Vino Villa, Greenwood

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

By Rick Hinton

I had driven by the home on 200 N. Madison Ave. many times, always on the way to somewhere else. The summer months found large groups of people on the outside patio, smiling and seemingly oblivious to the traffic rolling past. Finally my wife and I made a point to stop, park and go inside. I'm glad we did. The house has always intrigued me, but I couldn't put a finger on it. I soon found out why. This historic home, occupied by Vino Villa, had once been home to a member of the Polk family. I was intrigued—historically, and soon culinarily!

J.T. Polk started a canning business in 1872, beginning modestly with tomatoes. By 1887 his operation expanded to fruits and vegetables. Brick buildings were constructed to employ over 500 workers. Simple houses were constructed in the neighborhood for employees. These homes, and a few restored buildings, are still a fixture along Main Street in Greenwood. Claiming the honor as the largest cannery west of Baltimore, Polk became Greenwood's largest employer... essentially putting Greenwood on the map! Yet, at the end of the work day, J.T. Polk had to go somewhere to rest his head. Rumor is that his home was located east of the cannery, where present day Valley Vista Golf Course sits. (Once the site of the Polk dairy barns) J.T.'s son Ralph and wife Grace built their residence a little closer into town in 1904, naming it "Maples." It's now known, in a different incarnation, as Vino Villa.

Laura and I were wine ignorant, yet we wanted to learn. We couldn't find better teachers than the staff, especially our waitress, Amy. The three-story home, with intimate seating in multiple rooms, became an experience in artesian dining and uncorking a bottle. Outdoor seating on the patio is offered (with music) for warmer months. Vino offers a vast selection of wine, gourmet cheese, pizza and beer, an array of appetizers, sandwiches, salads, breads and deserts. Laura and I have yet to order from the entire menu, but we plan to in time. Other services offered are anniversary and birthday parties, bridal showers, small weddings and receptions, wine tastings and accessories. And a Wine Club! We joined on our first visit.

Paul and Laura Jacquin bought the property in 2010. They put in a lot of work to get their vision where it needed to be. "It ultimately came down to the atmosphere we wanted," Paul stated. It began as a labor of love and continues to this day.

Is it haunted? A few of the employees think so...

JUMPING TO CONCLUSION

Four Southside friends finish a decade-long jump-rope journey with Indy Air Bears

By Nicole Davis

Over the course of 10 years, four Southside friends have formed an unbreakable bond over the sport of jump rope. Having graduated from high school this year, their jumping journey is coming to an end this summer.

Katie Tyson, Allison Taylor, Grace LaVier and Elise McQueen were inspired to join the Indy Air Bears in second grade because the tricks and routines of the jump-rope team looked cool.

"When we were little, we thought it would be something fun," Taylor said. "Once we got older, we saw everything that came with it and that there were lots of opportunities to travel and compete. We are in love with that stuff."

Tyson attended Center Grove schools. Taylor, LaVier and McQueen went to Franklin Central schools. By middle school, it was just the four of them in their grade level. Soon, they began to practice at each other's houses. Practices became sleepovers, which became birthday celebrations, which evolved into them vacationing together.

"I like how we've pretty much grown up together," Tyson said. "We all started in elementary school, being not the best of friends, but when we were forced to be together one year, it's blossomed into the best friendships that I have."

The girls excel in Double Dutch, with Tyson and Taylor as "master turners" and McQueen and LaVier as jumpers.

"The four of them, I call them the siamese quadruplets sometimes," said coach, Niki Glover. "They all jump and turn ropes. To be good in Double Dutch, you can do flips but if there's no one to turn for you, you're no good. (Two) are extremely awesome turners. (Two) are extremely awesome jumpers. Grace levitates. She can jump on her back in double dutch. They just gelled as a Double Dutch group. From there, it's amazing the dedication of these four. They're sick, they're there. Katie had foot surgery but she's jumping on one foot for three weeks. They just have a fever."

Indy Air Bears practices out of Arlington Elementary in Franklin Township, and has competed and performed all over the world.

"When you're little, you like watching shows," Tyson said. "You see all the cool stuff. Then you start to do it and going to competitions. It changes from watching to trying to be that person that can do a lot of cool stuff."

Though the four best friends are all different, LaVier said their values are all similar. Outside of jump rope, they like staying active and doing things such as soccer, zip lining or frisbee. They enjoy watching jump-rope videos to learn new tricks, or their old videos to laugh at themselves.

"During the summer we practice a lot more," Tyson said. "We see each other 24/7 then. Outside of here, we probably spend one day together a week. We spent a whole week together on spring break."

They even went to junior prom together, taking some time to jump rope in their prom dresses. The four skipped their senior prom for an Indy Air Bears competition.

"It all culminates with us having our (graduation) open house together, spending the last few days of summer together," Tyson said.

The friends said it's been different this year, being a senior.

"This year, we're trying to appreciate the little things more," Taylor said. "Every show, we've made sure it's better than before."

The teammates won in their age group at the Pan American Championships last year. Coming off of that win, they were optimistic for 2017.

