Johnson County survey seeks opinions on transit

Indy Connect's new online survey asks Johnson County residents their opinions about transit for their county. The input will guide community conversations this fall. The survey is part of the transit planning process for Indy Connect – the partnership of the Central Indiana Regional Transportation Authority, Indianapolis Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) and IndyGo.

John and Diane Hawk celebrate golden anniversary

John and Diane (Foreman) Hawk, of the Southside of Indianapolis, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on June 24. The couple married on June 24, 1967 in Broomall, Pa. John is retired from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. Diane is retired from the Argonne National Laboratory. The couple has two children, Jeannette Miller and Steven Hawk, both of Indianapolis; and six grandchildren, Nathan, Elise and Paige Miller and Lola, Emma and Ian Hawk. They are both members of LifePoint Church.

What is your favorite baseball memory?

"Ricky Henderson's most stolen bases. I was a big Ricky Henderson fan and I always thought it was impressive to be able to steal bases at that level. It was a real accomplishment."

Kyle Patterson of Southport

"Probably most recently would be the 2016 Cubs World Series game. It has been over a hundred years since they won a world series. I've been a Cubs fan for as long as I can remember. I watched it with a buddy and we stayed out late at a restaurant. We shut it down and they let us stay until the game seven was over."

Jason Crecelius of Southport

"I remember growing up watching and cheering for the Indianapolis Indians, especially Razor Shine. Also the Cubs, going and watching them, and especially recently with the World Series win. Those are my best memories of baseball."

Amy Miles of Perry Township

"When we got first place for an undefeated season my first year in minors. It was three years ago. I felt like a champion."

Investigating your own home, revisited

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

By Rick Hinton

Should paranormal investigators investigate their own home? It can be an iffy proposition. I wrote on this over a year ago, yet it's a timeless subject, and relevant to our own home. I still have not changed my position...

"An association with a spiritual entity within your own residence quickly becomes a personal matter, and like it or not, you either learn to coexist, or take measures to usher them out the door. They may be unwelcome guests, but they're still guests. Over time, they become unofficial members of the family, becoming familiar with our quirks and eccentricities, as we do theirs. And they will play upon these until we become comfortably numb and accepting, or you want to dig a little deeper. Suddenly you bring in a troop of unfamiliar faces with an arsenal of cameras, recorders, lighted meters, and a barrage of questions. It's literally an invasion. Your spiritual house guests think so too. The game then changes..."

"Investigating your own personal abode is not such a good thing! For the spirits it's an intrusion upon them, and 'their' family. The investigation may either ramp up activity (apparently they can get highly angry over this invasion of their personal space) or the opposite—retreating into the shadows and staying quiet during the ghost hunt, yet reemerging afterwards to let the family know they are not pleased. Let's face it, after the equipment is packed up and the investigation ends, you have to live there and deal with the consequences."

If the homeowners are the ones conducting their own investigation, I would imagine the same results as outsiders coming in. It becomes real personal at that point! (Not fond of their 'family' taking charge and calling the shots) Ghosts, it would seem, don't care much for change. They are caught in a timeless transition of repetition and shenanigans, with a mission we most likely will never understand.

We coexist with our ghost. She does little things to let us know she is still there and has the run of the house. She is not mean or malevolent. For now, that's all I need to know.

Dancing for Support

Perry Senior Services brings seniors together to shoot a dance video

By Erica Faunce

June 9, a Friday morning, Perry Senior Services hosted a short dance for members of the community age 60 and up. About two dozen senior citizens arrived at Southport High School's football stadium to participate in the dance. The event was recorded by a professional videographer.

Peggy Bryson, executive director of Perry Senior Services, said that the nonprofit's main goal is to keep seniors healthy and independent as long as possible. Bryson and a team of 70 volunteers help provide meals and medical transportation for senior citizens in the Perry Township area.

"Seniors are your parents, your grandparents," Bryson said. "They may not be the cute little kids and little red wagons, but they're certainly a big segment of our society. We just need to spend more time and more services for the seniors."

Outings such as this dance help seniors stay active.

"This really touches my heart to see some people that have a very difficult time just moving, trying to come out and do a little dance and have fun," Bryson said.

Once the video is put together, Bryson plans to submit it to Senior Guide for a possible prize, in order to further support the needs of senior citizens. The video will also be sent to Ellen Degeneres, in hopes of wider exposure for the organization.

