"In order for the community to grow, you have to be able to collaborate," said Erin Smith.

Since Smith moved to the Center Grove area in 2001, she has worked to do just that. The upcoming Pay It Forward Johnson County golf tournament on Sept. 11 at The Legends Gold Club is an example of just one of the ways she has worked to team up with community leaders and nonprofits to make her community a better place.

Smith said she and her husband, Trey, chose to live in Johnson County because the schools system in Center Grove was where they wanted their two sons, Bailey and Ben. She said the area appeared to provide a nice, comfortable lifestyle. In 2002 she started her at-home business, The Stitch Smith. She became actively involved in the Greater Greenwood Chamber of Commerce as a way to network. She became increasingly involved in her sons' school, helping them raise thousands of dollars. She then got involved with Habitat for Humanity and is on the executive committee of the Johnson County Community Foundation.

"I realized I enjoy helping great causes raise funds to implement the programs that it takes to increase the quality of life in our community," Smith said. "I think my most favorite part of what I do is bringing other like-minded folks together to tackle whatever that goal is. We work really hard but we have great fun, too. Most people know if they're working with me on a committee, we get stuff done. We have fun, but we work hard."

Smith partnered with Susan McCarty of Franklin Printing in 2011 and they merged to create Spotlight Strategies in Franklin, a business marketing solutions company. They now belong to both the Greenwood and Franklin chambers.

Four years ago, Pay It Forward Johnson County held its first event. The golf tournament began when current PGA president and owner of The Legends Golf Club in Franklin, Ted Bishop, came to Smith and a group of the event's founders.

"He said I know how to run the golf event but I don't know how to help all the people in the county," Smith said. "Together we came up with a neat plan that involves charities making an application that is very simple."

Twenty-nine nonprofits applied to receive the proceeds from this year's event. Pay It Forward held a chance drawing on July 24. The organizations came together to learn which three would benefit with a check from the golf tournament. Tara Treatment Center, Youth Connection and Johnson County Senior Services were chosen. If all of the nonprofits attend the golf tournament, another name will be selected.

"It's so neat to be around all these people who are so passionate about their little slice of what they do to move the community forward," Smith said. "The other great thing that gets me excited about this is a lot of times the nonprofits are so focused on what they're doing that sometimes they don't always come to the table with strong business skills. All the education we wind up providing when we have this event. We help them interact with all of these golfers coming through. We help them think of creative ways to get their message out. Think about your board. Are you missing any skill sets on your board? Maybe you'll find someone who's interested in what your organization is all about. All they have to do is meet one golfer that day that has a true passion for what that organization is all about and you'll have a donor for life. You have to network."

Pay It Forward Johnson County has raised $84,000 in three years. Smith says they hope to raise $30,000 this year, selling out at 54 foursomes, but they still need sponsors and golfers.

New this year, Pay It Forward will work with Aspire Johnson County, a grassroots community initiative to make Johnson County a better place to live, work and play. The group looks at economic development, quality of life issues and branding of the county.

"Knowing that I have this asset of Pay It Forward Johnson County, I went to the other founders and said I believe in this program so much, we should make them one of the major sponsors this year," Smith said. "If we put our efforts into supporting the big picture of what Johnson County can look like in the future, we will have exponentially grown these resources available to these nonprofits. This seemed to me to have an incredibly larger impact. Anytime I get involved with something, I'm looking at what kind of impact it are you going to have. If you are asking people to give up their time and talent, you want to be passionate about what you're doing but make sure you're making a difference."

Smith said she is looking forward to the event, an unforgettable experience for everyone involved. As the event grows, she said she will continue to search for the best way to give back to her community.

"I am able to do those things because of my business partner, Susan McCarty, and my family," Smith said. "I probably have taken my kids to and exposed them to a lot of opportunities. Without their support, I wouldn't be able to do as much as I do for my community. I know they're getting something from that, but I hope that's influence stays with them. It's not just a feel-good thing. I feel it's a sense of duty that we as good citizens give back."

Getting to know Erin Smith...

- I'm in a Bible study that I love. I'm the youngest by about 20 years. I wouldn't trade it for the world. The wisdom I get from that group has made a huge difference in my life.
- My husband, Trey, and I have been married for about 20 years.
- I don't like to lose. I'm fairly competitive.
- Over the last four to five years, faith has become so much more prominent in my life as far as making choices, making decisions. It's not something I discuss a lot, but I've also learned that you have to tell people that. Maybe that will help people also think about focusing on their faith.

Beech Grove city council to vote on proposed 2015 budget at a special Sept. 8 meeting

FEATURE

By Nicole Davis

While the city council prepares to vote on the proposed 2015 budget at special public meeting and budget hearing on Sept. 8, 7 p.m. at the city council chambers, Mayor Dennis Buckley and Clerk/Treasurer Dan McMillan say they feel the city is headed in the right direction.

"This budget, in our opinion, is really good," Buckley said. "We certainly hope the council will approve it."

This year's budget will be $817,000 more than last years. Included, full-time city employees will receive a cost of living adjustment, a raise of 2 percent. Retired city employees will receive a cost of living adjustment for a second year.

"We have not laid off one employee since we took office and that's something we're really proud of," McMillan said. "We're finally coming full circle and the employees raises are something we've really wanted to do since we've taken office. We've improved every building that the city owns. We've bought a new fire truck, an ambulance, the list goes on and on. Paving is something the citizens have really appreciated."