Their year finished with the World Jump Rope Federation's World Championships the first week of July. The five-day competition involved 800 jumpers from 31 countries. Indy Air Bears had 22 team members at the championship. Tyson and Taylor, along with teammates Morgan Golay and Taylor Nicholson (of the Avon Aerial Orioles) earned first place in team freestyle. LaVier, McQueen and teammates Dante Agresta and Eric Hinojosa earned second place in the team freestyle.

"We (were) watching a lot more videos and spending a lot more time practicing the hard tricks," Tyson said. "It being our last year, we focused on making friends with other teams. Now we have international friends."

LaVier and McQueen will attend Ball

State University in the fall. Taylor will attend University of Indianapolis. Tyson will attend IUPUI.

"I've learned a lot of lessons and life-skills from jump rope," LaVier said. "When people graduate and leave the team, young people step up to take the lead. I've learned a lot about leadership and how it's most important to help the people around you. That will help you in the end."

Collegiate-level jump rope is just forming, Tyson said, but the teammates have plans to come back and help teach and mentor the younger group with Indy Air Bears. That next group of young leaders has already begun to demonstrate their capabilities.

"There's already a group of guys ready to kick us out," Tyson said.

All were unanimous in the sentiment that they will miss the friendships they have formed the most - not just between the four of them, but the entire team.

"We're all like family," Taylor said. "You can count on anybody here to do anything for you. We spend so much time together. We're all super close. I value these friendships so much."

Muddy Mayhem

Greenwood
Parks Department expands Mud Day
at Craig Park

By Nicole Davis

Children took a running start on the Slip'N Slide, straight into a muddy mess created by the Greenwood Parks Department and Greenwood Fire Department on July 7.

The second annual Mud Day drew a crowd of 800 people to Craig Park.

"Due to the large number of people we had last year, we knew we needed a bigger area and more parking spaces available," said Nick Schwab, activities coordinator.

The parks department tilled up the area of land on Thursday, then the fire department sprayed water to create the mud on Friday morning prior to the event.

"Seeing the turnout is my favorite part," Schwab said. "It went great. This is different. It's not offered at a lot of places. It gives kids a chance to get muddy and the parents understand they're there to get muddy. Next year, we'll have some areas we'll make even bigger and better."

1. Hunter, Ava, Brayden and Gauge Skinner, cousins from Whiteland and Greenwood. 2. Kamil Butler and Mauri Mathew, both of Greenwood. 3. Mud was caked on parents and children alike. 4. Dylan Sanders of Bargersville. 5. Natalie Sandefur of Greenwood.

Center Grove's Keith Fechtman shares his journey with dyslexia through newly-published children's book, Malina's Zoo Adventure

By Nicole Davis

It's okay for children to struggle with reading, writing or math. With extra time and patience, they can achieve high school graduation, higher education or any of their dreams.

Center Grove area resident Keith Fechtman wrote the children's book, Malina's Zoo Adventure nine years ago to share his own struggles of mixing up words and numbers. It wasn't until a year ago that he realized that his difficulty reading was actually dyslexia. This year, he found the motivation and resources to finally get his book published and become an advocate for the cause.

Fechtman grew up in Franklin, where he ran track at Franklin Community High School. Upon graduation, he attended the University of Indianapolis.

"I struggled immensely through that," he said. "I didn't know why. High school wasn't easy but it wasn't super difficult."

He left UIndy and went into the military. After his four years active duty in the Army, he joined the Reserves and sought out something to better himself. He re-enrolled at UIndy, earning his bachelor's degree. When he went to enroll in the master's program, he initially failed the entrance test.

"I struggled with the schooling aspect," he said. That's why I wrote this children's book. I wanted to share my struggles with schooling, reading, writing and really help kids. If they have a disability, difficulty, I want to help relate to them that it's okay to struggle. You can overcome it. I was able to finish the master's program in two-and-a-half years versus three. But it was a lot of grind, working full time and going back to school. I had to take extra notes. I had to be thorough because I didn't understand them the first time. I rarely got it the second time. I had to reread a lot. It's a different challenge."

After earning his master's degree, he began working for Arby's as a district manager. Wanting a better work/life balance, he found an opportunity at Express Employment Professionals Indy South where he has worked the past year.

A year ago, when he realized that his struggles with reading and mixing up numbers was dyslexia, he began to research the disorder. He also began working on Malina's Zoo Adventure. He found an illustrator, Center Grove alumnus, Eric Erickson. The book was published by Author House in May, and can be found on amazon.com or authorhouse.com. Fechtman said he has read it to any child he can. He has lined up speaking engagements through the year, including a reading and book signing on July 15 at Toodleydoo Toys in Franklin; a painting of the book at Teal Canary in Greenwood on July 22; and a reading along with the illustrator on Oct. 6.

Fechtman wants to create a series of books, and has already written the sequel, Malina's Farm Adventure with a goal to get it released by Christmas. He said a portion of the books' proceeds will go to the Dyslexia Institute of Indiana for a scholarship fund.

WHAT WILL THE 2017-18 SCHOOL YEAR BRING?

