Where's the Love?

Greenwood writing group, Heartland Christian Writers, to participate in Karitos Indy Worship & Art Conference

FEATURE

Compiled by Michele Israel Harper

The 6th annual Karitos INDY Worship and Arts Conference sponsored by 1heart Arts Ministries will be held at Elevation Church, 8902 S. Sherman Dr., Indianapolis, IN 46237, Friday November 10 – Saturday, November 11. Its theme, Where's the Love?, seeks to unite Christians in expressing God's love through dance, music and theatre, literary, film, worship and visual arts.

Friday activities feature workshops beginning at 2 p.m., a VIP dessert reception and at 7 p.m. worship and arts ministry presentations that will be open to the community. Saturday's schedule begins with 8 a.m. registration and 8:45 a.m. worship followed by workshops, a panel discussion and closing worship.

Included in the list of workshop leaders is Michele Israel Harper, Author, Editor and leader of Heartland Christian Writers Group in Greenwood. Heartland Christian Writers was started 11 years ago by Joyce Long and Janet Hommel Mangas. A group of women from their church, including Janey Bowman, who now leads the morning group of HCW, met for a Bible study called Write His Answer by Marlene Bagnull. They loved it so much, after the Bible study was over, they decided they didn't want to stop meeting, and the Heartland Christian Writers was born.

This group meets in Greenwood and is a safe haven for writers of all ages, demographics, and topics. They meet once a month on the third Monday of each month at both 9:30 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. at Mount Pleasant Christian Church in Greenwood, Indiana. Harper leads the evening group.

Joyce and Janet handed off the leading of the writers' group itself to Harper over a year and a half ago, but they continued to plan the spring and fall writer's retreat, held at Shepherd's Gate Inn, a rest retreat ministries, in Martinsville, Ind. After this fall retreat, which was held last weekend, they handed over the retreat to Harper as well, and have both stepped back to focus on their families and attending the writers' group and retreat without the added pressures of leading.

It was fitting that each person who attended the retreat last weekend received a copy of Marlene Bagnull's Write His Answer to honor the former leaders and the way the group was started.

Two of the HCW's members, Zach and Susannah Francis, have written beautiful scripts that they brought to the group, as well as brought Karitos Indy to our attention. Karitos is a worship and arts ministry, and Joyce Long and Janet Hommel Mangas have both spoken on the creative art of writing at these events in the past. This year, Joyce will be teaching on "Write Now! Capturing the Moment to Glorify God," and Michele will be speaking on "Time Management: Writing While Life Happens."

The public is invited to the conference. To register, go to karitos.org/indy. For more information on Heartland Christian Writers, visit facebook.com/Heartland-Christian-Writers-Community-181346731973054.

The paranormal enigma

HAUNTS & JAUNTS

By Rick Hinton

Writer Friedrich Nietzsche offered a caution:

“Whoever battles with monsters had better see that it does not turn him into a monster. And if you gaze long into an abyss, the abyss will gaze back into you.”

An ominous warning that could apply to those in the paranormal field?

The question arises—just what are we looking for when expending a large amount of time conducting a paranormal investigation? The truth? An adrenaline rush? Or a combination of the two? So many start-up investigative groups are heavily influenced and receive basic training from watching paranormal television. The shows always provide a neat wrap-up and then off to other horizons. The shows also provide tantalizing locations. It’s a win/win, not only for television ratings, but also the locations portrayed. In a one hour show “they” would appear to have arrived at all the answers. Unfortunately, in the “real” world, it doesn’t work that way. We are not on television!

With numerous proliferation’s of paying “haunted” venues dotting the landscape, a paranormal investigator should never get bored with opportunities offered. Paying venues—which I now affectionately title “Pay Per Views”—offer the opportunity to investigate a site with an often torrid past, and reputation of being haunted as a result. Some are the real deal. Many others, however, are a load of crap! Questions should arise:

- At these locations, who exactly are you helping with a problem there?