Greater Southport/Perry Township Active Living Workshop sparks conversation

FEATURE

By Nicole Davis

What makes an area a safe, healthy and thriving place to live? More than 40 residents, business leaders and stakeholders joined the Greater Southport/Perry Township Active Living Workshop on June 6 and spent the day discussing the importance of a healthy neighborhood and what can be done on the Southside of Indianapolis.

"It was so rewarding to welcome the 40+ workshop participants into the conversation on ways to make our community more vibrant for the future," stated Linda Adams, Purdue Extension as Community Wellness Coordinator and workshop organizer. "I am so glad that Southport Mayor Russell McClure saw the value of this workshop when it was just an idea on paper and suggested that we take the bold step of applying for the grant that would fund the workshop. The workshop certainly exceeded our expectations."

Speakers discussed the physical and mental benefits of being physically active and how having a walkable neighborhood can help make that happen.

"There is one number may determine how healthy you are and how long you live," said Active Living Program Manager Kate Riordan during her presentation. "It isn't your weight, cholesterol or any of those numbers that doctors look at. It's your address... We're here today to talk about how to create healthy communities. In order to create healthy people they need to get more physical activity. In order to do that they need to have sidewalks, trails to walk or bike on. In order to create that healthy environment, we need to have healthy policies. We need to create the conditions for active living. We need to make it easy to be active."

After the presentations, participants took a 1/2 mile walk around Southport intersections and discussed the good and the bad for pedestrians. They then returned to Southport United Methodist Church to review maps and identify areas which are pedestrian-friendly and those which need work.

"The directed workshop presentation was very informative and really sparked a lot of conversation and excitement over what is really possible," Adams stated. "This workshop was a great example of cross-governmental cooperation with officials from both the City of Indianapolis and the City of Southport participating. One of the bonus benefits of the day was seeing the workshop participants having side conversations on ways that they can work with each other in their own realms of influence."

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY!

Father's Day, June 18, is an opportunity to show our appreciation for the advice dads give every day, even if we don't always follow it. It can also be a time to appreciate the skills they have and share. In this year's essay contest, Southside students answered the question, "What is one special skill your dad has? Why is this special? What are some examples of them using this skill?" Congratulations to our winner, Blake Getz of Thompson Crossing Elementary, and runners up, Lal Eng Kima of Indianapolis Southside Christian Academy and Lizzie of Saints Francis & Clare Catholic School.

Wish the dads in your life a Happy Father's Day on June 18th!

Nick and Blake Getz

Dear dad,

One special talent you have is coaching. You would always be there when someone is hurt. You help kids in practice. When someone is doing the move wrong you would make sure they would do it right and you make sure nobody is messing around. You rock at coaching kids in wrestling, football, and baseball. If you weren't a coach, kids wouldn't be as good as they are. I love you! Ps. You rock!

Your son, Blake Getz

My dad is a very good singer. He is the conductor of our church choir. He has even written some songs. All of his songs are great. He has always helped me when I needed help singing. He would tell me the right keys to sing or play on an instrument. When we practice in the choir, he leads the bass and the tenor sections. He is very serious in this area. When he gets in the mood, he is really energetic! We can see how happy or sad he is in the way he is conducting. He is always our guide. When we make a mistake, he shows us the right way.

Dear dad,

I really love when you draw for me. I appreciate when you draw for me because you teach me how to draw and I love spending time with you. I think it is special that you teach me how to draw because it shows that you care for me.

I think it is so amazing that you have an art major. I think it is so amazing because I know that I'm learning from a great and awesome artist! Another reason why having an art major is so great is because you can help me with any of my school projects that require art. Finally, having an art major is so wonderful because I can be proud of having an artist in my family. I also really love when you play "Luck of the draw" with our family. I like that because our family, you, and me are together. Also, playing Luck of the Draw with you is fun because doing art and having fun with my family is a great combo. Especially when you are playing. Finally, playing Luck of the Draw with you is so amazing because I get to see what your art is like while playing the game.

Dear dad,

You know of Mike Kyzyzewski or John Wooden. But did you know that you are 100 times better than those coaches? You coach me in basketball and are amazing at it. But you don't just coach me in basketball you coach me in life.