Compiled by Nicole Davis

The Southside Times would like to take this time to again thank all of the educators in our communities who work so diligently to help provide students with the intellectual tools that's necessary for them to be successful in life – whether public or private schools, the community is blessed to have dedicated educators – and to those parents who realize that education really begins in their homes. Beech Grove, Center Grove, Greenwood, Franklin Township, Perry Meridian, Southport, Roncalli, Lutheran and all of our other private schools shared so much wonderful news of their academic and extracurricular successes from the previous school year, and we are excited to see what's next. Here's to a productive 2017-2018 school year for all school personnel and, of course, students as well.

Center Grove Community School Corporation

On behalf of the Center Grove Board of School Trustees, administration, faculty, and support staff, we would like to welcome everyone back to school on August 2, 2017!

The vision of our school corporation is to provide all students with an "exceptional educational experience." We approach every day with that vision in mind. The commitment of our faculty and staff to our students helped the Class of 2017 earn around $6 million in scholarships. In 2017, Center Grove High School (CGHS) was one of only 73 schools recognized by the Indiana Department of Education for having more than 25 percent of students score a three or higher on the Advanced Placement Exams. While these accomplishments are exceptional, we will soon begin a new school year with new goals to exceed.

The new school year will bring a new principal for CGHS. Mr. Jeffrey Henderson is an experienced educator and instructional leader with nearly 30 years in education, including 15 years as a high school principal. We hope you will welcome him, his wife, and their two daughters into our community.

This year, we will open the new CGHS Student Activity Center and start construction on our newest school, Walnut Grove Elementary. The Activity Center will provide much needed space for our student-athletes and many extra-curricular clubs and groups. It will also host hours for community members who would like to use the elevated walking track. An open house is being planned for later this fall. The new elementary school is scheduled to open in August of 2019.

Both of these projects are being funded without impacting the tax rate. Our School Board and administrative team work diligently to make fiscally responsible decisions while providing the resources we need to provide a high quality education for our students.

We welcome community members to our school events and to visit our website at centergrove.k12.in.us to learn more about the exceptional education experiences in Center Grove!

Roncalli High School

At the beginning of the new school year, exciting new changes await our students and faculty upon their return. After years of planning, fundraising, design and construction, our school plant continues to emerge as one of the finest private school facilities in the state of Indiana. Plans for a new gymnasium are being finalized as of this writing.

Our school community is still celebrating an IHSAA 4A State Championship in football along with individual state championships by Alec Viduya in wrestling and Paige Saylor in the women's long jump this past spring. It was a wonderful way to finish an extraordinary school year.

The academic accomplishments of our staff and students continue to reach new heights as well. Roncalli senior Heather Lezon claimed Roncalli's 11th National Championship in the National Women in Construction architectural design competition and Senior Luke Murphy claimed Roncalli's first-ever State Championship in Speech. Roncalli Physics teacher Ben Grimes was selected as the Indiana

Physics Teacher of the Year. Our recently graduated Class of 2017 earned more than $28 million in merit-based college scholarships! The professionalism and dedication of our instructors translates into exceptional performance by our students, highlighted by our recent notification by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation that Roncalli will have 16 students recognized by the National Merit program as commended students and semifinalists, which is an all-time high for the school as well.

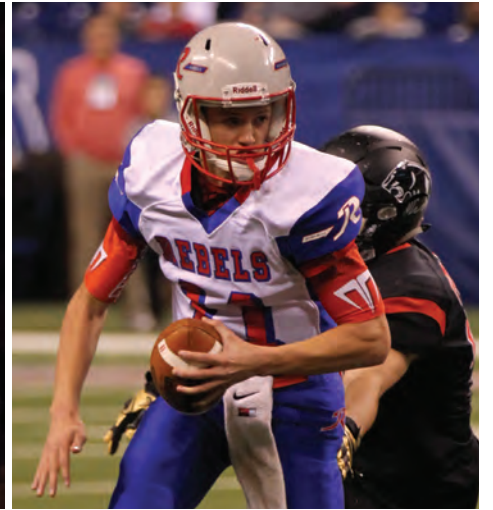

Our mission has long centered on working to develop life-long learners in service to others. Inspiring students to truly become life-long learners requires gifted teachers with a passion for their subject matter and an enthusiasm for teaching their students. Inspired teaching leads to inspired students and inspired students become their own best teachers.

We are looking forward to a fantastic year!

Dr. Joseph D. Hollowell
President

Beech Grove City Schools

Welcome back to the 2017-2018 school year! The first day of school is fast approaching – classes begin on Thursday, July 27. It has continued to be a busy time all summer as we prepared our buildings and equipment for your return to school. Be sure to refer to your Back to School newsletter that was mailed to all families in early June for important event dates scheduled for this school year. In addition, be sure to access the “Hornet Blast” – our district’s weekly e-newsletter – for news and photos of our students and staff that will be highlighted throughout the year. Our district Facebook page is also another excellent communication tool for all of the latest and greatest news from our district. We missed you while you were on Summer Break and look forward to seeing you on July 27!