Or... is there a problem? Are you only assisting the owner with a financial contribution to keep their doors open? They most likely don’t want a conclusion unless it furthers the reputation.

- You are definitely not breaking any new ground where hundreds before you have trod the same terrain, using the very same bells and whistles, asking the same tried and true repetitive questions in EVP audio sessions, and setting up infrared cameras in familiar spots. It is thought, a consistent invasion of paranormal investigators can actually drive spirits away!

- The wear and tear on your person, automobile and wallet due to a continuous cycle of weekend investigations.

- If you are only into the paranormal for an adrenaline rush, then by all means have at it at the Pay Per Views! Yet, paranormal investigations can be so much more than only visiting these spook amusement parks. How about instead, helping someone with a need? Groups solely concentrating on paranormal Disney-worlds will find themselves limited when it comes to anything of a more serious nature.

Have you heard the phrase - “Dancing with the devil in the pale moonlight?” I’m paying more attention to that these days...

Rick Hinton, a Southport resident, loves researching things that go bump in the night. His articles can be read on Facebook: Rick Hinton, Southport Paranormal Examiner. Hinton conducts paranormal investigations with his team, South Central Paranormal.

GOVERNMENT WATCHDOG

BEECH GROVE CITY COUNCIL

Meeting, Nov. 6

What happened:

- Ordinance 10 - 2017 was approved on first reading.

What it means:

- Ordinance 10 is pursuant to parking motor vehicles. “We’re seeing more and more vehicles parked on streets that have no curbs or sidewalks. Some of these roads are narrow. Some of these roads, it’s never been addressed, are thoroughfares that there shouldn’t be parking on at all,” said Mayor Dennis Buckley. The penalty has been corrected to be consistent with court fees for other traffic violations.

What’s next:

- Ordinance 10 will undergo second reading at the December council meeting.

In brief...

- IPL presented information about cities switching to LED lighting, for its utilities such as street poles, and the benefits of switching.
- The Beech Grove Redevelopment Commission presented its budget to the council. The council approved the 2018 RDC budget.

- The Beech Grove Fire Department presented its new radios. The council approved the purchase of new radios earlier this year. The department was able to equip every seated position with each apparatus on the fire department. The department was able to negotiate a trade-in value with the old, outdated radios. The radios have been in service for two weeks now.

GREENWOOD COMMON COUNCIL

Meeting, Nov. 6

What happened:

- Resolution 17-32 passed first reading and Ordinance 17-58 was introduced to the council.

What it means:

- Resolution 17-32 declares an area located on S. Graham Road at the northeast corner of I-65 and E. Worthsville Road as an Economic Revitalization Area. FedEx is purchasing this area and looking to develop it as a package distribution center.

- Ordinance 17-58 seeks to designate a no parking law on certain sides of the street in Summerfield Village. The HOA of Summerfield desires this change to help keep the area safe and ensure residents receive their mail by limiting parking in the area.

What’s next:

- Resolution 17-32 will go for its second reading and Ordinance 17-58 will go for its first reading at the Nov. 20 meeting.

Beech Grove infrastructure work continues

Recently, a ribbon cutting ceremony was held to celebrate the completion of the Churchman Avenue Sidewalk Project. This 1.3 million dollar project added sidewalks on Churchman Avenue from the Cambridge Square Apartments to almost Arlington Avenue. This much needed project provides a safe walkway for students, those walking to work, and those who desire to walk to Emerson Avenue stores.

Special thanks go to INDOT, Indianapolis MPO, United Consulting Engineers, Crossroad Engineers, E&B Paving, Fox Contractors, Beech Grove City Council, Beech Grove Board of Public Works and Safety, Clerk Treasurer's Office and our Department of Public Works on this much needed safety project.

Please join us for our annual Veteran's Day Service on the steps of City Hall. This well attended event is scheduled for Saturday November 11th at 11 a.m. Should the weather be poor, we will conduct the event upstairs in the Council Chambers.