Many departments will receive new equipment, including four new police cars and $100,000 worth of computers for the police department, a car and a bus for the senior center, and new IT equipment for city hall. Currently, the city runs one ambulance 24 hours a day, seven days a week. A second ambulance runs at night, staffed by Franciscan St. Francis. Next year, Franciscan St. Francis will staff that ambulance 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The department also has civilian paramedics and firemen on the ambulance. At some point next year, the firemen come off the ambulance and Franciscan St. Francis will fill those positions so there will be more firemen on the fire truck, Buckley said.

"What we're trying to do, because there's only so much tax dollars, we're working smarter with our money, whether it be with grants or as far as the ambulance revenues being way up (collecting reimbursement money and additional revenue sources)," McMillan said. "We're trying to do this in every department because we don't have the tax dollars to work with. All the things we're doing, we're getting done with the same tax dollars. We're just trying figure our different ways to come up with money to fund each department."

Buckley and McMillan said they feel this budget will be approved, as three of the city council members served on a budget committee.

"We feel very confident that it's a very good budget," McMillan said. "Our financial advisor, Jeff Peters, has worked with us on this. He's looked at it and he feels it's a good budget... I think it's a good budget from the standpoint of all of the departments are getting more: additional equipment, additional manpower. There are a lot of good things. Is it where we want to be? Absolutely not. We'd like to have more. Realistically, we're way ahead. We've improved the service and that's what we need to keep doing."

What's included in Beech Grove's proposed 2015 budget?

- Two percent raise for all full-time city employees
- $26,787 for lease/purchase of four additional police cars for a total of eight
- $100,000 for police computers
- $28,500 for a patch machine
- $43,000 for sidewalks
- $510,000 for paving. In 2012 the budget was $205,000
- $15,000 for updated servers and IT equipment at city hall
- $40,000 for compliance officers
- $25,000 for cash purchase of a vehicle for the senior center
- $12,000 for lease/purchase of a bus for the senior center
- $20,000 for a part-time clerk in court, as requested by the judge

Burkhart book buddies improve reading skills

Every Friday at Burkhart Elementary School, fourth grade students in Mrs. Lindsay Mock's class visit their kindergarten buddies in Mrs. Kyle Rosebrough's room. The older students are in charge of selecting a book from the library that they think their book buddy will enjoy. They then read this book to their book buddies. This is a way for the fourth graders to work on their reading fluency and a great way for the kindergarten students to practice their listening and reading skills.

Roncalli High School senior Andrew Shuck is the newest member of the "Perfect Rebel" Club. Andrew scored a perfect score of 36 on the mathematics portion of the ACT. The "Perfect Rebel" Club recognizes Roncalli High School students who have scored a perfect score on the ACT (36) or the SAT (800). Andrew's accomplishment brings the total number of students admitted to the club since its inception in 2001 to 68. Andrew is the son of Suzanne and James Shuck, and he is a member of St. Jude Catholic Church.

Miracle Mile Parade recognized as a Southside tradition

Recognized as the "official" Labor Day tradition on Indianapolis' near Southside, the Miracle Mile Parade, which is an initiative of the Madison Avenue Economic Development Project, welcomed thousands of people who line the parade route and participate in the many planned activities. Roncalli High School's Marching Band and Student Council once again participated in the 2014 ABC Labor Day Miracle Mile Parade on Aug. 30. The Rebels have marched in every Miracle Mile Parade since it was re-launched nine years ago and were able to march this year in a prime spot - between the Indiana Pacers and Grand Marshal Brian Sanford, former Chief of the Indianapolis Fire Department.

OUR VIEW

September's got plenty to offer

In addition to the NFL season kickoff this weekend, there are numerous events worth checking out on the Southside. If you can break a few tackles away from the television or tailgate, the Garfield Neighborhood Association is hosting a block party Saturday, Sept. 6 from 4 to 7 p.m. at the intersection of Ringgold Avenue and Hervey Street.

This year, guests are welcome to bring "urban garden treasures" to either share or trade.

There will be a few provided goodies including hot dogs, buns, condiments, chips, drinks, paper plates, napkins and cups, but a grill will be available if you bring your own meats. Guests are asked only to bring either a dessert or side dish, lawn chairs and tables. (And your own adult beverage, of course!)

There will be bingo, games for kids, prizes and a dessert contest, all of which culminates in a free performance of "Camelot" put on by the Garfield Shakespeare Company at the Garfield Park Art Center from 8 to 10 p.m.

Another great event will be the buzz along the Cultural Trail for September's First Friday. Fountain Square will be host to some First Friday fanfare with the Indiana Love Show Friday, Sept. 5, featuring over 15 artists and designers' work for exhibition and purchase.

Events like these encourage community involvement; the better we get to know our neighbors, the safer our streets will be. And who doesn't like a good excuse to chow down on some hot dogs and support the arts?

Rockey's Road to the top

Remember the article we ran on our The Southside Times cover on July 31? Franklin Township native Valerie Rocky is competing on the dance competition television show, So You Think You Can Dance. We are thrilled to see that she has made not only the Top Ten which she was aiming for, but the Top Four. Since the final episode airs after we send this issue to print, but before it's distributed, we are still awaiting results of the winner. No matter the outcome, we are proud to have such a successful contestant from our Southside community. Congratulations, Valerie!