Greenwood Christian Academy

On behalf of the Greenwood Christian Academy (GCA) faculty, staff, and board, I would like to welcome everyone back to the 2017-2018 school year. We are excited about helping you and your child in their educational endeavors this school year. The purpose of Greenwood Christian Academy has always been to provide young people with an opportunity to receive a high quality Christian education within a Christ-centered environment.

This year we have added new technology programs to our already outstanding academics that will open up a world of opportunities to our students. We are fully accredited by the state of Indiana and offer both the Core 40 and Academic Honors Diploma.

We are an interdenominational Christian school with a student body of more than 600 students in Grades K through 12 representing more than 80 local churches. We know it is our mission to provide a college preparatory education with a Christian worldview and prepare our students to succeed academically and spiritually.

At the elementary level we emphasize the core subjects such as reading and mathematics, as well as provide special classes that help to ensure our students are well rounded. Our students have a 100 percent IREAD pass rate every year. And consistently score well above state averages on ISTEP.

At the middle and high school levels we utilize curriculum intended to prepare students for college and life, to encourage them to become lifelong learners, and lovers of God, His work, and this world. We provide an academically rigorous curriculum, and students with a strong desire to go on to college, or advanced degrees. We offer multiple dual credit courses through Vincennes University and Grace College, and our graduates have consistently maintained a 100 percent high school graduation rate and college acceptance rate.

In addition, GCA has thriving extracurricular programs, as well. We are members of the IHSAA and Johnson County Tournament and offer an extensive variety of athletic teams and activities for our students. Our Fine arts department is phenomenal. Both middle school and the high school put on amazing productions each year as do our choral and band departments.

At the core of all our activities is Christ. We are motivated and led by God's Word. Our staff starts each morning with prayer, and our teachers lead daily devotions with their students. Our faculty challenges the students to meet their highest academic potential while modeling Christ's love, discipline, and servant leadership.

The first day for students is Aug. 9th and we would be delighted to serve you and your family. If you are interested in learning more, please contact us for a tour.

Franklin Central High School

Along with Principal Kevin Koers, the Franklin Central High School Student Council would like to give a big FLASHES' WELCOME to the incoming Class of 2021 and our new Franklin Township Community School Corporation superintendent, Dr. Bruce Hibbard! After being honored and recognized as one of "America's Most Challenging Schools" by the Washington Post thanks to our dedicated staff and administration, our Student Council would like to challenge each student to do their best academically and give back to the community! We encourage our study body to join a club, choir, sport, or volunteer organization in an effort to make a positive impact on our Flashes' Family! Let's go, Flashes!

Greenwood Community School Corp.

On behalf of the Greenwood Community School Corporation Board of Education, I would like to welcome students, parents, staff and community stakeholders back for the 2017-18 school year. As always, we look forward to seeing our students!

I begin my fifth year as the superintendent here in Greenwood. I continue to be so appreciative of the opportunity to serve the Greenwood Community School Corporation and the Community of Greenwood.

The key word in the Greenwood Community School Corporation is "community." It takes a community to help educate students. Everyone — whether you are a parent, staff member, business leader or a resident with no children in our school system — has a responsibility to our young people.

We are excited about the number of items occurring in the district this coming year. Namely, we have a new middle school that will open its doors to over 900 students. We can't thank the community enough for its support in making this happen. Over the summer, we have also been able to complete a number of building upgrades that will serve as one more vital ingredient to a successful educational experience.

Last school year, we were honored to be designated as an "A" district by the Indiana Department of Education. There were only a total of 23 school districts in the state that achieved this designation. We are proud of this designation and our pledge to you is to continue doing everything we can to make our district even better.

Thank you for being a part of the Greenwood Community School Corporation. Please know that we don't take you for granted. We are a service organization, and we take our service responsibility to our students, parents and community seriously.

Please help us to carry out this mission by volunteering your time and talents to better serve our students.

Lutheran High School

The Saints are taking another step toward excellence. We have set an impressive benchmark with recent successes of multiple athletic teams competing in Indiana final four tournament action, academic teams qualifying and competing at the state level, LHS / Indiana University dual credit courses outperforming others in the state, and the 57 out of 57 graduates from the class of 2017 making final preparations for college. Like years past, this new year brings changes that will allow the Saints to push those benchmarks of success to even higher levels. Coming in the 2017-2018 year, the Saints of Lutheran High School will dedicate a new synthetic turf athletic field, a new all weather running track, and a memorial to remember the passion and dedication of our teaching staff as witnessed through an English teacher Monica Wagner, who recently passed from cancer. The Saints will also experience new intentional programming that will place all students from freshmen through senior in opportunities to effectively plan for careers and college. Students will experience workshops, guest speakers, college visit field trips, practice testing for the college aptitude, and units of study from each curricular academic department that will highlight career and college opportunities. Also the students, faculty, and staff of LHS will again march through each week taking care of community with five effective focal points that will guide us to act W.I.S.E.R. With an entire academic year ahead of all the Saints, our mission to show Jesus Christ in all that we do, and our mission to provide for students an opportunity to be excellent, will move us to new heights and new benchmarks of success. Welcome everyone to the 2017-2018 academic year. We are the Saints of Lutheran High School.

Perry Township Schools

Welcome.

Bienvenido.

