strengthens our friendship with not only God but with each other. God has definitely blessed me with my faith and taught me the importance of my Catholic education.

Roncalli High School The Life Prep School

Catholic education has challenged me to love, to serve and to grow

As I reflect on my prior years of education up until now, as a senior in high school, a major component in my academic and spiritual success is thanks to my Catholic education. Not only was I challenged to thrive in my studies, I was challenged to love, to serve, and to grow. The memories I gather from my time at St. Mark do not revolve around getting perfect grades or middle school squabbles. I remember going to soup kitchens, or being a sacristan. I can still remember washing the chalices after mass every Friday, and at the end of the job, the two other sacristans and I would slowly turn off the lights in the church and stand in awe of the beauty of our faith and the warm feeling of God's presence. Above everything else, I appreciate the love that was given to me by my teachers. Religion reached farther than just learning the Commandments and reading scripture. From art class to social studies, the love my teachers had for their students was evident. Catholic school has exposed me to diversity. Surrounded by classmates from all walks of life, we differed financially, racially, and religiously. I will always be thankful for these differences and how they helped me shape the way I see the world. I look back at my catholic school education with fondness and appreciation, and am excited to pursue a degree at a catholic school as well. I never thought this would be happening, but God has been working during my life, and I am at peace knowing the brightness of my future that is attributed to my past.

Roncalli has allowed for growth in faith and discovery

I have attended a Catholic school for the majority of my educational career, and I can positively say that it has impacted my life. By attending Roncalli for my High School years I have grown in more faith. Roncalli is a warm and welcoming place to everyone. There has not been a moment these past four years that I have said I do not like Roncalli. While, it may be required to attend religious classes all the information I have learned has been thoroughly explained. There are people who say they feel like their faith has been forced on them throughout their educational career, but for me Roncalli has allowed me to grow in my faith. It has made me discover myself and God.

Saint Barnabas Catholic School

Growing Mind, Heart and Spirit to become Leaders in the World

Values my Catholic School has taught me.

I walk into my school every day knowing that I am safe and cared for. At Saint Barnabas, I know how much my school looks out for every one of us: from the preschoolers, to me, a sixth grader, and all the way to our school leaders in eighth grade. Our school is a family where we are free to share our thoughts and listen as well.

where it is encouraged. As a school, we have service projects that allow us to help those who are less fortunate. In religion class, we have discussions that help us better understand our faith. We do service hours to help us grow as part of the church and the community.

Every day, I can look forward to coming to school. It is not just a place to learn; it's a place to grow. Through my education, I have the privilege of going to mass and sharing my love of God with my peers. Feeling one with God after receiving Him, makes me feel special in God's eyes. Joining my peers in song, in choir, is something I am excited to participate in every week. Sharing my joy at mass with my school community is one of the many great parts of a Catholic education.

Saints Francis & Clare Roman Catholic Church and School

Learning in an environment filled with open arms and God's love

My journey in Catholic education began 10 years ago when I was in pre-kindergarten at Saints Francis and Clare Catholic School. I have discerned that I am very privileged to be able to learn in an environment filled with open arms and God's love and guidance. As the years have gone by, through teachers and fellow class mates, I have learned necessary values to carry with me through high school and the rest of my life.

First and foremost, I have learned to always respect others around me as well as myself. Second of all, I learned later in my school career, to make sure when I am given an assignment, to always make sure it is done in God's name. Compassion for others is another important value instilled in me, mostly because having pity on one that has lost sight of God and giving them guidance to seek him is a very serious matter that can change someone's view of life. Next, being charitable has been a key value encouraged by my teachers and staff. From our Faith in Action days to our Adopt a Family at Christmas, I have been given many opportunities to share my time and talent with the those who need it. My Catholic school has exceptionally pushed me harder to no matter what, go the extra mile and go along with life having a positive mindset. Lastly, any school can teach the children to say "please" or "thank you," but my Catholic school has given me a sense of true appreciation. Being truly appreciative or grateful is knowing and definitely respecting the sacrifices that others make for me, which have sculpted me into the faith focused person I am today. I sincerely appreciate all of the trouble my parents go through to send me to my Catholic school.