How can you help in developing the old Southside?

The Old Southside Neighborhood Association will meet Sept. 4, at Sacred Heart Parish Hall, 1125 South Meridian St. with the Fuller Center group (fullercenter.org) to discuss development on the old Southside.

"We've been working trying to get some development in the neighborhood," said John Sauter, who has helped to organize this event. "The Fuller Center is similar to the Habitat, though it has a different model. We approached them a couple of weeks ago after looking at some of their projects. This is a follow-up meeting to get to know their process, what they require from a commitment standpoint... We're going to use this to communicate. There is an awful lot going on that people may not be aware of. For instance, we have a community block grant we have put in for. We would like to get more support from these projects and commitment..."

Also expected to be in attendance will be many interested Southside groups: Paint the Town, Riley Area Development Corporation, Sacred Heart and St. Patrick's, Southside Catholic Business Professionals, Stadium Village, as well as city of Indianapolis officials. An over view of what has been going on in the way of development will also be given. Similar to Habitat for Humanity, according to information on its website, the Fuller Center for Housing is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization "that seeks to eradicate poverty housing by promoting partnerships with individuals and community groups to build and rehabilitate homes for people in need." We encourage you to attend if you can. Re-development of the old Southside is very exciting – and needed. For more information, contact John Sauter at Sauterindy@yahoo.com.

Recollections of Atterbury Job Corp haunts

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

Melinda Zell continues her recollections of the Atterbury Job Corps:

"Rosa Parks Dorm was haunted by a little girl that bounced a ball. She was always heard at night. There was also a blonde woman in a long, white gown. The dorm often smelled of cookies, and you would hear shoe heels on the tile floor."

"I became terrified of Belamy Hall. Walking past it one night, I glanced up into the windows and something was glaring back out, and not the Halloween decoration skeleton hanging from the inside of the windows. At that same moment

I had a memory that was not my own: It was what the medical hospital looked (like) in its prime. There was a wounded soldier in my vision (the face in the window), along with an old time nurse. I heard screaming in the distance and suddenly felt panic. My vision passed...I didn't see the man anymore. He had been replaced by the Halloween decoration."

Some of the students who attended the corps with Melinda weren't immune to the creep factor on the campus:

Christopher M Stanley—"...the fog that would roll over the dorms within minutes?"

Dawn Highley—"I remember in D wing at Rosa Parks when I saw a girl come out of one of the doors and she wore an old fashioned dress. Also, going to the dorms from work by Bellamy and Pat Hall, the fog was so thick and I thought I saw someone standing in the fog. Then I looked again and it wasn't there...."

Alisha Holman—"When I was in Rosa Parks I would hear heels going up and down the halls and smell cookies baking all the time. I would be walking in front of the building on the outside—when no one was around—I would see figures in the windows on the top floor."

Jonette Moore—"I remember the old hospital building. A bunch of us wanted to check it out, but before we went inside I saw a little girl pounding on the window."

David Fowler—"...I saw army men and nurses walking by the windows at night."

Melinda also adds—"One girl went into Bellamy Hall to disprove the ghost theory. What she experienced was so bad she refuses to speak of it. She never went near the building again!"

"I made friends that became like family because of the things experienced. It [the Job Corps Center] was where skeptics became believers."

Southside Art League celebrates 50 years, bringing the community together to create and appreciate artistic diversity.

COVER STORY

By Nicole Davis

Through its classes, galleries, exhibits and community involvement, the Southside Art League Inc. has promoted arts in the community for five decades now. As the organization prepares to celebrate its 50th anniversary, members also rejoice in the fact that it has continued to grow, gradually, through those years.

"It's just wonderful we're still active, vibrant, growing in our art," said Marge Dietel, gallery coordinator. "Our founder, Sally Kriner, her hope was that it would live for many years to come and we have. When Sally Kriner first started, she passed along the word and was amazed at the interest she saw. I think that's still true today."

SALI was organized in May, 1964 as a non-profit with 39 charter members. Today, the organization has nearly 200 members. Dietel said in the early days, members didn't have a set location to meet, so they held classes and gatherings in banks, churches, firehouses and people's homes. They purchased the property at 299 E. Broadway, Greenwood, in 1987. The building had previously been a mechanic's shop and needed a lot of work to transform it into the gallery and studio that exists today. The structure was also once a historic building: A hotel where people would come all the way from Chicago for the mineral water. The building burned in 1911 but the pump house, where art classes are now held, still remains.

"It's a wonderful campus, but we tend to be a secret from a lot of people," Dietel said.

Much has changed through the years, but a constant is the feeling people get from participation with SALI.

"I felt so welcomed by all the people; (David Tipton, former watercolor instructor) made it look so easy," said Beverly Mathis of her first impression of SALI in 1988. "I thought I would join. I felt this was a place I wanted to get active in my art again. The way you can network with other artists and if you have a question, there's always someone who can help you. These were the nicest people in the world. Artists are so generous because everyone wants to share what they know."

Classes at SALI are an example of those relationships. Walk into Ron Mack's oil painting class at the Southside Art League and see two rooms filled with painters, canvases half-painted with images that inspire each individual. Each student is working alone, but they're peers around them are willing to offer advice and encouragement if needed. Mack, the longest remaining active member and a past president, said he's always enjoyed teaching, especially at SALI.