كوب الءا

Conglawmhnak

Each of these words means welcome in Spanish, Arabic and Chin, respectively – a few of the languages of our students.

As we get ready for the first day of school on Thursday, July 27, we would like to extend the warmest of greetings to all of our students and staff!

The Perry community has so much to celebrate this year. Construction crews are literally putting the finishing touches on four new kindergarten academies. Renovations are complete in 26 classrooms in nearly every elementary school. Falcon Stadium is just weeks away from hosting its first home game for Perry Meridian High's football team, while Southport High's fans will join us in renaming Perry Stadium to Cardinal Stadium. It is the beginning of an exciting new era.

The start of the school year marks a fresh start for students as well. With the promise of a new day comes the chance to start over and try new things – join a new club, raise your hand more in class, sit with a new group at lunch, seek some extra help in the difficult subjects. It's never too late to switch things up! And rest assured, your peers are grappling with the same uncertainties and insecurities as you. We are all just humans on a journey to be the best version of ourselves!

As the second fastest-growing school districts in Indiana, we are excited to have one of the most diverse student bodies. As our student enrollment approaches 16,000 students, last year we welcomed 4,763 English learners who represented 67 countries and 73 languages. We anticipate our student population will steadily increase in the years to come, and we will continue to make diversity and inclusion efforts a priority to meet the needs of our newest Perry residents.

We look forward to seeing all of our students and staff back in class. We are rooting for your success! You are the Pride of Perry!

Lutheran High School offers a wide variety of faith-based opportunities

Lutheran High School celebrates over 40 years of distinctive academic excellence and a wide variety of opportunities for its students each year.

Nestled in a south side community, LHS welcomes approximately 250 students in 9th – 12th grades each year. Students enjoy the family atmosphere this smaller school provides, as well as the opportunities to grow in their faith, participate in athletics and the arts, and grow their academic strength in preparation for college.

Lutheran Saints enjoy a wide variety of opportunities – academically, athletically, and technologically. Students are offered Dual-Credit classes through its partnership with Indiana University as well as many Advanced Placement (AP) courses designed to challenge and enrich the academic experience. This school offers a one-to-one technology where each student uses a MacBook for classroom instruction, research, and composition. Students develop a technical skill-set using various software programs to fulfill assignments. This technology also enhances communication among the students, teachers, and parents. LHS students are well prepared for higher education upon graduation. More than 90% of graduates go on to pursue higher education and are eligible for a variety of academic and athletic scholarships!

Lutheran's exciting news this year is the addition of artificial turf and a newly surfaced track to help support Saints Athletics. In 2016-2017, the Saints won five Sectional Championships and three Regional Championships! Lutheran also has a variety of extracurricular activities for students including theatre, choir, band, National Honor Society, and more. 95% of students are engaged in sports and/or other extracurricular activities.

While Lutheran High School holds high academic standards, its foundation is built on Christ Jesus. Students participate in daily Christian education as well as weekly chapel. Religious curriculum includes study of the New and Old Testament, Christian Ethics, and World Religions. Students at Lutheran High School come from a diverse background of faith including many Christian denominations and some other religions. LHS remains committed to offering a Christ-centered education to all who attend.

For more information or a tour of LHS, families may contact Deidre Barnett, Director of Admissions at admissions@lhsi.org or (317) 787-5474 x218.

It's a great time to further your education or learn a new skill

The decision to further your education is an admirable and life-changing decision. Whether you resolve to work on your skills as a new speaker of English, earn your high school equivalency diploma, or add vocational training and additional job skills to your resume, Central Nine Career Center Adult Education has classes to help you accomplish your educational goals.

English as a Second Language Classes (ESL) are an excellent way for individuals whose first language is not English to increase their English speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills. Our classes are ideal for all skill levels, and each student's unique needs are addressed to make the most of their time in the classroom. To be enrolled in ESL classes, students must attend a two-day orientation.

HSE Classes (formerly GED) offer adults the opportunity to review, learn, and/or improve basic academic skills such as reading, writing, and mathematics. Instruction is tailored to meet the individual needs of the students, and is intended to prepare students to take the High School Equivalency Test in five different testing areas: mathematics, writing, reading, science, and social studies.

Continuing Education courses are ideal for individuals looking to make a career change or advance in their current field. The successful completion of a Continuing Education course can result in students earning a state or nationally-recognized certification in their career of choice, including EMT, Firefighter, Certified Nurse Aide, Welding, Auto Maintenance, Electronic Systems Technician and Dental Radiology. New courses for the fall include Microsoft Office Specialist – Word 2016 and Quickbooks Certified User. CNC Machine Operator is offered in partnership with Ivy Tech.

High School for adults provides a second chance

The Excel Center® is a free public charter high school where adults can earn a high school diploma and begin post-secondary education.

Breaking Barriers

Center Grove alum Mary Margaret Moffett earns scholarship to top Japanese university

By Erica Faunce

For most of her life, Mary Margaret Moffett has wanted to live in Japan. She and her husband, Chip, stayed in Tokyo for three months last year, which is the longest you're allowed to live there without a special visa. They loved it so much that they wanted to find a way to stay longer.