On another note, the Beech Grove City Schools is hosting their annual FREE Thanksgiving Dinner on Monday, November 20th at the High School from 4:30PM to 7 p.m. Please RSVP at 756.759.1149 if you plan on attending. What a wonderful event for our community.

FROM THE EDITOR

We will never forget

Almost a century ago, President Woodrow Wilson designated Nov. 11 as a day that should be filled with "solemn pride" and gratitude for those who sacrificed everything to bring about an Allied victory in the First World War. Originally called Armistice Day, it has since evolved as a holiday to thank all veterans.

The Southside is home to many of these men and women, and we see that as a point of pride. We also see it as an opportunity to express our most sincere gratitude.

However, we believe that thanking veterans can be more than a few kind words and a hardy handshake. Regardless of our professions, education or income, we all have resources to offer whether that is hiring a vet, lending medical or legal expertise or simply making a financial donation to programs like Wounded Warriors or Warrior's Hope.

Defending the freedoms that we as Americans hold sacred is a monumental task. It is a perpetual effort that transcends finite points in time such as years of services or the dates of battles. The frontline extends all the way home. Veterans never cease being veterans and so we should not settle for just a few moments of observance.

In the winter of 1863, a few weeks after President Abraham Lincoln delivered the Gettysburg Address, he wrote a letter to George Opdycke, mayor of New York City at the time. He encouraged Opdycke and others to honor both soldier and citizen.

"Honor to the soldier, and sailor everywhere, who bravely bears his country's cause. Honor also to the citizen who cares for his brother in the field, and serves, as he best can, the same cause..."

We thank all veterans and their families for their service, and also those who continue to show support for these individuals.

HUMOR

TOP TEN THINGS THE INTERNET HAS TAUGHT ME

By Torry Stiles

10. Nothing is free. Nothing is safe. The internet is like Walmart: 99 percent of the time you wander in and everything is fine. ... But that one time you go in, lose your money and see a chubby guy in a Speedo and heels.
9. In 20 seconds I can Google up a nasty article written about me a dozen years ago. I spend two hours and can't find a video of a talking dog I saw on Facebook yesterday.
8. Other people are obsessed with their phones, I just want to be informed... 24/7 ... with lots of talking dog videos.
7. The dopeheads who complain that no one else knows their pain never seem to have any sympathy for the pain they cause others.
6. Nobody is braver than a fella with a fake name and real WiFi.
5. I realize that posting your "thug" video makes you feel tough but you need to take the bright orange plastic tip off of that gun you're waving around.
4. Every kid that goes bad goes bad because they fell in with a bad crowd. Perhaps a few folks need to wake up and realize their kid IS the bad crowd.
3. There are more cat pictures on the internet than there are people on the planet. The web is the world's largest litter box.
2. Some of the world's greatest dancers are drunk Russians.
1. If you tell your Facebook friends about your problems with your partner before you tell your partner then I figure your partner ain't the only problem.

BELIEVE IT!

Our nation has all sorts of arcane, nonsensical laws on the books. Each week, we'll share one with you ...

In Louisiana, law was passed with the specific intent of stating the punishment for stealing crawfish.

Disc Golf Comes to Beech Grove Middle School

Sports – Beech Grove Middle School is the site of Central Indiana's newest nine-hole disc golf course. The nine-hole course was made possible by a grant awarded to BGMS Assistant Principal, Ryan Morgan, from Lowes Heroes Project. The course, which takes advantage of Beech Grove Middle School's creekside campus, was designed by community member, Jim Trueblood. Many Beech Grove City Schools students and staff worked alongside Lowes employees to install the disc golf baskets. A special thanks to the following volunteers; Diondre Henderson, Quinten Brooks, Nathan Laker, Reanna Shaw, Samantha Warrner, Robyn Warrner, Sophia Simon, Alexis Sterrett, Elijah Mattingly, Brent Crouch, Coach Matt English, Jomar Seals, Jalyn Curry, Dustin Fults, Jalen Thomas, Griffin Wade, Gavin Hess, Coy Doyle, Jordan Brickley, Vincent Pich, Kaleb Arsenault, Isaac Stennett, and Josh Copenhaver. Thanks, also, to Rob Archer, Doug Busby and family, and Kitty from Lowes for their help with the project. The course will be used throughout the day by Beech Grove City Schools students and will be open to the community after school hours. For more information about disc golf, visit pdga.com.