Being a coach is your special skill because you can coach my team through the worst thing and still be great at it. Even when Kari got sick you still didn't let that stop us. You made it motivate us to play harder and practice harder. You where so good at that. You lead our team to the championship. In the 3rd quarter we were down by 15 but you reminded us that Kari would love to play this game and so we are gonna play this game for her. So then we made a come back and were down by 1 at some point. They pulled ahead and won. Even though we lost the game, we still won in are hearts by Kari getting better fast and surviving.

We might of lost the championship basketball game but you will never lose me. I will never stop loving you. Even when I'm really really old and have a lot of wrinkles like you, I will love you so much. Thanks for coaching me on the court and in life. I love you so much, Daddy.

I love when you cook deer because it tastes like nothing I've ever had. I love when you cook deer because it's my favorite.

I love when you cook tacos. I love when you cook tacos because you let us make our own tacos. I love when you cook tacos because you let us pick the ingredients you give us. I love when you cook tacos because you get chips.

Dear dad,

Happy happy Father's Day Daddy! You have so many special skills. One special skill that you have is you will do anything for anyone. I hope you have the best Father's Day ever! I love you so much! Another special skill that you have is you are so funny. You make me laugh every single day! Another special skill that you have is you can fix anything! I love you so much!

These special skills are so special because, whenever someone is mad in our family you always cheer them up, by making them laugh. You will do anything for someone when they are sick or when they are sad. When an object breaks in our family, you will always fix it. You do so much for our family. These special skills are so so special to me.

There are many examples of you using these skill. One example is you cut, and take care of the grass, and you make it look so good. Another example is if something is broken, you will always fix it. I hope you have the best Father's Day ever! You always make me laugh! I love you so much!

My father has a special ability called laughter. This is so special to me, because it has helped me through the difficult times in my life. When I was younger, I got upset one time, because I wanted ice cream, but I couldn't have any. I sat down to pout on the couch. When my dad came home from work, he made me laugh. How? Well, he made his lips curve in a funny shape. I thought it was really funny, so I tried it. Unfortunately, it didn't go as planned, and I ended up biting my lip. Ouch! It stung for a minute, but I had to laugh anyway, because the situation was so funny. My dad is just great at bringing me happiness when I need it like that. I love him.

By Beth Wade

It was exceptional weather for the second Aloha Family Fun Run hosted by The Baxter YMCA on Saturday, June 10. Runners for both the 5k and mile run donned their running shoes for a scenic trek through the Linden Woods neighborhood next to the YMC. Many participated in both the 5k and the mile run.

The YMCA's chosen path created a unique environment for those running in the 5k. "The path was perfect," says runner Kellie Carpenter. "We were running in shade for the majority of the run and the neighborhood had great scenery. It was a very enjoyable race."

Those who walked in the one mile stretch were able to enjoy a DJ and yard games, such as cornhole and blowup pin bowling, while waiting for their portion of the day to begin.

Humble Impressions to 'Share the Love' in South Indy June 24

FEATURE

By Brian R. Ruckle

Five years after opening her first Humble Impressions in Perry Township, Rebecca Pardue is working on filling stomachs with food and hearts with love and is uniting with five area churches and generous citizens to make this happen.

Sharing the Love Day will happen Saturday, June 24 at the Humble Impressions branch located at 3530 S. Keystone Ave. just off the I-65 interchange behind the Valero Quik Mart and around the corner from Denny's and Comfort Inn. It will begin at 11 a.m. and go until 4 p.m.

Those interested can help Share the Love with their fellow Southside residents by donating water, napkins, snacks, hotdogs, hamburger meat, juices, door prizes, candy and prizes for kids and more. Drop these items off at any of the three area Humble Impressions locations including 8236 S. Madison Ave., 3530 S. Keystone, 1609 East St.

"The Sharing the Love Day is gathering the churches, businesses and residential people to come together to show God's love. We will be giving food, feeding people, and then we will be doing door prizes and games," Pardue said.

Area churches, ministries and not-for-profit organizations have contributed items and volunteers to the event. These include Apostolic Gospel Lighthouse, Garfield Park Baptist Church, Good Shepherd Church, New Life Baptist Church, House of Victory Church, and South Keystone Church of Christ. Some of the ministries involved are Servants Heart of Indy, Heart of Glory, Let Your Life Shine, Power of God Ministries, One Body Ministry, and others. Many businesses have also contributed.

"With all the churches with different denominations coming together, it is not about the religion. John 14:6 says Seek Jesus, not religion," said Pardue.