Moffett then discovered a bilingual program at Hokkaido University in Sapporo, Japan. Hokkaido is one of Japan's National Seven Universities, which are comparable to Ivy League schools in the U.S. Moffett has become one of only 20 students accepted into the program next year. She'll be getting a bachelor's degree in Modern Japanese Studies, which includes culture, history, society, and political economy.

"It's everything I'm interested in," Moffett said.

Her earliest experience with Japanese culture came in third grade at Center Grove Elementary School, where she and a girl named Tomoko Oshimoto were the only new students in class.

"She was my first meaningful exposure to Japanese culture and language," Moffett said. Though Oshimoto and her family moved back to Japan a few years later, she and Moffett have remained friends, and reunited in Shinjuku, Japan, in 2013.

Along with her friend Tomoko, Moffett credits her aspirations to learn about Japanese culture to Jane McMurrer, her Spanish teacher at Center Grove High School, where she graduated in 2003.

"Center Grove did have a Japanese program, but I was not able to take it," Moffett said. "She tried to encourage me to still pursue that interest. She's a really amazing woman."

McMurrer wrote the recommendation letter that Moffett submitted when applying to the Hokkaido University program.

Thanks in part to the encouragement of friends and mentors, Moffett now looks forward to the four and a half years that she and Chip will spend in Japan. On this particular trip, which will be their fourth, Moffett hopes to widen her understanding of Japan's vast and complex culture.

"I know that there's a lot that I'm missing," she said. "So to be able to have a better understanding of not only the language, but the culture, and the history behind everything, is going to be great."

However, Moffett knows that earning another bachelor's degree will be a challenge, especially since she's past typical undergraduate age. She worries that her perfectionism may become an obstacle once she begins her studies.

"Maybe these younger kids are going to be quicker at picking this up than I will be, but thankfully, I study really hard, and hopefully that'll be enough," she said.

No matter the academic hurdles, Moffett knows that her appreciation for Japan won't fade. She loves the great food, the friendly people, and the sights that you can't find in America.

Moffett encourages students of all ages to be themselves and to pursue whatever goal interests them the most. Though she spent most of her education shying away from bigger dreams and sticking with more "practical" ambitions, she now knows that Japan is what she's most passionate about.

"It sounds like kind of a cliché, but it's not too late to go for something that you're interested in," she said.

A Sweet Solution for Busy School Days

FAMILY FEATURE - The busy pace of back-to-school schedules can make it feel like nearly every aspect of life has you under a time crunch. Fortunately, when it comes to feeding the family, there are some simple foods you likely already have on hand that can provide easy solutions for snacks and mealtime alike.

A go-to fruit like California grapes is a fresh staple you can depend on because they are always ripe and ready to eat when you buy them. While grapes are indeed ideal for snacking because they hold, store and travel well, this healthy and delicious fruit is also a simple addition to meals throughout the day. Grapes require minimal preparation, so they're equally easy as a side dish or as a fun way to deliver the fresh produce factor in a wide range of family-friendly recipes, such as these Grape and Ricotta Pita Pizzas.

Tips like these show how you can easily incorporate grapes into every meal:

BREAKFAST. A cup of creamy yogurt and crunchy granola takes on a sweet note when topped with a handful of grapes. Slice or quarter grapes then mix well for a medley of textures and flavors in every bite.

MORNING SNACK. Pair grapes with cheese and crackers for a sweet and savory snack to keep your energy strong and your hunger in check until lunchtime.

LUNCH. A handful of grapes can balance out a sandwich and add some sweet indulgence to the midday meal.

AFTER SCHOOL. Grapes offer hydration and quick energy so they're the perfect way to fuel up for after school sports or to lend some extra brain power for study time.

DINNERTIME RUSH. Use grapes for an easy side dish that goes with anything. A quick meal like grilled cheese and grapes brings out the kid in everyone.

EVENING SNACK. Toward the end of the day, cravings can creep up but keeping a bowl of fresh grapes on hand for after dinner snacking helps avoid alternative salty, highly processed choices.

City of Greenwood sees major boost in recycling

Environment - The City of Greenwood has collected nearly 1,000 tons of recycling in 2017, a 31 percent increase over the first half of 2016. The number of resident households participating in recycling has risen dramatically as well, from approximately 5,700 to nearly 8,700 households and counting.

Greenwood Mayor Mark W. Myers attributes the success to program changes implemented at the beginning of 2017, including new wheeled bins and bi-weekly pickup schedules.

"We anticipated improvements in participation based on early positive feedback, but the immediate spike has been better than we could have imagined," said Myers. "This initiative obviously strikes a chord with residents."

Last fall, Greenwood announced several improvements to its recycling services designed to increase resident participation, decrease carbon emissions and lower the amount of solid waste sent to landfills. Major highlights of the new program, which took effect Jan. 1, 2017, include: New, 96-gallon, wheeled bins that have quickly become the industry standard for municipal waste management. Residents were previously using an 18-gallon bin; Bi-weekly pickup, cutting in half pollution emitted by trucks collecting recyclables along the 220 miles that make up the coverage area. Previous pickup was done weekly; No initial or additional fees for Greenwood residents.