If I had not gone to a Catholic school as positive and faith filled as mine, I do not believe I would be the same person I am today. I have always been taught, from day one, that making a mistake is not the end of the world because I will always have the support from teachers, parents, and God to learn from failures in order to make improved outcomes. Overall, my Catholic school has prepared me to keep God in my life through all the ups and downs and better myself to benefit the lives of others around me.

St. Jude Catholic School

A Nationally Recognized Blue Ribbon School of Excellence

What values has St. Jude taught you?

I have learned many values and lessons from going to a Catholic School. As a student, I have been taught to apply what we have learned to real life situations, through being a good leader, following in Jesus' footsteps, acting positively towards other, and much more.

Every year, a group of Roncalli high schoolers who are in the Promise to Keep program come to Saint Jude to talk to the middle schoolers about life situations that could happen to us. They encouraged my fellow classmates and I to stay connected with God because he will always be with us. The high schoolers helped us understand that we were all built in God's image and that we should respect ourselves and others.

Also, I learned to be a positive leader, and set a good example for all of the kids that look up to me as an eighth grader. As an eighth grader, I can show kids like my kindergarten buddy how positive actions lead to positive outcomes. Another way I can show the adults and children my ability to be a good role model would be in our families. There are students from each grade in my family, and I can display the way I try to be the best leader that I can be.

Being a positive person can also lead to great relationships with my fellow peers. If I act respectfully, kindly, and positively towards other, they will do the same back to me. Following in Jesus' footsteps along the way shows us how we should act. Our Faith in Action projects give all of the students, staff, and parents at Saint Jude ideas of how we act towards others and keeping the community a positive environment.

In conclusion, going to a Catholic School has provided me knowledge on being a good leader, following Jesus' footsteps, respecting others, and a lot more. It has helped me understand real life situations and how to react to them too. I have been influenced greatly, and I know that other Saint Jude students have been too.

Saint Mark Catholic School

Saint Mark teaches lessons that will carry on forever

When most people think of school they think of a place to learn, or someplace where you can't wait to hear the final bell. When I think of school I think of it as place to learn, but I also think of it as a second home. St. Mark has taught me so many great lessons that I will always remember. They taught me that everyone is equal no matter what race, gender, religion, etc., you are. They taught me that no matter what, God will always love you. Since kindergarten we are taught to always be kind to each other. Because of this, there is little to no arguments between students. I have also learned that we are so privileged to get to go to Mass twice a week! We shouldn't take that for granted because some schools either go once a week, once a month, or none at all. St. Mark also gives students so many great learning opportunities whether they are faster or slower learners. For example we have tutors and other teachers that can help you learn at your own pace. Since St. Mark is a smaller school, everyone knows everyone. Not only is it easy to learn people's names, it's easier to make friends. The greatest lesson that you can learn from school is acceptance. Learning to accept others, and to accept yourself can help you get so far in life. I think St. Mark has done a great job of that.

St. Roch Catholic School

Compassion spreads through Catholic education

I truly value my Catholic education. I have attended St. Roch Catholic School my entire life. My school, along with my parents, has taught me the Catholic values I will use my entire life. Through my education, I have been taught compassion, faithfulness, and love.

I believe compassion is easier for younger people. I witness this compassion in my classmates everyday at school. At St. Roch, we collect coats, hats, scarves, and gloves in the fall. For the holiday season, we bring in canned goods to donate to local food pantries. Shoes are brought in and line the long halls of the school. These are just a few of the many acts of compassion I have been a witness to. Every Tuesday during summer and on school breaks, my mom and I volunteer at the "Garden Door." We prepare sandwiches and organize clothing for those that come to the door in need. I feel gladness that I have the opportunity to help others.