"I come down here, I'm on my own," said Mack, Franklin Township resident. "Down here, I feel free to paint and to teach. I just enjoy it. It's close to me."

Members such as Dietel and Mathis, both Center Grove residents, said they were inspired to join the league because of the teachers.

"My husband and I had a business and I thought I'd wait until I retired," Dietel said. "Then I thought, I can make the time. I loved it. (Tipton) was a wonderful teacher. I loved the people. I loved the fact that I could do this. I got active and began to paint. I was thrilled."

Mathis began teaching watercolor classes after her teacher, Tipton, passed away in '96.

"I just get so excited when I see someone blossom into this wonderful artist," Mathis new Greenwood City Building. The paintings will hang for a year, which Dietel said they feel is also a good partnership with the city, showing its support of the arts. On Sept. 5, 6-8 p.m., SALI will have a reception for its 23rd Anniversary Competitive Membership Show, which will run through Sept. 30 at the Greenwood Public Library. The all-member reception is open to the public, as community participation is always encouraged.

"It promotes the arts, gives an outlet for artists," Dietel said. "Even if you're not an artist, it gives you an appreciation for art. We have many Southside artists that are exceptional. It's a community thing, not just a personal thing for artists."

Spreading arts through the community is a priority to SALI. Along with its two galleries in the studio, it also encourages relationships through the Art About Town program, where businesses can hang SALI members' work for a period of time, allowing the artist another platform to display their creations.

As SALI moves beyond its 50th year, Mathis and Dietel said they hope to see the organization remains as vibrant and self-sustainable as today, growing even more in its membership and event offerings.

"I hope it keeps going and gets stronger," Mathis said. "We have people that come along and want to teach. It takes an active board of directors. Ongoing, we hope this will continue for many, many years."

Sandy Perdue

Sandy Perdue, born in Beech Grove to Gordon Wesley Farmer and Theda (Sally) Ellen Farmer, died. Sandy attended Beech Grove High School. In 1962, at 19, she married Allan Vaughn Perdue after meeting him on a blind date six months before. That 52-year relationship created a strong family that included three children: Kathy (deceased in infancy), Beth Perdue Outland (and husband Noel), Greg Perdue (and Jennifer Wendell); grandson Isaac and an extended family of choice. Throughout her life, she opened her home and her heart to anyone (human or canine) need of a place to belong and someone to listen. Sandy was a water color artist and art teacher who taught those around her to see beauty in all things. She loved antiques, and the historic treasures from the favorite places she lived including Bowling Green, Kentucky and Rockport, Massachusetts. When rheumatoid arthritis limited her ability to practice her art, she found comfort, companionship and assistance with her dog Sophie who was a graduate of the Indiana Canine Assistance Network. Contribute may be made to the Indiana Canine Assistance Network to name a new assistance dog in Sandy's honor that will continue to provide comfort and support to others. Please direct your gifts to Indiana Canine Assistance Network (ICAN), 5610 Crawfordsville Rd., Suite 2102, Indianapolis, IN 46224 or online at icandog/donate. # The November Man... A bloodier, grittier Bond film

MOVIE REVIEW

Of all film franchises, it would be difficult to name one that has experienced more financial and critical success than the Bond films. One of the major reasons the films about the British spy who prefers his martinis shaken have been so successful is its unprecedented and unmatched longevity. The films string decades and decades with some of the biggest names in Hollywood taking their turn at the helm as the suave MI-6 operative. One actor who took over for a time as the Sir Ian Fleming created character was Pierce Brosnan. While Brosnan's latest film, The November Man, may not be a Bond film, the similarities are undeniable.

The November Man is the story of retired CIA operative Peter Devereaux who, as luck would have it, is called back into action. Devereaux, The November Man because "after he passes through nothing survives," is pitted against his best friend and former CIA pupil. As the film progresses, Devereaux uncovers a decades-old conspiracy and finds himself on the other side of the CIA and the newly elected Russian president.

As far as the story and overall plot is concerned, it's very similar to something you would find in a Bond, Jason Bourne, or any other spy/thriller/action flick. The story does go along pretty much as you expect, hitting every single mark as a film from of this genre normally does. The twists are fairly predictable with the possible exception of one or two.

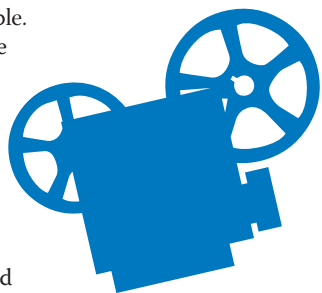

The acting, while not horrible, will not garner any Oscar nominations either. With the only exception being Brosnan, everyone else on screen has multiple occasions where they either overact or recite their lines with little to no personality. Luckily, these instances are few and far between. Brosnan's charisma and screen presence are enough to keep you interested and more than makes up for any shortcomings of the rest of the cast.

The November Man is a film with a solid story, a proven lead that shows he still has what it takes to handle an action film, and enough up-close, hand-to-hand, bloody violence to satisfy every action film aficionado. It's not the best thing to come out this year, but it's still a great time at the theater. The November Man may have arrived a couple months too soon, but this is one arrival you won't have a problem with it being a tad bit early. A 3.5 out of 5.