It will take place in the parking lot around Humble Impressions store on Keystone and the nearby Church of Christ is donating parking space for the event. Any donations given that day will go to church food pantries.

Pardue opened the first Humble Impressions location at 8236 S. Madison Ave., Indianapolis on June 19, 2012. Donations began pouring in and she continued to expand until she outgrew that space. She since expanded to 3530 S. Keystone Ave. in 2014, and 1609 East St. in 2016. She plans to open another in Taylorsville before the end of the year.

"It is amazing how it is growing, how people are learning what we are about," Pardue said. "They have a place to come to if they need food and clothing."

FAIR-ING WELL

Marion County Fair Treasurer Don Glowinski, of Perry Township, shares how annual event has adapted and grown

FEATURE

By Nicole Davis

A fair is unlike many other events. It changes every day, like a “living, breathing thing,” said Marion County Fair Treasurer Don Glowinski.

“I like the challenge that it brings,” he said. “Fair gets in your blood. Some people are racing people. Some people play tennis. Fair people are fair people. It’s the smell of fair food. It’s walking through the livestock building. It’s hearing a rooster’s crow when you’re there at 6 o’clock pulling trash. It’s the people, that are just genuine, good people. That’s what draws me to it and why I’m still in it.”

This year’s fair is June 16 to 25, with free parking and a $5 admission.

Glowinski, a St. Jude grade school and a 1979 Southport High School grad, would go to the fair as a kid. When his own children got involved in 4-H, showing rabbits, poultry and small animals, he began to volunteer his time. His wife, Cheryl Devol-Glowinski got it started and each of their five children went through the 4-H program.

“We don’t do anything part way,” Don said. “We jumped in with both feet. Next thing (my wife) knows, she has a backyard full of chickens and barn full of rabbits.”

Glowinski, who owns DP Mechanical Services, LLC, has been on the board of directors for 12 years. He said although board members are only supposed to serve nine years, he has stayed on as an ex officio member.

“The fair is on a very good, financial base,” he said. “We have a good future ahead of us.”

That, in part, he said is due to the fair’s all-volunteer board and the changes that they’ve made in recent years.

“The dedication and the imagination of our board of directors, they have a passion for this and they’re willing to invest the time,” he said. “Our board is our greatest asset to our success. Next is the people that come to our fair, the guests. It’s neat when you see third and fourth generations. Then we have a lot of new people as well. There are a lot of people that didn’t know what the fair was. We’re reaching out to a more diverse crowd and that has helped us grow.”

Glowinski said the fair is healthy, vibrant, growing, adapting and changing as Marion County changes. What used to be a mostly agricultural county is now an urban county.

“So, as 4-H and open class animal shows have dwindled, what do we do, how do we keep going, how do we keep ourselves fresh?” he said. “We partner with North America Rides, the same rides the state fair uses so it’s top-notch, safe, clean, friendly and family-oriented. People want to come into the fair to see animals so we have a company that brings in farm-type animals: the cattle, the sheep and the goats. The one thing that is growing in Marion County and has taken off at the fair is poultry. In Marion County, people are allowed to raise chickens now so people are getting into that.

Entertainment has become a main driver of attendance.

“This year at the fair, we have some really good entertainment coming,” Glowinski said. “We’ve got racing at the backtrack, demolition derby, monster truck, motorcycle racing. We have some good acts on the main state. We have a great gospel night with lots of gospel groups. We have the typical, off-the-wall fair stuff, too like Twiggy the water skiing squirrel and pig races. We have pulled off all the stops this year.”

The fair is growing, and Glowinski said they are happy to find themselves in the financial shape to continue that growth.

“One thing the fair did which was paramount to getting as successful as we did was change the dates,” he said. “We used to be the week before the state fair. We were right in the middle of some huge events. There’s only so many people and so many dollars to be spent in Marion County. With the year-round, balanced calendar we have now, they’re starting school in July. So we moved the dates to the end of June. We’re one of the first things that happen in Marion County. It’s been very positive.”

On average, the fair had 50 to 60,000 coming through in the 10-day period last year. Glowinski said they’ve seen a steady incline since 2014.

Another key to that growth has been the 501c3, nonprofit status that the Marion County Fair earned two years ago, which has allowed for tax-deductible donations.