Faith is a huge part of my life. I attend weekend mass with my family and with my classmates during the school week. I believe that our relationship with God is personal and gives us the courage and strength during the good and the difficult times. I feel prayer is extremely powerful. I know all families are facing some sort of challenge, for my family, faith and prayer has brought us through some very hard and scary days. Faith is important to have in your life, it will keep you the person God wants you to be.

I am grateful that I attend a Catholic school. The support and love I feel from my home family, and school family, continually help me achieve my best in what I hope to accomplish.

Southside seminarian

Roncalli graduate Liam Hosty shares about his decision to enter into the seminary

By Nicole Davis

Liam Hosty had a little fun for Catholic Schools Week in his senior year at Roncalli High School, choosing to dress up as a Roncalli chaplain during a spirit day where students were invited to dress as teachers and teachers to dress as students. All in good fun - although the idea to actually enter into the seminary and discern whether or not to enter into the priesthood was already in the back of his mind.

Hosty just finished his first semester at Bishop Simon Bruté College Seminary and Marian University.

"The Southside has a strong Catholic presence, education wise," Hosty said. "Also, a lot of people pray for vocations on the Southside and they're very supportive of the seminaries and the priests there. St. Barnabas, St. Roch and St. Mark have this coalition Monday nights to pray for vocations. I went to a couple of those. It was important to see there these people supporting vocations."

Hosty is the fourth of five children, coming from a large Catholic family. He started attending St. Barnabas Catholic School in first grade and is a Roncalli High School graduate. While there, he ran cross country and track from fourth through 12th grade.

As a St. Barnabas parishioner, he was involved in the youth ministry, went on two mission trips with the parish and attended the National Catholic Youth Conference twice.

Although he always desired to become a priest, it took awhile to decide to actually take the steps to enter into the seminary.

"I was afraid I wasn't going to be happy," he said. "I was afraid of not being able to date or to run in college or study what I want. The idea that the seminary would be boring. But it's been the opposite. This is the most amount of fun I've had in my life. I describe it as I moved in with 42 of my best friends."

It was a conversation with a priest which helped him to push his fears aside.

"It's always in the back of my mind for awhile," Hosty said. "The calling got stronger throughout high school as I was growing more in my faith. The final push was when I was talking to Father Ben Syberg who came to St. Barnabas my junior year. He said you can enroll outside the seminary, but when you get in the seminary, that's when you decide if God is calling you to be a priest or not."

Hosty still enjoys running, playing video games and hanging out with his friends. Being in the seminary has also given him many opportunities to grow in his faith and be active in the faith community. He traveled to New Jersey for Cardinal Joseph Tobin's installation on Jan. 6. He will participate in the March for Life on Jan. 27.

"I have all of these opportunities to grow and become the better man that God wants me to be," he said. "I'm hoping that I can grow in holiness as well."

Letter from Archdiocese

With over 2,200 public, private, and charter school options for elementary and high school students in Indiana, the task of choosing the right fit for one's child may seem like a daunting task. Sixty-nine Indiana options are Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Indianapolis, and though each serves its unique community in its own special ways, there are a few commonalities that all of our Catholic schools share. They are:

• Shared Mission & Catholic Identity –

We recognize that each person is made in the image and likeness of Christ. Our doors are open to all who desire a quality Catholic education regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, gender, and socio-economic status.

• Academic Excellence –

Our focus remains on the growth and achievement of every young person we serve. Recognizing parents as the first educators, we partner to help youth grow spiritually, socially, emotionally, intellectually, and physically. With ISTEP+ scores higher than state averages at every grade level and continued excellence illustrated by other measures of performance (such as IREAD, SAT, and ACT) our students are challenged and supported as we maximize their capacity in preparation for college, careers, and heaven.

• Quality Leadership/Governance –

We appreciate the value of local autonomy while having the broader support of our archdiocesan offices and network of Catholic schools. With lay leaders from the community serving on school boards and commissions in an advisory capacity, our school leaders are provided supports intended to directly impact youth in positive ways.