NUTRITION

Oh, What a tangled web we weave -When first we practice to deceive!

With so much misinformation about our favorite foods and how they affect human health, making healthy food choices can be a mind-bender. If you knew eating something would make you ill, of course your survival instincts would kick in and you wouldn't eat it.

When you know the truth, I can't imagine you'd deliberately eat foods that science claims cause human disease. Or, would you put your hands over your ears and blurt, "Well, I gotta die from something?" Hopefully you've transcended this self-abusive mindset and made the rock-solid connection between a poor diet and disease?

First and foremost, I'm convinced when you feed the holy temple heavenly building blocks of cellular health: real, unaltered food, you're giving the self-healing temple its best chance to defend, manage and even cure some disease.

Everyone on earth is subject to disease. The questions are: do you feed disease, put out the welcome mat, and make it comfy and well fed? Or, do you starve it and make your temple an inhospitable host? It's a conscious choice you must make daily; fight the self-abusive urge to eat nutritionally bogus foods that do not service your greater good. Your temple is a perishable item. Treat it accordingly.

There are a plethora of specific manmade foods you will want to avoid because they provide virtually no health benefits while posing plenty of health risks. Together, let's connect the dots.

You may think you're eating real crab in crab sticks in your sushi roll, but the name is fraudulent. Highly processed crab sticks are cheap, pulverized, low-grade white fish flesh concocted with crab flavoring, usually egg whites, oils, salt, MSG, starches and gums, to recreate the expected mouth feel.

Easy 'aerosol' Cheese in a can was created for very lazy people who like cheese but can't be bothered to get a cheese knife. Pressurized in a can, 'spray cheese' suspiciously does not require refrigeration. Easy Cheese contains whey protein concentrate, canola oil, milk protein concentrate, sodium citrate, sodium phosphate, calcium phosphate, lactic acid, sorbic acid, sodium alginate, apocarotenal, annatto, cheese culture and enzymes. I'm encouraging you to cut the cheese.

Tang 'Fruit' Drink has darkened Americans' breakfast since the late 1950s. It was used by early NASA astronauts and was marketed as an astronauts drink. You're mistaken, however, if you trusted Tang to be related to fruit juice. Buzz! Wrong! There's precious little orange in the engineered drink. Its label says Tang contains sugar, less than 2 percent of orange juice solids, artificial colors and additives. Most of Tang's flavor comes from "natural and artificial flavor." You'd better off eating a real orange. Be honest with yourself about the reality of what you eat.

Southport H.S. students study abroad through IU Honors Program

By Gabby Ricketts, Jacob King, Morgan Gadiant, Zakary Brite, Alexa VanBaale, SHS studnets

This past summer, Jensen Smith, Micah Harvey-King, Caeli Malloy, and Katie Hinh participated in the IU Honors Program and traveled to four different places around the world. Current seniors Jensen Smith and Micah Harvey-King went to Spain over the summer. Graduates Caeli Malloy went to Mexico, and Katie Hinh went to China. "It was literally a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," Smith said. "After that experience I'd like to travel more." IU Honors Program is an academic journey to travel abroad for students longing for a unique and fulfilling experience to grow in their second languages. According to iu.edu, the program provides a host family which allows students to venture into a whole new culture different from their own. Not only do students gain knowledge of their host countries, but they advance in their secondary languages. Each student was assigned to a host family to help them survive the summer, and they all agreed that by the end of the trip they felt like family. "My host family was very helpful and understanding. They really contributed in making my experience worthwhile," Malloy said. During their travels, the students faced a few challenges, like not being able to speak their native language for a whole summer.

"It was difficult at first, but after a week or so, it just became natural," Harvey-King said. Smith embraced the challenge of not being able to speak English head on and needless to say, he came out on top. "I found that when you're trying to speak a second language you're not familiar with you can never get bored, and it's literally the coolest thing ever. I could sit and talk to a wall for an hour and have the time of my life. Honestly it was fun trying to speak Spanish all the time. The real challenge was trying to switch back to English when I came back," Smith said.

Learn how Center Grove is developing knowledgeable, confident and responsible citizens

Letter from the Superintendent

This is an exciting year at Center Grove. We have added and expanded several academic programs, including World Language in grades 3-8 and Honors Science in our middle school. We are in the midst of our $42 million dollar Safety, Security, and Stewardship construction project. And we are preparing for our next round of strategic planning, which will set our goals for the next 3-5 years. If you are a resident of White River Township, I encourage you to read more about our strategic plan and the CG100 advisory group we are forming to help us determine our priorities.

In the coming weeks, we will use this space to share updates on these projects, plus we'll showcase some of the students, teachers, and staff members who help make Center Grove a world class school corporation. Thank you for taking the

Center Grove High School Hosts Students from China

Center Grove High School (CGHS) hosted twelve students from Hangzhou, Zhejiang (HONG-jo, ja-JANG) Province in China on August 22, 2014. The Chinese students are in the United States to visit Richmond High School, which has a partnership with their high school. Hangzhou is a city of 7 million people, located about two hours south of Shanghai, China.

The students toured the high school in groups led by CGHS students. The students also ate lunch together. Some of the Hangzhou students said they were impressed by the computers and other technology they saw on the tour. Most of the schools in China are not as well-equipped, nor do they have a 1:1 technology program.