Boone was nominated for being a person of action. For the past two school years, she has taken on the task of organizing and administering all state-mandated testing, in a high school with an enrollment of 2,000+ students and 300 English Learning students. She helped transition one of her colleagues into the role of assistant principal – showing him the ropes in areas not normally included in her job description. She assisted with building and grounds duties, school improvement plans, managing support staff, and communication with all school stakeholders. SUPPORTING THOSE WHO SERVE

Greenwood VFW Post 5864 Commander Steve Milbourn shares of the post's efforts to assist veterans in need across the Southside

By Nicole Davis

The Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) isn't like it was used to be. After WWII, servicemen returned home and joined the organization designed to help veterans and their families while promoting education on patriotism.

With each generation, servicemen and women return home, turn their focus to their families, jobs and busy lives. It takes longer and longer for them to join veterans organizations such as the VFW.

Greenwood VFW Post 5864 Commander Steve Milbourn is no stranger to that concept. He signed up for VFW membership while he was still overseas serving in the U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Division in Phan Rang, South Vietnam. However, when he returned home to Indiana in October of 1967, his focus was on his job, college, then-new wife Patti and child. A few years later, he made time to utilize his VFW membership and has remained active ever since.

"The veterans of today are taking a little longer to come forth and volunteer," Milbourn said. "We do have a good core, on my staff I have about 12 young veterans. There are another 12 - 15 of Vietnam and Korean War veterans. It's a transition. It's taking place but it's taking longer to get everybody in."

In the meantime, Milbourn aims to continue the mission of the VFW and serve the veterans and their families who are in need in his Southside community. In his third year as commander of the Greenwood post, he recently earned the appointment of National Aide-de-Camp to the VFW National Commander-in-Chief Keith Harman. This honorary appointment signifies outstanding service to the post or state VFW, going beyond the call of duty.

In a letter, National VFW Adjutant General Brian Duffy stated, "I am sure you will continue to serve your Post and Department as National Aide-de-Camp with dignity and honor, both to yourself and the Veterans of Foreign Wars."

Milbourn said, "It's not really about me. It's about showing a member of our post is doing well, which means the post is doing well. It's a nice recognition that both the state and VFW say this guy's doing a good job."

Milbourn is on the job seven days a week, always on call to offer assistance to veterans and their families. From July 1, 2014 to June 30, 2017, the Greenwood post donated more than $100,000 to charitable causes in the community. Nearly $50,000 of that was to help veterans and their families with proceeds from the Buddy Poppy Relief Fund.

Each Memorial Day and Veteran's Day, volunteers from the VFW take Buddy Poppies, artificial flowers trademarked by the VFW, to local businesses and offer them to the community while accepting donations. The Greenwood post brings in roughly between $20,000 to $22,000 each year through those donations, Milbourn said. Anywhere from 35 to 40 volunteers will be at it again this Veteran's Day, Nov. 11, setting up at local businesses from 9 a.m. until 1 or 2 in the afternoon.

With that money, the post is able to provide financial support to veterans and their families. Those who have proof of an honorable discharge or that they are directly related to a veteran can come to the VFW and request assistance. Often times, this is in the form of utilities, gas money or even partial

"That's not a lot, but if you divide 150 into that number ($48,949), that's a lot of veterans."

- Post 5864 Commander Steve Milbourn

rent. However, Milbourn said he is only authorized to give $150 per person.

"That's not a lot, but if you divide 150 into that number ($48,949), that's a lot of veterans," he said. "That's helping roughly 300 veterans. Our own members, we can do a little more, but not much."