The House

A big gamble, an even bigger loss

MOVIE REVIEW

By Adam Staten

Las Vegas is a city built entirely from the generosity, over indulgence of losers. The opportunities to gamble in Sin City are seemingly endless. Hop off a plane at McCarran International Airport in Las Vegas and likely one of the first things to greet you will be a slot machine. The odds of winning are stacked considerably against the players, but there must be something about bright, shiny lights that compels people to throw money away. Gambling and losing to the house is generally the only sure thing. One recently-released movie takes this idea of gambling and the odds being stacked in the house's favor and runs with it.

The House is the absurd story of two middle-aged parents Scott and Kate Johansen (Will Ferrell and Amy Poehler). Scott and Kate's pride and joy, their 18-year-old daughter Alex, is on the verge of graduating from high school and has begun applying to schools. After falling in love with Bucknell, Alex applies and is soon after admitted, filling Alex and her parents with overwhelming happiness. However, those feelings of joy dissipate rather quickly.

After their town discontinues providing one student each year with a college scholarship, Scott and Kate realize they don't have the funds necessary to cover Alex's tuition. Determined to come up with the money, Scott, Kate and a friend decide to open a casino. Their illegal enterprise is soon raking in the cash, but not everyone is pleased. Scott and Kate find themselves facing down a town councilor, the police and a dangerous mobster.

As is to be expected from a comedy starring Will Ferrell, The House is paper thin when it comes to story. Instead, the film is simply a vehicle for Ferrell and Poehler to flex their comedic muscles. Now, while both are funny and talented performers, all of their antics and jokes are telegraphed from a mile away. Absolutely nothing new comedically is brought to the table. Nearly every joke, funny look or outrageous situation feels recycled from every other Ferrell or Poehler film.

The lone bright spot - if it can be referred to as one - is that the film is rather short. It's not even 90 minutes long. In a time when most films are two hours or longer, The House keeps it short and sweet. Two hours of this would've been unbearable.

The House is a lazy film in nearly every aspect. The premise is weak, the story is worse and the jokes are tired and uninspired. The filmmakers and the performers both phoned this one in. When it comes to The House, everyone loses. 2 out 5.

Wine Market coming to Fountain Square

Renovation - The Wine Market at Fountain Square is coming to 1031 Virginia Ave., in the heart of Fountain Square and along the Indianapolis Cultural Trail. The building, which housed Skip's Market grocery for many years, is being renovated to include seating for approximately 50 guests and an additional 24 people in a small private event place on a second level. Partners Kris Bower and Zachary Davis of KZ Investments LLC said the Fountain Square location was perfect because of the neighborhood's eclectic mix of independent restaurants, bars, breweries and shops. The building design has been approved by the Indianapolis Historical Preservation Commission. Bower and Davis plan to complete their renovation and open in October.

FROM THE EDITOR

Fisher of men

According to a recent Microsoft study, our attention spans are dwindling significantly. In fact, this particular study makes a comparison between humans and goldfish. The carnival pets edged out their captors by a second; humans were shown at an average attention span of 8 seconds, and goldfish came in at 9 seconds. How's that for an attention getter?

By now some business owners feel the need to condense advertising content and attach to it bells and whistles. After all, the squeaky wheel gets the grease.

Unfortunately, the grease will run out. We are bombarded with bells and whistles all day to the point that pop-up advertising has conditioned us to involuntarily find that tiny "x" with blind efficiency.

Unlike the noble goldfish, we yearn for more than falling flakes. Compelling content is and will forever be king. This is why asinine comparisons between apples and oranges like the aforementioned one draw readers in but leave them feeling cheated when logic is employed.

Of course Microsoft, with its grasp on digital, well, everything, would love for us to believe that quick and dirty information is the way to a consumer's heart – or wallet if you will.