“We did a lot of capital improvements over the past nine years - updated our water system, sewage system, electrical system, restroom upgrades, buildings upgrades, roads,” Glowinski said. “We were able to restructure our debt in such a way to position us stronger going into the future. We have some great financial partners. We’ve put us back on a more secure footing.”

Be mindful of the summer heat

PAWS for THOUGHT

Summer is here and along with that comes the hot weather. Everyone likes taking their dog for a ride in the car, but remember to never leave them in that car when you run into a store. A vehicle can very quickly become an oven of well over 100 degrees. This same warning goes for leaving your dog out in the yard with no way to keep cool. Shade, water and even a doggy pool are very important to your pet's safety and well-being. Dogs do not cool themselves as well as people (dogs don't sweat). If you go on a walk with your dog during the heat of the day, keep this in mind and don't overdo it.

Heatstroke can kill. Even a small increase in body temperature can be a bad thing. Signs to look for are excessive panting, red gums and tongue, weakness and vomiting. If you see these things, please contact us at the clinic.

With a little common sense and thought, you can have a great summer with your dog.

Center Grove High School choir sells out at 4th annual Princess Tea

Dress-up – Little princesses filled into a Center Grove High School choir room on June 5, 6 and 7 for the annual Princess Tea. This is the fourth year the choir has hosted this fundraiser, selling out three sessions with 30 girls each. Children came in their best princess or tea clothes and were treated to pampering with student volunteers doing nails and hair. They then sat down at their tables where they awaited their favorite princesses to come around and sign autographs. After tea and snacks, the little princesses were read to by Belle, got to dance with Moana and more.

FROM THE EDITOR

They have a buyer

Those who work and shop at Marsh in Greenwood may be breathing a sigh of relief this week. Topvalco, a subsidiary of Kroger, agreed to purchase 11 Marsh locations, including the one at 2904 S. State Rd. 135, Greenwood.

For those who shop at the Beech Grove location, we are still anxiously awaiting a buyer.

It's always sad to see businesses go, and losing a company that has existed in Indiana for so many decades, since 1931, has been a bit upsetting. Many of us got our start in the workforce at this company. Others have made it their lifelong career. The Indiana-based chain that once had hundreds of stores under its operation, including Village Pantry and O'Malia Food Markets, is now down to 44. It has filed for bankruptcy and stated that it would close the remaining stores if it could not find a buyer. O'Malia's in Indianapolis on State Rd. 135, Marsh on Madison Avenue and other Marsh stores already shut its doors this year. This has residents concerned for the "food deserts" the closures have left or will leave in their neighborhoods.

In total, 26 Marsh stores have now been purchased by two companies. Good news!

While there is no information of what Topvalco intends to do with the Greenwood Marsh location, there is now hope.

TOP TEN THINGS NOT TO SAY AT THE JOB INTERVIEW

By Torry Stiles

10. "I parked a little crazy. Who's car is that? Oh, sorry, dude. Don't worry, I've got a cousin who took body shop in school. He can buff that out."
9. "I know you. I used to date your daughter. She was hot."
8. "Are you guys real sticklers about that whole 'Be-here-on-time' thing?"
7. "Is this a picture of your wife? Lovely. Did she used to dance at the Red Garter?"
6. "I see we can opt in to your insurance program and profit-sharing program. Is your attendance program optional?"
5. "What kind of felonies are deal breakers around here?"
4. "What name do you want me to use? My real one or the one on my ID?"
3. "When you order my company uniform can I get extra-wide cuffs to fit around my ankle bracelet?"
2. "How long do I have before the drug test and what, exactly, do you consider a failure?"
1. "Can I get an advance?"

READERS' WRITES

More road funding in the works for Beech Grove

I would like to thank the State Legislature for the passing of House Bill 1002. This bill allows for additional funding of local roads and streets. The City of Beech Grove currently budgets approximately $500,000 for gravel and road improvements. With this additional funding, we MAY see this line item increase up to 20%. This is good news as we continue to make road improvements.

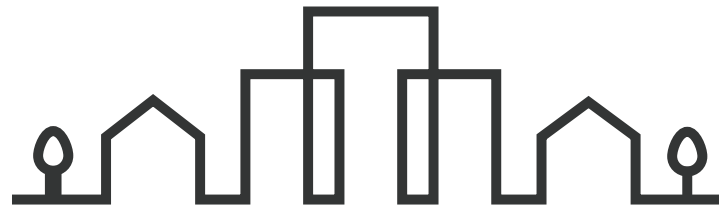

The State Legislature also agreed to continue to fund the "Community Crossings Grant" which allows local government to fund road projects with a 50 / 50 split from INDOT. Our city was awarded $392,350.00 in the first round of grants and it is our intent to apply for additional funding through this program in July.