Milbourn said the post gets three to four requests per week, up to 125 people per year. At first, they only served residents of Johnson County, but have expanded that territory to include the area up to the Ernie Pyle VFW on S. East Street, to State Rd. 37 and I-74. They try to keep track of where each request is from, and who recommended they contact their post. If the VFW can't help, Milbourn will recommend other resources which could.

In addition to the financial assistance, the Greenwood post makes sure it participates in additional VFW projects throughout the year, such as the Voice of Democracy and Patriot's Pen essay contest for high school and middle school-aged kids, respectively. Milbourn makes an effort to keep not only his post, but the community informed through the post's Website, Facebook page and newsletter.

"If people don't know what you're doing, they still have a tendency to think if they came to the VFW, it'd be a dark room, smoke filled, with veterans telling war stories," he said.

Though he enjoys his role as commander, Milbourn is in the process of training others how he does the job, to keep the philanthropic efforts going long after he leaves. The post is also in the process of reviewing plans for a piece of property and new building for the Greenwood location, which they hope to know more soon.

"Hopefully we'll go forward from there," he said. "That will be my highlight as commander."

Thor: Ragnarok
Weak story, unnecessary film

MOVIE REVIEW

By Adam Staten

For anyone who hasn't been paying attention for the last 15 years, superhero films are extremely lucrative, especially if you slap the Marvel logo across it. Fan boys, (and fan girls) and seemingly everyone else will immediately rush out on opening weekend for anything with the Marvel symbol. The film could be centered on some obscure character from the 1970s and the film's opening weekend haul is likely to be in the neighborhood of $100 million. Knowing all this and in their apparent quest to cover our television and theater screens with anything and everything Marvel, the company's latest recently opened.

Thor: Ragnarok is Marvel's third film about the mythological Norse god of thunder. As the film opens, we first meet our hammer-wielding protagonist in an extremely precarious position. However, through his godly strength Thor escapes and makes his way back to his home planet, Asgard. Upon his arrival, he soon learns that his ever-mischievous brother, Loki, has essentially removed his father from the throne. As one can expect, this doesn't sit real well with the Avenger. Loki's act inadvertently sets world-altering events in motion.

The long, lost sister of Thor and Loki, Hela, the goddess of death, assumes the throne of Asgard. Naturally, being the goddess of death, Hela's intentions for the people of Asgard aren't the most pleasant. Unfortunately, Thor has been banished to yet another world while Hela begins to bring about destruction on Asgard and its inhabitants. Thor, Loki and another Avenger, who has a bit of an anger problem, race against the clock in order to stop Hela and save Asgard from total annihilation.

Much like the first two films in the Thor series, Thor: Ragnarok is fitted with an extremely weak, fairly lackluster story. These characters aren't doing anything we haven't seen them do 10 times before. Instead of moving along the stories of these much beloved comic book characters, the film feels fairly pointless, produced solely for the intention of collecting even more money for Marvel and Disney.

The film also tries its hand at comedy. The filmmakers have a fair amount of fun with these characters, implementing slapstick, puns and even some wittiness as it refers back to other films in the Avenger's universe. However, Thor: Ragnarok isn't nearly as funny or clever as it wants you to believe. The jokes, like the story, become old and tired very early, making for an often painful viewing process.

Thor: Ragnarok isn't a terrible film; it's just an extremely unnecessary and despite its best efforts, an unfunny one. Here's hoping Marvel's next attempt is much, much better.

In Flu Season nourish your inner healer

NUTRITION

By Wendell Fowler

We are magnificent miracles of the universe: created to express perfect health, yet each year we obediently, almost eagerly get vaccinated after having the bejeebers scared out of us and stress out over the looming flu season.

Guess what? Your holy temple comes complete with an internal healer. We just starve, kick it around, and deny a bit more this time of the year due to many reasons: increased sugar consumption, overeating fatty holiday foods, extreme cocktail and subsequent dehydration, sleep deprivation, stress and overall poor nutrition. Plus, when winter's sun is lower on the horizon our temples aren't able to absorb enough sun-power to manufacture the sunshine vitamin D that feeds the immune system.