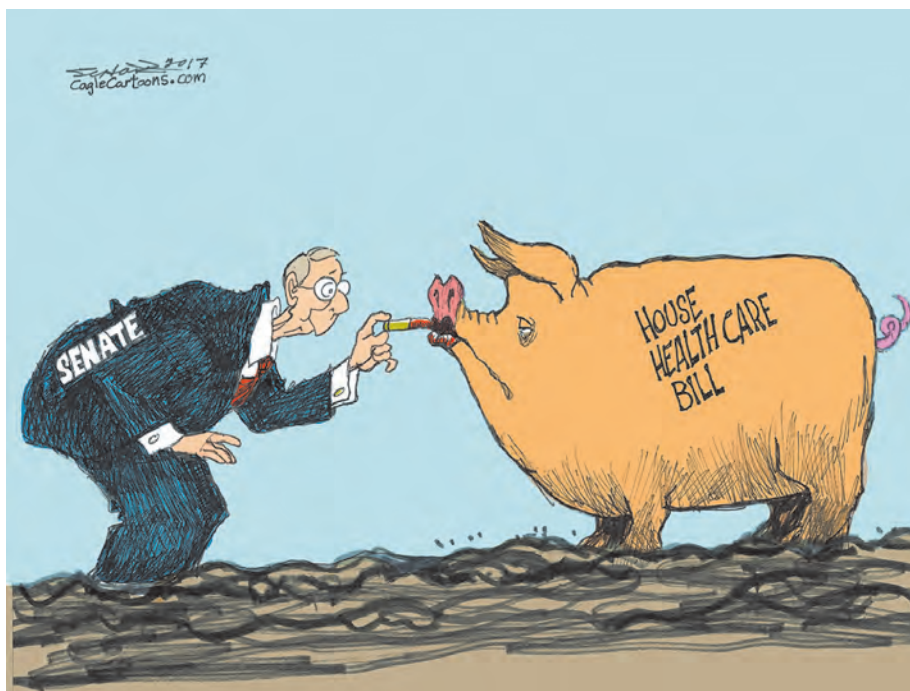

Of course, "attention-getting" is crucial. It's a cold call and seconds matter. But so is keeping the consumer engaged in a world of squeaky wheels.

The only difference between now and before the digital revolution is that humans process information faster, not that we are refusing to put in the required time to be compelled. Do not insult humans by selling them fish food.

Holy hot dog, grill man!

NUTRITION

By Wendell Fowler

As American as apple pie, the bun-wrapped, handheld bundle of smoky summer deliciousness is a sacred tradition. Nobody wants to hear this, but you at least need to know. Over the recent years, a lot of negative attention has been drawn to hot dogs. If you eat the more than one a week, here are some helpful facts.

Why should you be concerned about a historic tradition? Today's processed meats are consistently associated with adverse health effects. A study by the Cancer Research Center of Hawaii and the University of Southern California links eating processed meats with cancer. The seven-year study found that people who ate the most processed meats had a 67 percent higher risk of pancreatic cancer than those who ate the least amount. USC epidemiologist found that children who eat more than 12 hot dogs per month have nine times the normal risk of developing childhood leukemia. In another study, children who ate hot dogs one or more times per week were also at higher risk of brain cancer. The problem: they're processed, contain cancerous nitrates and negligible nutrition.

Yale University Prevention Research Center say diets say high in processed meats preserved with nitrosamines compounds (Nitrates) have also been linked to increased risk for diabetes, higher mortality, more cardiovascular disease.

Studies show the effects of processed meats more harmful in people who don't eat garden fresh produce. However, when you eat hot dogs along with an antioxidant-rich plant foods like tomatoes, broccoli, lime, cherries, kiwi, lemon, or orange juice, the Vitamin C keeps nitrates from changing into nitrosamines, which may help reduce the risk of cancer associated with these ungodly chemicals. Hot dog's high levels of sodium aggravate high blood pressure and water retention.

Clearly, purchasing a brand without nitrates is the wise solution. In response to consumer awareness and demand, Oscar Meyer has released a 'nitrate-free' hot dog. Hooray, a shed of conscience. This response clearly implies there is a problem.

There are nitrate-free dogs: Lightlife Smart Dogs, Applegate Uncured Hot dogs, to name a few. What bun?: Use a whole wheat bun or wrap, but slapping a grilled dog on traditional AP white flour hot dog bun like we have for decades, can or already has, deteriorates your health.

Go ahead and enjoy hot dogs, but seek nitrate-free or alternative brands and eat some fresh produce along with the wiener the world has long awaited.

Weekly Devotion

12 That you be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

13 For when God made promise to Abraham, because He could swear by no greater, He swore by Himself, 14 Saying, Surely blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply you.

15 And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.

HEBREWS 6:12-15

The promises of God are without repentance. He knows what He is capable of doing when He puts Himself out there for us and He will do what He promises and much more than we think if we will stay the course and not falter and fall back.

This passage tells us that we cannot think that we are not to be active when it come to our own well-being. God's promises always include an "if you will, I will." Take 2 Chronicles 7:14 as an example: "If My people, which are called by My name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." This is a promise made by God to Solomon as he prayed in the new temple in Jerusalem. It begins with an "If!"

There is a promise from God concerning what He will do and He fully intends to do if His people do their part, which is to humble themselves, pray, seek His face and turn from their wicked ways. These are God's conditions that must be met before His people can receive the fulfillment of His promise. God's love is unconditional but His promises are conditioned.

God has given us commands and Jesus says, "If you love Me, you will keep My commandments." One cannot expect the promises of God and the blessings of them while all the time they are living in rebellion against Him.

Thank God for His promises and thank God for His instructions as to how to access them. They can be yours if He is your God but if you serve other gods, go to them and seek what they might be able to do for you.

God bless and go and have a great day.

Paul A. Kirby is the pastor at the Church of God at 3939 S. Emerson Ave.

WHY PRINT?

ENGAGEMENT

According to International News Media Association, printed newspapers boast the highest amount of ad engagement by readers. While other mediums allow for the option to ignore or "skip" an advertisement, newspaper ads are built into the content. (inma.org)

AFFORDABILITY

Newspapers offer a lower cost per thousand readers than radio, tv and direct mail advertising. (mediaspectrum.net)

TARGETING

Loyal readers and niche audiences are easier to reach when you know the geographic area and circulation. (fedena.com)