"This is a great opportunity for our students to engage with another culture on a more global level," said Dr. Rich Arkanoff, superintendent. "Our students benefited as much as their students, if not more, from the opportunity to see their school through the eyes of their guests."

CUSTODIAN OF THE YEAR FOR PERRY TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

“We have a job to do and we love it!”

Ever since I was a little girl, I loved to clean! I couldn't wait to visit my grandpa because he had “Pledge” (my mom used Endust). He would let me dust, dust, dust! He would also assist me vacuuming using his heavy Kirby sweeper! I like things clean and organized! I learned how to make a perfect bed. One of my mottos is NEVER sit on a bed after it has been made because it will leave wrinkles and creases! As an adult, I continue to take pleasure in scrubbing, washing and cleaning. These tasks are a stress reliever for me!

As for my responsibilities at school, I arrive at SA at 4:30 a.m. I'm a morning person. I like the quiet time to prepare and organize my day before email, staff and students begin arriving. It's nice to come to work where I feel respected. I often hear, “Everything looks so great!” They're my “family”, too!

Every day is a little different; typically I repair lockers, change locker combinations when needed, change out signs and emergency lights, clean up after student accidents... I spend a lot of time in the gym and cafeteria.

Being around the students is one of the best parts about my job. I love helping them and making them feel welcome and safe during the beginning of the year when they are scared and lost. I have also been lucky to be able to work with a couple of kids from the CIP classroom. Last year I became very close to one particular student and was able to treat her to a birthday party. After school we went and had manicures!

I work with a great team! The school always looks great because the night crew of Tamara Lynn, Ellen Hitchel and Karen Macintosh does an amazing job. We have a job to do and we love it!

People often ask me what we do during the summer—everything in the school gets cleaned from the carpet, walls, and lockers. All furniture is deep cleaned. Walls are painted, floors are stripped and waxed.

The balanced calendar has presented a challenge as we now have less time during the summer break to get everything done without cutting corners. For example, we now do window cleaning over fall break instead of during the summer.

I would like to acknowledge Nancy Meyer-Brown and Kimberly Campbell for teaching me great leadership skills. I have been so lucky in my career to work with such strong female principals that have taught me how to really take great pride in your job no matter what it is!

Sarah Anderson

Sarah
Anderson

Mrs. Sarah Anderson is the 2013-14 Custodian of the Year for Perry Township Schools.

She grew up in Perry Township and attended Douglas MacArthur Elementary School, Perry Meridian Middle School and graduated from Perry Meridian High School. Her father, Mr. Harrold Scalf, is a retiree of the district, having served as the Director of Transportation for many years.

For the past 21 years, she has served the district as a custodian at Winchester Village, Burkhart and Southport 6th Grade Academy. She is part of the original staff who opened SA in 2004, where she is the head custodian.

She has been married to her high school sweetheart, Aaron, for 21 years. They are proud of their 3 children: Kristin (Southport 6th Grade Academy teacher), Nichole (Southport 6th Grade Academy café staff member) and Samuel (a junior at Center Grove High School). They are also delighted to have 1 grandchild, Joseph, who is 2 ½ years old. Also part of her family are Bella and Mabel, their two dogs.

Outside of school, Sarah continues to follow her passion for cleaning and keeps the Bargersville Utility Company spotless. She enjoys spending time with her family and eating out, especially Italian food! Every summer her family travels to Little Bass Lake in Minnesota and celebrates Thanksgiving in a non-traditional way—at Disney World. She is an ardent fan of the Magic Kingdom!

Kim Campbell, Principal of Southport 6th Grade Academy says, “I have been principal of this building since it's opening and it looks as good today as it did when it opened in 2004. That is due to the hard work of Sarah and her crew. When people set foot into our building they always compliment on the cleanliness and how beautiful it is. Many times they cannot believe it is 10 years old.”

CUSTODIAL SERVICES IN PERRY TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

In Perry Township Schools, 94 full time custodians and 25 substitute custodians are charged with maintaining the attractive, sanitary, safe facilities for students, staff, and community members. They also provide equipment and furniture arrangements for meetings, classroom activities, and school/district events. In total, there are 2.5 million square feet to keep clean in the district's 19 buildings—that's a lot of space! This group performs other related duties, as assigned, for the purpose of ensuring the efficient, effective functioning of the school.

Mr. Thomas Warner oversees the department as the Assistant Director of Facilities.

Family dentistry undergoes transition

After practicing for 50 years, A.C. Melloh D.D.S., has announced a transition to part-time status, as well as a successor, Seth Hall D.D.S. Dr. Hall is originally from Mitchell, Ind., and completed his undergraduate at the University of Evansville before receiving his doctorate of dental science from the Indiana School of Dentistry in 2010. Subsequently, Dr. Hall served as a dentist in the U.S. Army for four years and served more than five months in Afghanistan during Operation Enduring Freedom. In a statement, A.C. Melloh D.D.S. said in regards to the changes, "What will not change is the quality of care you receive. The practice will continue to provide you with the same gentle, friendly, exceptional dental care you have grown accustomed to and deserve." The dentistry has been renamed Hall Family Dentistry and the location will remain the same at 7101 Southeastern Ave., Indianapolis. For more information or questions about the transition, call (317) 356-0919 or visit mellohdds.com.