Professionals have known for some time that when you're stressed, fearful and malnourished, the immune system is debilitated. When you cope with stress and restore yourself with wholesome, plant-based nutrition, allowing nature to nurture, the immune system improves your chances will greatly improve.

Seductive sugar, a legal drug, has a dreadful impact on the building blocks of our immune systems suppresses immunity for four to six hours. Sugar destroys the germ-killing ability of white blood cells for up to five hours after ingestion and interferes with the transport of vitamin C, important for immune function.

This season, focus on foods, beverages and supplements that 'Super-Charge' your immune system: plenty of raw fresh vegetables, greens, fruits, nuts, seeds and whole grains. Be happy and grateful for your abundance; even subtle shades of sadness and negative energy can weaken your immune system.

Probiotics like fizzy Kombucha boost immune system functioning to fight viruses' and parasites. Kombucha, a popular fermented beverage, supplies billion and billions of 'living' probiotics that feed your immune system. Probiotics are live microorganisms that suppress the growth of bacteria that transform into carcinogens.

Chillax several times daily: take in five deep breaths through the nose, slowly release from the throat and then take a quiet nap with your pet to avoid sleep deprivation and release stress. Every time you pump gas, hold the handrail at the mall, or grocery cart handle, you're exposed to pathogens. Don't rub your eyes or stick your fingers in your mouth. Wash your hands frequently. Only you can prevent the flu by being a healthy inhospitable host. Show your immune system some love and feed it mindfully from God's Apothecary.

IN OUR SCHOOLS

Seventh-grader, Ian Eldridge, and third-grader Luke Eldridge had costumes to match their Pac-Man inspired "trunk" at Nativity's Trunk-or-Treat.

Nativity celebrates Halloween parade

Festivities – Nativity's 8th-grade class officers, Carlie Young (President), Ainsley New-ett (VP) and Sophia Taylor (Secretary) got a taste of reporting, as they did the planning, picture taking and story writing for the Halloween festivities at the school. Some activities included a church-wide Trunk-or-Treat, class parties, and the entire school enjoyed the kindergarteners, first graders, and the preschoolers giving a Halloween Parade, where went around the school dressed in their costumes. The student government was there to take pictures and share the event.

Weekly Devotion

19 We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto you do well that you take heed, as unto a light that shines in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day stars arise in your hearts:

20 Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation.

21 For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

2 PETER 1:19-21

Of all the books ever written, the Bible is the only one that can claim

Divine Authorship. All other books are written by men or women to be read by other men and women. They can be written about a variety of subjects and different circumstances, but they are not divinely inspired which means breathed into a man or woman by God's Holy Spirit. A person can write about the Scriptures but they cannot write Scripture. The Bible is the sure word of prophecy and, as Peter says, you would do well to take it to heart and to pay attention to it.

I am a preacher of the Bible. I pray for a correct understanding of its Author's intentions and meaning. Jesus told His disciples that He was sending them another Comforter, another Person to come alongside of them who would dwell in them and be with them and give them understanding of the words and the actions that He did in their presence. They did not understand Him at the time but after the Holy Spirit came, they understood clearly. All of a sudden their darkness fell away and they stood in His marvelous light. This is what I pray for and we all need to pray for-to walk and live in and by His marvelous truth.

I pray to be "moved" by the Holy Spirit as well. In every message, in every class where I am teaching or another is teaching, I pray for truth to be told and for me and others to see it clearly. Why? Because it is so important. It was important enough for Jesus to come and share with us, it is important for us to understand. Jesus is revealed in the truth told by men and women of olden times and He needs to be revealed and seen in these modern times. My prayer is that it shall be so.

God bless and go and have a great day.

Paul A. Kirby is the pastor at the Church of God at 3939 S. Emerson Ave.