Road and sewer infrastructure investments are vital for the future of our city and we must continue to seek out as much funding as possible for these improvements.

These are exciting times as we continue to make excellent progress with roads. The best is yet to come.

WHERE I DINE

Regina Harvey, co-owner of South Grove Eye Care, 373 Meridian Parke Lane, Greenwood

Where do you like to dine?
I like to go to Court Street Cafe in Franklin.

What do you like to eat there?
I like their sandwiches. Some of them have avocados on them and they also have a really good tomato basil soup.

What do you like about this place?
It is just a quaint, small place right on the square in Franklin. I go once every two or three months.

Court Street Cafe is located at 39 E. Court St., Franklin, IN 46131. The phone number is (317) 739-0208.

The Mummy it should've stayed under wraps

MOVIE REVIEW

By Adam Staten

Movies, due to the large amount of resources they require in order to complete, are expensive undertakings. An inordinate amount of time, copious money and a large and well-trained cast and crew are all necessary ingredients. However, with as many films as Hollywood produces, a lot of movies won't bring in the money it took to make them. Films that do perform that poorly at the box office are then lovingly referred to as "flops." They happen multiple times a year and this weekend saw the release of a film that could be one of the biggest flops of 2017.

The Mummy is the story of two U.S. soldiers/archaeologists, Nick Morton (Tom Cruise) and Chris Vail, battling insurgents in Iraq. They are in search of, you guessed it, a vast undiscovered fortune. Fortunately, for our two protagonists they literally fall into the Egyptian tomb of Ahmanet. Nick, refusing to listen to orders, unearths the ancient tomb and with it, an evil curse. After simply looking at the tomb, Nick is under the evil curse and begins seeing things he cannot explain. This is where things start to get really bad for everyone involved.

After losing out on being the queen of Egypt, Ahmanet decides to exact revenge on her entire family, killing her father and her infant brother. As punishment for her abhorrent deeds, Ahmanet is encased in the tomb, alive. However, before is essentially buried alive, she makes a deal with the God of Death. Now, alive, out of the tomb and still a bit perturbed, Ahmanet is looking to unleash evil upon the entire world with the help of Nick.

To put it bluntly, the writing on display in The Mummy is awful. The story as a whole is not bad, but the execution is pathetic. Plot holes abound in the film. Characters suddenly bizarrely know things they didn't just one scene before and without explanation. The film jumps from character to character and from place to place without any reason and the timeline doesn't make any more sense. For instance, the characters take off in a plane in Iraq and seemingly seconds later, crash in England.

There are also a number of attempts at dark humor throughout the film. Much like the rest of the film, it does not work. Instead, it's cringe worthy and embarrassing. Additionally, the characters are either boring, unlikable, not fully fleshed out or all three.

There are not many bright spots in The Mummy. It's poorly written, directed and one of the worst films of the year. The Mummy should've stayed under wraps. 1.5 out of 5.

Strike balance between convenience and healthy eating

NUTRITION

By Wendell Fowler

Your holy temple is a miracle that naturally learns, remembers, evolves, and repairs itself. How amazing is that? Every life form is born with defense mechanisms, but over time, extreme external influence like a polluted environment and consuming abnormal, artificial food can disrupt your cosmic perfection, preventing your temple from doing what it's supposed to do- supposed to be.

The temple needs to take in real food and clean water, ideally found in the environment, and through a miraculous sequence of mechanical and chemical processes and cascades, converts that food from God's apothecary into nutrients that underwrite all the temple's mental, physical, biological, and spiritual activities. Unfortunately, we've become disconnected from plant-based foods. And it's not your fault. Processed food is too easy to find.

Distracted modern society is too busy to cook which leads to eating convenient, pre-made, low-grade food where heavily-processed, alien ingredients are the norm. Grocery store shelves moan from the weight of convenient foods void of nutritional energy. Look in the mirror and ask yourself, is my food convenient or healthy? Is it feeding or depleting me? Processed food has lost its soul. Can't add love to pre-made food.