Bring gluten-free brookies to back-to-school events

RECIPE

For SST by Family Features

The end of summer marks the beginning of the busy back-to-school season. From PTA meetings and fundraisers to team parties, there are lots of gatherings that require delicious baked goods. To make sure everyone who attends can enjoy the treats, try the gluten-free Brookie. It's a creative combination of two favorites: half chocolate chip cookie, half brownie, perfect for all tastes and dietary preferences.

"These recipes are so good, guests won't believe they're gluten-free," said Mary Beth Harrington of the McCormick Kitchens. "And, you don't have to sacrifice flavor because all our extracts are gluten-free – so feel free to add a splash of raspberry, peppermint or orange extract to the batter."

For recipes and more gluten-free baking ideas, visit McCormick.com, Pinterest.com/McCormickSpice or Facebook.com/McCormickSpice.

Gluten-Free Brookies

Servings: 5 dozen

Brownie batter

- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 3/4 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1/2 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 cup sorghum flour
- 2 tablespoons tapioca flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon xanthan gum
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup (2 sticks) butter
- 4 eggs
- 1 tablespoon McCormick Pure Vanilla Extract

Cookie dough

- 1 3/4 cups cornstarch
- 1 1/2 cups sorghum flour
- 1/4 cup tapioca flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons xanthan gum
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/3 cups butter, softened
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 3 eggs
- 4 tablespoon McCormick Pure Vanilla Extract
- package (12 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate chips

1. Preheat oven to 375°F. For brownie batter, mix granulated sugar and cocoa powder in large bowl. Set aside. Mix cornstarch, sorghum flour, tapioca flour, baking powder, xanthan gum and salt in medium bowl. Set aside. Microwave butter in large microwavable bowl on HIGH 2 minutes or until melted. Stir in cocoa mixture until well blended. Add eggs and vanilla; mix well. Gradually stir in flour mixture until well blended. Set aside.

2. For cookie dough, mix cornstarch, sorghum flour, tapioca flour, xanthan gum, baking soda and salt in medium bowl. Set aside. Beat butter and sugars in large bowl with electric mixer on medium speed until light and fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla; mix well. Gradually beat in flour mixture on low speed until well mixed. Stir in chocolate chips.

3. Drop brownie batter by scant tablespoons about 2 inches apart onto ungreased baking sheets. Top each with rounded tablespoon of cookie dough, placing it slightly to the side of instead of directly on top of brownie.

4. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until cookie is lightly browned and brownie is set. Cool on baking sheets 1 minute. Remove to wire racks; cool completely.

Read labels of all recipe ingredients to ensure all are gluten-free.

Flavor Variations: Substitute any of the following flavor extracts for the vanilla extract in the Brownie Batter. Prepare cookie dough as directed.

Gluten-Free Raspberry Brookies: 1 tablespoon McCormick Raspberry Extract

Gluten-Free Peppermint Brookies: 1/2 teaspoon McCormick Pure Peppermint Extract

Gluten-Free Orange Brookies: 1/2 teaspoon McCormick Pure Orange Extract

Gluten-Free Almond Brookies: 1/2 teaspoon McCormick Pure Almond Extract

Grammar mix-up in the key of 'D'

GRAMMAR GUY

Do you know the difference between "discreet" and "discrete?" What about "defuse" and "diffuse?" "Dual" and "duel?" Hopefully after today, the answer to all three questions will be a resounding, "Yes!"

Let's start with last things first today and talk about "dual" and "duel" – two words I see mixed-up on a regular basis.

Now, I think you know this: "Dual" means having two parts, while "duel" means a fight or contest between two people. Why do people mix them up? I'm not sure, but people apparently can't tell the difference between Matt Damon and Mark Wahlberg, too. (Marky Mark led the Funky Bunch! Come on guys!)

Jordan Fischer
GRAMMAR GUY

"...but is figuratively used to mean reducing the danger or tension from a situation."

Our other two mix-ups make more sense to me. Let's talk about "discreet" and "discrete" first.

Someone who is "discreet" is careful not to attract attention. You might discreetly slip a Valentine's Card into your high school crush's locker (or text them anonymously ... I'm not sure what the kids do these days). "Discrete" on the other hand, means "individually separate and distinct."

With "defuse" and "diffuse," I see how some confusion could occur. "Defuse" literally means to remove a fuse from an explosive, but is figuratively used to mean reducing the danger or tension from a situation. "Diffuse" means to spread out or disperse. Based on those definitions, you might think "diffusing the hostility in a room" would be an appropriate use of "diffuse," but it's not. When you use "diffuse," think of particles, like a cloud of dust diffusing into the air.

Look at that: Six definitions in 300 words or less. Can't beat the bang for the buck on that, huh?

Kiwanis concession stand to open at Baxter YMCA

The Kiwanis Club of Perry Township will open its concession stand on Sept. 6 to serve youngsters participating in the Baxter YMCA fall soccer leagues and their families. The leagues run for seven weeks. "There are over 300 kids who will play each Saturday," said event coordinator Scott Splichal. "This is our 12th year of staffing this valuable project. We have come a long way and have many people who look forward to us being there to support their kids." Splichal also serves on the club's board of directors. He added that the Kiwanis club is grateful to the Baxter YMCA for making its facilities available to us for the concession stand, which he referred to as a "win-win" activity for both organizations. Those visiting the concession stand may select from a variety of healthful items, including fresh fruit, low-calorie soft drinks, bottled water, and low-sugar packaged snacks. Proceeds from these sales are used to support a variety of community programs, including college scholarships, Riley Hospital for Children, RISE Learning Center, Perry Senior Citizens, the Hunger Inc. food bank, and others. For information about the club, visit kiwanisperrytownship.org or its Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn pages.