• Operational Vitality –

Given our commitment to excellence and rigor, our Catholic schools responsibly approach personnel, financial, and operational decisions in a way that puts children first and fortifies long-term viability for generations to come. Our cost per student, on average, is significantly lower than that of public and charter sectors, and our youth are the direct beneficiaries of the resources secured.

Wintertime 'D-fficiency'

NUTRITION

By Wendell Fowler

"The Sun, the hearth of affection and life, pours burning love on the delighted earth."

POET ARTHUR RIMBAUD

For thousands of millions of years, the sun has been the source of life. Earth's perfect ecosystem depends on the ultimate source of all kinds of energy. Without sunlight, most life on Earth would disappear. When winter is in full swing and the giant ball of unimaginable heat is low on the horizon, your levels may drop nearly 50 percent unless you supplement.

A 'D-fficiency' has been linked to certain cancers, osteoporosis, high blood pressure, diabetes, autoimmune conditions, and skin diseases mood disorders and is prevalent in autoimmune disease. (NIH) Feeling depressed, hopeless, anxious, weak, heavy, "leaden" feeling in the arms or legs, social withdrawal, oversleeping, loss of interest in activities you once enjoyed, appetite changes, craving carbs, weight gain, difficulty concentrating? S.A.D. (seasonal affective disorder) is biochemical in nature, created by the lack of sunshine. Flu, colds, congestion and aches? In winter your vitamin D level drops into the deficit zone, increasing immune system failure, just when you need it the most. Heavy alcohol consumption can also lead to a 'D-fficiency'.

The NIH explains to make vitamin D your skin needs adequate exposure to the sun.

Sunlight absorbed through skin is required for the Temple to manufacture the sunshine vitamin. Synthesizing enough is important for overall health because without it your temple couldn't sustain proper levels of calcium and phosphorus for healthy, strong bones and teeth. Seniors: vitamin D plays an important role in helping the temple absorb calcium.

Foods that contain vitamin D are rare. Where is D: mushrooms exposed to ultra-violet light, egg yolk, beef liver, oily fatty salmon, tuna fish, mackerel cod liver oil, fortified dairy, cereal, and OJ. It's next to impossible to get these amounts through food alone. Sandi and I use the 'under-the-tongue' liquid vitamin D.

The Archives of Internal Medicine report those with the lowest vitamin D levels have more than double the risk of dying from heart disease. Seniors who are "D-fficient" tend to have compromised immune function, according to The Endocrine Society's Journal of Clinical Endocrinology & Metabolism (JCEM).

Giving up on sunscreen or heading for the tanning beds? Some research says that as little as 10 minutes of fun in the sun is enough to let your skin do its vitamin D magic. In the summertime, that is. On the downside, too much sunlight can cause skin cancer (melanoma). In appropriate doses, make sun the center of your holy temple's solar system.

Weekly Devotion

20 Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

21 To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.

22 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

REVELATION 3:20-22

I love that Jesus finished His letters to the churches with these words. It means that He is open to take us back if we have strayed. I have always spoken of the Holy Spirit of Christ as being a "gentleman" though I know that He is no man in the flesh and blood sense. He is a man in His personality and He is gentle. He is as a man who is acting in behalf of the groom to the bride or, the bride to be. He stands at the door of our lives and He invites us to let the Son come in and if we will we will have a meal with Him. This is no ordinary meal, it is a feast of love.

There is not greater love than that of the Godhead for the saved and the unsaved alike. But, we must remember that these letters are written to what is supposed to be the church, the bride of Christ.

Having said that, there is a problem in their relationship. The bride of Christ has been distracted by another courter. He is luring her away from her intended Groom. He is promising her an easier life and a more luxurious one.

The bride has been distracted and now the Groom is at her door and says to her, "It is up to you. Will you let me come in? If you will we dine together and, oh, what a future I have planned for you." That is, to say the least, an attractive offer. My hope is that you will hear that knock at the door of your heart and will open and give Jesus Christ permission to enter in. That is the purpose of these Man-nas and, the only purpose.

God bless and go and have a great day.

Paul A. Kirby is the pastor at the Church of God at 3939 S. Emerson Ave.