It's proven that eating healthy, close to earth foods that provide vitamins, minerals and vibrant energy, prevents future diseases such as diabetes, heart disease, autoimmune disease, and cancer. With an open mind, cooking and shopping tips, anyone can prepare quick, easy wholesome nutrition in a jiffy.

TIPS:

- Try Saffron Road sauces in a bag or cooked beans in a bag.
- Shop community farmer's market. Buy in bulk. (cheaper)
- Pre-cut fresh seasonal produce and freeze.
- Precut fresh veggies and store in fridge.
- Freeze seasonal strawberries, raspberries, and blueberries.
- Cook a week's worth of brown rice, quinoa, and steele cut or whole oats in bulk and freeze in Tupperware.
- Whip up a quick, balanced, healthy meal by sautéing beans, chopped vegetables and whole grains.
- Warm up precooked steel cut or whole oats and add walnuts, fresh berries, almond or coconut milk, and fibrous ground flax or chia seeds.
- Make a large batch of vegetable or bean soup and freeze.

You'll look amazing, ooze with self-esteem, energy, and mental alertness resulting in a happier, healthier, more fulfilling life.

IN OUR SCHOOLS

St. Roch transitions principals as its named a Four Star School

Changes – The 300 students of St. Roch School gathered recently after their all-school Mass to take a farewell picture for their principal, Joe Hansen, who was named the new principal at Bishop Chatard High School and to celebrate being named a Four Star School... one of only 41 in the State of Indiana! As students arrived for their last day of the school year on May 26th, they were greeted by pictured from left, Rick Rush (17 year teacher at St. Roch and the new Assistant Principal), Principal Joe Hansen, Fr. Jim Wilmoth (Pastor for 20 years), and Amy Wilson (15 year teacher/2 year Assistant Princiapl). Mrs. Wilson has been named the new principal for St. Roch Catholic Grade School, and she is excited to carry on the strong legacy of faith, service, academics, and sports at this Southside landmark that was established in 1924!

Kirchhofer's bills improving Hoosier health signed into law

Treatment - Gov. Eric Holcomb ceremonially signed into law two bills authored by State Rep. Cindy Kirchhofer (R-Beech Grove) broadening health care access and addiction treatment options in Indiana. House Enrolled Act 1006 includes neonatal abstinence syndrome as a factor for determining if a child is in need of addiction services. Kirchhofer said under this law children and mothers could receive medication-assisted treatment, which uses a combination of medicine and behavioral therapy to treat addiction. Kirchhofer said this measure also urges the study of extending mental health and addiction treatment services to individuals in the criminal justice system. Additionally, the Family and Social Services Administration will now certify Recovery Residences in Indiana, providing quality standards for housing and assistance to drug addicts. Both HEA 1006 and HEA 1337 go into effect July 1. To learn more about these laws, visit iga.in.gov.

Weekly Devotion

56 Blessed be the Lord, that hath given rest unto His people Israel, according to all that He promised: there hath not failed one word of all His good promise, which He promised by the hand of Moses His servant.

57 The Lord our God be with us, as He was with our fathers: let Him not leave us, nor forsake us:

I KINGS 8:56-57

I am a preacher. The subject of every sermon I preach is God and the fact that we can have confidence in Him and in all of the promises He has ever made to us as His people. In the beginning man was created in His likeness and image. This does not mean we physically looked like Him so much as it means that His thoughts were our thoughts and His nature was incorporated in us. Then something happened. The man that God created rebelled and went his own way and ceased to live in the will of God. In short, he sinned against God and became an independent thinker. Since that time, this has been the problem that exists between God and man.

God never has ceased to be holy and in His holiness He is truth. God has made many promises to us. The greatest of these is that He would save and sanctify us and that He would make us His own special people. Jesus said of Himself, "I am the Truth, The Life, The Way." He was assuring His frightened followers that they could rely on every word of promise that He had made to them.

Everything that I preach or care to preach is based on Jesus Christ being the Way, the Truth, and the Life. As Paul said, "I am determined to know nothing but Christ and Him crucified." Every promise of God made prior to His death on the cross relied on His death on the cross and His resurrection. Without either of those events, all else would have been just so many words but because of those events, these words are still alive and valid and vital today and will lead you to victory over sin and death.

God bless, go and have a great day.

Paul A. Kirby is the pastor at the Church of God at 3939 S. Emerson Ave.