Lois and Bob Kappau spend four to five days a week at St. Mark Catholic Church

WHERE WE WORSHIP

When Lois and Bob Kappau began attending St. Mark Catholic Church 43 years ago, they chose the church because it was closest to their home. Traditionally, families were supposed to attend the parish in their district. When the couple married, they attended St. Barnabas. Now, the Kappaus say they can't imagine not going to St. Mark.

"It just feels like home," Lois said. "The people are what make the parish. For me, that's why I couldn't go anywhere else."

The couple attends service at St. Mark four to five times a week.

"Church is a vital part of our life," Bob said. "When we travel, we will find a parish to attend on the weekend. God gives you so much; spending an extra hour with Him (is worth the time)."

The Kappaus said they believe St. Mark to have the best choir around, and an excellent priest in Father Todd Riebe.

Here, learn more about the Kappaus' experience at St. Mark Catholic Church.

What is it about your place of worship that helps you grow spiritually?

"Since I've been retired, since he's been retired, we go to weekly mass. Primarily that is with other people that are retired because other people are at work. You get to know those people really well." - Lois

What is it about your place of worship that helps you feel connected to your spouse, children, parents or family?

"When we first got married, we've been married 45 years, we said on our wedding

night that it's he and I and God together. That's always been a central part of our relationship. Our whole backgrounds were very religious, very similar. We both went to Catholic colleges, met at a Catholic alumni club. So there's never been a separation of faith and our family. We have three daughters that are married now. We tried to live what we believed. I can't really imagine life without that grounding of my faith. We can look and see we've gotten so much back from God than we've given. That's why it's always been an integral part of our marriage." - Lois

What is one meaningful event that has taken place at your place of worship?

"Five years ago, a group took a liturgy to Illinois and brought back a display called the Real Presence. They're slides of posters around the world. We went to get this display and put it up for people we believe in the real presence of God for the Host." - Bob

"It's places where people have failed to believe. They're miracles that have happened, Eucharistic. It's a display of miracles that happened throughout history relating to the Book." - Lois

Why would you recommend your place of worship to someone?

"We've had some very wonderful priests. Father Todd happens to be phenomenal. There are a lot of ministries that go on in our church. I'm involved in one that goes downtown and feeds the homeless under the bridges and such. I'm tired at the end of the day, but Jesus said there will always be the poor among us. It's worth it. There's a youth choir, hand bell choir, men's choir. There are so many groups. We're becoming a very multicultural church. The school is a wonderful school. You just see a lot of really interesting new projects that are constantly happening." - Lois

"One of the things I like about our church, we're small but we've had issues among our pastors - not bad. One died, another had to leave. But people in the church kept the church going. The parish stayed a parish. When Father Todd came, we had a viable church. It's not a huge parish, but it's a nice, welcoming parish." - Bob

Being tempted and your tolerance level

DEVOTIONAL

By Pastor Paul A. Kirby

"And the Lord said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth evil? And still he holdeth fast his integrity, although thou movedst me against him, to destroy him without cause. And Satan answered the Lord, and said, Skin for skin, yea, all that a man hath will he give for his life. But put forth thine hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse thee to thy face. And the Lord said unto Satan, Behold, he is in thine hand; but save his life."

~ Job 2:3-6

Is it true? What Satan said to God, is it true? God once again calls Job to Satan's attention because God has great confidence in Job. He says of him, "There is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that fears God and avoids evil, and still he holds fast his integrity even though you moved Me against him, to destroy him without cause."

I wonder if God sees me or you the same way that He saw Job? Do we give God reason to believe that at least one or two members of the race of humans that He created have full confidence in Him?

I believe I can answer that question with at least some certainty. There are people of such faith in God that they are willing to accept all the pain of any loss in order to remain faithful to God. These people do not take their relationship with God lightly but they give it the highest priority of their lives. God has raised up an entire community of "Jobs" who can and do suffer the loss of all that they hold dear in this life and yet do not waiver in their faith in God. These people are not so much admired by the world, but they do have the attention of God.

"No temptation has overtaken you except what is common to mankind. And God is faithful; he will not let you be tempted beyond what you can bear. But when you are tempted, he will also provide a way out so that you can endure it."

~ I Corinthians 10:13

Satan is a liar, a thief, a destroyed and, yes, a murderer. He has been that from the beginning. You will note not before the beginning but from the beginning. He wants us to believe that he has more power than he actually does have but you will note in this passage that he has to have permission from God to put Job to the test and never does he act beyond the limits that God places upon him. Whatever comes your way in testing and temptation today, remember God will not allow it to go beyond that which we can tolerate. Whatever it is, it is because God knows our limits and he limits Satan to that limit and not one step beyond it.

Job trusted God and for a very good reason. We will see that in the remainder of the book of Job. We will see it personally as we live out the rest of our lives in faith in Job's God for He is our God as well.

God bless and go and have a great day.
